ANGLO-AMERICAN CHURCH CRUSADE FOR ARBITRATION

Great Council in London Urges All Denominations to Join in the Plan to Aid Peace.

PRAISE TAFT AND GREY

Latter Explains That Movement Does Not Involve Defensive Treaty Between Nations.

OTHER COUNTRIES ARE IN FAVOR

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 17.—The national council of Free churches tonight began a movement to enlist the church workers of Great Britain and America in an effort to force international arbitration.

The council decided to send a circular to all ministers of the gospel throughout Great Britain suggesting that on Sunday next they preach on arbitration. It pointed out the necessity of crystallizing public opinion into definite action.

The leaders in the movement also will communicate with the churches in America with the view of arranging a peace day on which all Christian churches in America and Great Britain can indorse the peace proposals. The council has asked Dr. J. H. Jowett, president of the council, to use his efforts to urge the church leaders in America to take the matter up.

The council is arranging a great demonstration at Albert hall to indorse Sir Edward Grey's attitude toward President Taft's proposals. The leaders hope to get all of the religious denominations, especially the Church of England, to cooperate in the demonstration.

As an indication of the position of the church of England leaders, the Bishop of Oxford has asked the clergy and the laity of the city to frame a prayer for the peace movement which will be used in all services.

Grey Explains His Views.

Sir Edward Grey further developed his views on the subject of international arbitration at the annual banquet of the International Arbitration league tonight. He corrected some misapprehensions which had arisen regarding his speech in the house of commons in which he gave support to the suggestion of President Taft for an Anglo-American treaty providing for the settlement by arbitration of any question that might arise between the two governments.

"I observe," he said "that some of the words I used the other day are being construed as if a general arbitration treaty between two great nations would be tantamount to a defensive alliance between them. If a general arbitration treaty were made between two great nations and if one of them was made the object of an attack from a third power, after arbitration had been offered to and refused by the third power, I think there would be a strong sympathy between the first two powers. But that is a matter which depends upon public opinion.

"To introduce any such condition or stipulation into an arbitration treaty would impair the chances of it here or elsewhere. It might lead other countries to suppose that the arbitration treaty between the two powers was directed against one or more of the other powers. That would completely spoil its possible effect in mitigating the general expenditure on armaments.

Effects Are Far Reaching.

"If an arbitration treaty is made on the lines sketched out as possible by the president of the United States, let it be done between the two powers concerned without 'arrière pensee' (by purpose), but do not let them set narrow bounds to their hopes of the beneficent results which may develop from it in the course of time.

"The effect on the world at large of the example would be bound to be beneficial. To set a good example is to hope that others will follow it and if others of the great powers did follow there would eventually be something like a league of peace.

"These things must, however, make their way by their own weight. They cannot be forced. There must be a beginning before there can be any progress, and after a beginning the rate of further progress must depend on circumstances and upon that ebbing and flowing in men's feelings and ideas which requires analysis and which makes possible at one time things that are not possible at another.

"I do not wish to cumber the idea of President Taft by too much speculation upon all that might follow from it, but the thought of its future possibilities is an encouragement which should not be grudged or denied."

Other Powers Favor Plan.

Sir Edward incidentally referred to the declaration of London, the ratification of which still is being strenuously opposed in many quarters. He believed that France, the United States, Germany, and the other signatories were as desirous of its ratification and as much attached to its provisions as the present government of Great Britain. If Great Britain failed to ratify it that failure would be a great disappointment to those countries, which undoubtedly regarded it as a distinct step forward.

Paul Cambon, the French ambassador to the court of St. James, responded to the toast "The Anglo-French Friendship." He described it as one of the most important guarantees of European peace. He added that the speeches of Sir Edward Grey had shown that Great Britain did not intend to abandon the path that the two nations had trodden together for the last seven years. He could assure his hearers that France was firm in the same resolve.

Praise for Taft's Stand.

The International Arbitration league today sent a message in praise of President Taft's sug-

DUNNE IS A SPHINX AS TO "STUMPING" IN MAYORAL FIGHT

Ex-Mayor Says He Will Not Decide His Course Until He Returns Home Next Week.

J. HAM IS NOT MOUTHPIECE

He Is for Democratic Nominee but Has Not Decided to Make Speeches for Harrison.

TALKS OF HIS PRIMARY BACKERS

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

St. Joseph, Mich., March 17.—[Special.]—Ex-Mayor Edward F. Dunne, who is here taking the mineral baths and recuperating after the strenuous primary campaign in Chicago, today emphatically denied that Col. J. Ham Lewis is an authorized spokesman for him or for the Dunne Democrats.

Mr. Dunne said that no one is authorized to speak for him either as to his probable course of action in the mayoralty campaign now under way or as to the policies which he said gained for him a vote of nearly 54,000 at the recent primaries.

Mr. Dunne declined to discuss the defection in the Democratic ranks in favor of Merriam, but he declared that "the men who voted for me are not idol worshipers but men who habitually do their own thinking, who stand for principle and are determined to uphold the principle they believe in, come what may."

He also refused to discuss whether he will take the stump for Carter Harrison, adding that his course in this regard will be decided after he returns to Chicago early next week.

Col. Lewis Not Authorized.

Mr. Dunne's virtual repudiation of Col. Lewis' "assumption of authorized spokesmanship" came out as a result of a speech delivered by Col. Lewis last Wednesday evening in Belmont hall. In that speech Col. Lewis intimated that he had authority from Mr. Dunne to speak for the former candidate to the latter's followers.

"Neither Col. Lewis nor any other person was authorized to speak for me," said Mr. Dunne. "I always speak for myself, and I shall speak for myself regarding the present campaign at the proper time.

"I can hardly believe that Col. Lewis made such a statement as I saw in print. His language must have been misconstrued or misquoted. Col. Lewis was here to see me several days ago, but I gave him no authority to speak for me.

"I told him and others that I would determine the question of whether I would go on the stump for Mr. Harrison after I returned to Chicago. I want to rest here a few days. Then I shall go back, look over the situation, consult with my friends, and determine my course of action. But until I return home I shall have nothing to say at to what my course will be in the campaign."

Significance of His Vote.

"What do you consider the chief significance of the big vote you received at the primary?" Mr. Dunne was asked.

"I made a demand for clean government and for honesty and efficiency in administration," he answered.

"Neither Mr. Harrison nor Mr. Graham touched on that subject. They dealt only with glittering generalities and abstract morality, without touching upon the real issue—corruption and graft.

"Politically, Chicago needs a thorough cleaning up, elimination of graft and favoritism and the placing of men of character and probity in public positions.

"The big Dunne vote also indicated the passing of the political boss. Those who supported me demand decency and honesty in municipal government and the unselfish and self-sacrificing manner in which they worked for me indicates that they are determined to have decency, honesty, and efficiency.

"They contributed their time and energy without price or hope of reward. I know that large numbers of my supporters gave up their business interests and spent their money freely for legitimate expenses of the campaign.

"Most of my supporters were earnest, honest men, who habitually do their own thinking. They are not idol worshipers, but believers in principle and determined to stand up for that principle, come what may.

"They believed that I, of the three Democratic candidates, best typified the demand for clean government. I had few practical politicians behind me, and these few were absolutely clean and honest."

Question as to Stump Speaking.

"Have you anything to say to the Dunne Democrats who have come out for Merriam, evidently believing that the Republican candidate now best represents their political faith?" Mr. Dunne was asked.

"I know nothing about that, and I do not wish to discuss it," answered he. "Let me say, however, that as to the right of Mr. Harrison to the votes of all Democrats I made my position clear in a signed statement before I left Chicago.

"In that statement I declared that 'As the choice of the Democratic party at the primary election Mr. Harrison is entitled to the votes of the Democrats of Chicago.'"

"Then you consider the question now to be whether you will go on the stump for Mr. Harrison or remain a passive onlooker?"

"Yes, that's it, precisely. That is what I have not made up my mind about, and I am not preparing any statement concerning it at this time. All questions concerning my future course in the campaign will be decided after I get back home.

"I came here for a rest and I don't want to be bothered with politics or anything else."

Mr. Dunne came here a week ago last Thursday and is staying at the Hotel Whitcomb. He said he intends to return to Chicago the early part of next week. He takes the baths two or three times a day, though he is not rheumatic.

"BEWARE OF GREEKS BEARING GIFTS."

SANCTUM OF SEE RAIDED BY WIFE

Spouse of "Absolute Life" Leader Breaks Open Safe and Seizes Cult Books.

SHE ALSO STARTS SUIT.

Evelyn Arthur See's "holy of holies" was raided yesterday by his wife in a spectacular manner.

A big safe, bearing across the top the words "Absolute Life," was drilled and thirteen volumes of "The Book of Truth," penned by the high priest of the cult, together with a batch of correspondence exchanged between him and the members of his colony since he has been confined in jail, were carried away by Mrs. See and her friends. The correspondence comprised the trials and tribulations of the "prophet." It had been preserved as a memorial of his persecutions.

A few hours prior to the raid Mrs. See filed suit for separate maintenance and obtained an injunction restraining her husband and his associates from disposing of any of the contents of the flat at 2541 Racine avenue.

It was more or less under the shelter of this document, served by a deputy sheriff, who remained near at hand during the cracking of the safe that Mrs. See obtained possession of her husband's writings.

Aided by Expert Safe Opener.

Once they were seized, Mrs. See, a woman thought to have been Denise Herendeen, at whose residence, 1132 La Salle avenue, the "Happiness cult" has its headquarters, and two men, one of whom was an expert safe opener, quietly disappeared, and the "high priests'" friends swung into action.

They charged that Mrs. See had no right to the papers, that they offered her no aid in her suit, and that the only purpose in capturing them was to use them as evidence against See.

"This is only the last desperate effort to the prosecution to obtain something to support their charges," declared James E. Callahan, one of See's attorneys. "They have sought everywhere else and this suit for separate maintenance and the bluff of the injunction were intended only to hide the real determination to get hold of See's writings.

"They have found that their case falls flat and the only chance to obtain anything that can be submitted as evidence is to hold up his writings and endeavor to misconstrue them. I know that this was a 'frame up,' as information of the plan was offered to us for sale yesterday when the scheme was put under way."

Mona Rees Tells of the Raid.

Mona Rees, See's pupil, who has been left in sole possession of his flat during his imprisonment, was the only person not allied with Mrs. See to witness the destruction of the lock of the safe. Her story contradicts reports that nitro-glycerin or some other explosive had been used in wrecking the lock.

"Mrs. See and one of the men came to the flat first," she said, "I guess to see if I was here; then the man went out to tell the others. The deputy sheriff came in and told me that he had a paper to serve on me, and gave me a copy of the injunction. In a minute the man who was with Mrs. See came back with another man and a woman.

"Mrs. See asked if she could look around the flat, and after she had done that she asked if she could look in the safe. I told her that I didn't have any right to let her. Then she said she wanted to take some papers out of it. She asked me to open it. I said I wouldn't. Then she said she would break it open.

Takes Books and Papers.

"One of the men stooped down before the safe and, after looking at it, took a hammer and chisel and knocked off the combination wheel. Then he began drilling into the safe and spent nearly an hour at it. When the hole was clear through he put a steel rod into it and hammered until the lock gave way.

"I ran into the front of the house, where the deputy sheriff had stayed, because I told him I thought there would be trouble. Mrs. See and her friends came out carrying three satchels. I ran back and found they had taken all of the typewritten volumes of 'The Book of Life' and all our letters from Mr. See and our letters to him, which he always sent back to us so that we could keep them as mementos of his imprisonment."

Mrs. See, it was said over the telephone, was not at her residence, 1247 La Salle avenue; but the woman who answered the telephone repeated all the requests for information as if some one were listening to her. Her attorney, Julius B. Geweke, was willing to give information of the filing of the separate maintenance suit on charges of desertion and nonsupport, but he said he knew nothing of the opening of the safe.

Wife Gets an Injunction.

"An injunction was obtained from Judge Tuthill, he said. "It was to have been served by Edward E. Schindling, a deputy sheriff, but I don't know whether it was served or anything about what may have taken place at See's residence."

Under questioning, he said his client had asked him for advice about a wife's rights in her husband's property in a suit for separate maintenance.

Deputy Sheriff Schindling said that Geweke came to him on Thursday and said he wanted him to serve an injunction. He told the lawyer, he said, that he was serving caplases only and that Chief Deputy Peters would have to be consulted. He said Peters had told him to get into communication with the lawyer, who later called him up and told him to get the injunction at the sheriff's office.

He declared that he had stated plainly, after giving Mona Rees a copy of the injunction, that his duty was finished and offered to retire, and remained only at the girl's request.

FINDS LONG LOST BROTHERS LAST SEEN IN SOUTH IN 1855.

Evanston Man Will Attend Family Reunion in Georgia, Made Possible by Son's Search for Uncles.

"I am going north to seek my fortune," said John Powers in 1855 to his two brothers, James and Michael. "God rest you till we meet again." The three lived in a Georgia town, and from that day until two weeks ago John lost all trace of his brothers.

He came to Evanston, where he has resided ever since, but his brothers enlisted in the confederate army. After the war he tried to find some trace of James and Michael, but his efforts were in vain.

Two weeks ago his son, John Jr., who had been searching for his lost uncles, received a letter from the chief of police of Neunan, Ga., saying that there was an old man living in the town named James Powers. Investigation proved that James Powers was John's brother.

Then another letter came from Albemarle, N. C., giving news of a Michael Powers living in the city. This was the other brother. The three have arranged a family reunion to take place at Neunan, Ga., next Tuesday.

TENOR BURRIAN IN FLIGHT; ANGRY HUSBAND AFTER HIM.

Metropolitan Opera House Singer Reaches Frontier Only a Little in Front of Angry Man.

BERLIN, March 17.—Carl Burrian, the Wagnerian tenor of the Metropolitan opera house, has broken his contract with the Dresden royal opera.

It is reported he is now making his way back to New York after having been pursued through Germany to the Bohemian frontier by an angry husband. The woman who is the cause of the trouble is said to be accompanying him. It is said she was with Burrian in New York during his recent engagement there.

The pair came to Dresden a little while ago. When the husband of the woman located her he pounced on Burrian. From that time forth he made Burrian's existence miserable.

CHICAGO HUB OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS

City to Be Base of World's Church Activities as Result of Banquet Here.

PLAN $500,000 BUILDING.

Chicago the Sunday school center of the world.

The prophecy was made last night at a banquet of the International Sunday School association, at the Auditorium hotel. Its fulfillment came with the progress of the banquet when a campaign was started to erect in Chicago a half million dollar building, devoted to the cause of the Sunday school in Chicago, in Illinois, in the United States, and in all the nations of the universe. The occasion was the "Green Letter Sunday School Day."

More than 800 Sunday school workers voted unanimously to raise funds for the erection of the Sunday school building. The raising of the money, they said, would be easy. The establishment of Chicago as the center of the universe is the easiest part of it. Chicago already is the hub of the Sunday school movement in the United States.

Starts with $5,000 Pledge.

The vote was taken after a telegram was read from W. R. Hartshorn, chairman of the International Sunday School association, who was detained in Boston and could not attend.

It read: "I pledge $5,000 towards the erection of this building to be established not in Boston, but in Chicago, destined to be the greatest city in the world."

A roar of applause greeted the reading of the message.

The proposition was seconded by William Francis of Evanston and the motion was carried unanimously by a rising vote.

Mr. Hartshorn suggested that the building should be finished and dedicated in 1914, when the next international Sunday school convention would be held in Chicago.

The suggestion of the new building has been long under consideration and is, therefore, considered a certainty by the leaders of the movement. Each speaker referred to it with approval in his address. The building will be the headquarters of the international association and of the World's Sunday School association, as well as minor organizations. It will contain rooms for teacher training and be the headquarters of a vast literature.

Called the Greatest City.

E. K. Warren, chairman of the World's association and the president of the world's convention, which met in Jerusalem in 1904, sought to emphasize his estimate of the greatness of Chicago by using the strongest language.

"I do believe that Chicago is to be the greatest city in the world."

E. H. Nichols, chairman of the Cook County Sunday School association, gave reasons why Chicago had a right to claim to be considered now the first city of the world in Sunday school matters.

"The first world's convention was organized by a Chicago man," he said. "The red button, which is the badge everywhere of the adult bible class, originated in Chicago. The international and the world's headquarters already are here. All we need is the building in which to house the officers and the workers and in which to carry on the work."

Denounce Lorimer and Cullom.

Denunciation of Lorimer and Cullom and the Illinois jackpot by A. H. Mills, chairman of the Illinois State association, was received with prolonged cheering equal to that given to the proposition to erect the building for the world's Sunday school work.

"The Sunday school does not stand for whitewashing of United States senators," Mr. Mills said. "It does not believe in bribe giving, in the jackpot, nor in buying or selling of votes. It stands for the open Bible and the uplifted cross. It stands for the American home and for one code of morals for the man and the woman."

The banquet marked the close of a day's program which was held in the First Methodist church. The program was carried out under the auspices of a committee of one hundred in which the International Sunday School association and the state and county organizations were represented.

BARTZEN AT HOME; ALSO BELLICOSE; INQUIRY ON TODAY

County Board President Returns from Junket and Issues Statement; Ready for the Fray.

SENATORS WILL PROBE

Railways' Attorney Tells of Doctor Who Approached Him with Graft Proposition.

BROAD HINT AT NEW SCANDAL

The state senate committee appointed to investigate the Cook county civil service as "administered" by Peter Bartzen will begin its inquiry today into the Bartzen phenomena to ascertain whether they are due to faults in the civil service law, arbitrary manipulation of the law by administrative officials, or a fundamental failure of the civil service idea.

If the last of these is the conclusion spoils politicians will be jubilant. They may find it sufficient ammunition to defeat all attempts at progress in civil service reform at Springfield.

If the committee finds that the present laws are inadequate prompt action may be taken at Springfield to remedy them.

If the finding is one of Bartzen's personal tyranny and the introduction of spoils politics by unlawful dictatorship it will be "up to" the courts of Cook county to enforce the law.

Bartzen Is Home Again.

Forces were lining up all day yesterday for the conflict. Senator Walter Clyde Jones, chairman of the committee, arrived from Springfield and made the preliminary arrangements for the hearing in the La Salle hotel. John P. McGoorty, whose precipitate ouster from the position of president of the commission, did much toward bringing on the inquiry, may be the first witness.

President Bartzen, whose junket through the east was cut out short by a telegram informing him of the impending probe, arrived in the city at 8 o'clock last night. He went into conference with Ballard Dunn and other trusted lieutenants, who had themselves been in conference most of the day.

Indiscriminate bouncing of county employes who thought they were protected by the state civil service law is one matter concerning which Bartzen and Dunn will be asked for explanations.

Bartzen Is "for a Fight."

After Bartzen and Dunn had conferred for three hours Bartzen gave out at midnight the following statement:

"I am here to fight. It is evident that those corrupt interests I have routed from the county building and from the control of county government have taken advantage of my absence from the city to stir up trouble which they doubtless believe will result in reestablishing their grip upon the county institutions.

"I was put in this office by the people of this county with the duty of breaking up the ring that for years dominated county affairs, and I started out to carry that commission into effect fearlessly and without favor. I expect to continue in that direction so long as I may be president of the county board.

"I have exposed the workings of the medical college trust in this county.

"I have exposed the fact that the Chicago Railways company has a throttle hold upon the sick and injured wards of the county hospital.

Says He Has Exposed Graft.

"I have exposed graft in coal contracts at the county hospital.

"I have exposed graft in the contracts in the public service department.

"I have compelled several of these concerns either to relinquish their contracts or to pay back to the county in rebates sufficient sums to offset the amount of which they have robbed the community in inferior goods.

"I have routed the Busse officeholders who have fastened themselves upon the institutions of Cook county and hoped to continue their hold forever.

"I have exposed the shams that lay behind the carrying out of the civil service law, which for years in this county was a joke and a farce.

"I have fought the petty notoriety seeking and self-appointed reformers who are now seeking to embarrass this administration by means of low and debased tactics.

Cuts Off "Fancied Services."

"Mr. John M. Ewen, who, during the last four years, has taken from the treasury of Cook county more than $50,000, which was paid to him in return for fancied services by him in overseeing the work of construction of the new city hall and the county infirmary at Oak Forest, no longer enjoys this rich sinecure.

"In the appointment of Paul Garhardt as county architect, the new county hospital will be constructed with a legitimate architect's commission charge on all buildings, and nothing more. The soft rakeoff which Mr. Ewen enjoyed during the Busse regime, and which was given him in addition to the commission paid to the architect, will remain in the county treasury and be used for the general benefit of the unfortunate poor of the county.

"There will be no more pets drawing fat unearned rakeoffs, whether they have behind them powerful newspaper friends, as had Mr. Ewen, whose newspaper backer, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, is today loudest in its protestations of honor and indignation.

Says Conditions Here Are Shocking.

"As a result of my visit to the great hospitals in the east the shocking conditions that were revealed at the Cook County hospital and at other Cook county charitable institutions, which for years have been at the mercy of this conspiracy of traction company sectors and corrupt politicians, are even more appalling than the citizens of Cook county can realize.

"As a result of that visit I returned here convinced that not only was I right in my determination to make of civil service a genuine force for the betterment of the community, but convinced that not only should the rank and file of employés be under civil service, but that the heads of the three great institutions should themselves be under civil service.

Says He Will Aid Inquiry.

"If this committee which comes here to make an investigation of my conduct of the civil service is honestly endeavoring to find ways and means for the passage of a competent civil service law I am anxious to do all in my power to aid.

"If, on the other hand, this committee proves itself to be but the tool of petty political gangsters and those corrupt interests that I have succeeded in routing from the county building, I shall not spare anything in my efforts to prove to the people its real purpose; and I am convinced that if there was any necessity for proving to the taxpayers of this county that these insidious attacks are fostered and developed by the Chicago Railways company, the medical college trust, the political officeholders' monopoly, and the gang politicians of the Busse type, the operations of this committee, should it stoop to petty politics, will prove that I am right."

Starts a "Back Fire."

Mr. Bartzen did not discuss his ousting of his own appointee, Mr. McGoorty, because the latter refused to be a tool for the upsetting of civil service, but he announced that several "special investigators" have been engaged for some time in ferreting out the misdeeds of previous commissions and that these matters would be presented to the senatorial committee; also that the present commission is in favor of changing the method of selecting internes for the county hospital, and thirdly and lastly, that two members of the attending staff of the county hospital render professional services to the Chicago Railways company.

Although the facts in these matters have never been secret and have never been considered as reflecting on anyone, they were combined with such insinuation and innuendoes that the men struck at threaten to press the investigation of features of the county administration which will cause a real scandal.

Mysterious Doctor's Errand.

John R. Guilliams, attorney for the Chicago Railways company, in a signed statement, charges that since the present administration took hold he was approached by a certain physician, not a member of the attending or other staffs of the institution, and promised certain valuable concessions and services in the Cook County hospital for a consideration.

Dr. Harold N. Moyer and Dr. Malcolm L. Harris expressed willingness to explain at any place or time their connection with the Railways company and to submit to a thorough investigation any of their acts, either as members of the hospital staff or as participants in traction company cases.

Ballard Dunn sent a summons to Drs. Harris and Moyer to appear today before him and explain their connection with the railways company.

One of the first matters to be taken up by the senate investigating commission probably will be that of Mr. McGoorty's attempted discharge and of the reasons for that "discharge" which Mr. Bartzen formulated as prosecutor, decided as judge, and first announced after he had executed his sentence.

Jail Physician's Job.

The senate committee will inquire, among other things, into the charge by Bartzen that Mr. McGoorty neglected to investigate the office of Dr. Francis McNamara, jail physician, as Bartzen directed him to do.

The sequence of events in this case, which so aroused President Bartzen, was as follows:

Mr. Bartzen, then in a row with thirteen of his fellow county commissioners, promised the job of jail physician to Commissioner Joseph Fitzgerald for a friend of his, a Dr. Murphy. He therefore told Mr. McGoorty to investigate Dr. McNamara and "get the goods" on him so that charges could be brought against him and he could be ousted.

Knew Nothing Against McNamara.

Mr. McGoorty said he knew of nothing against Dr. McNamara, but that if President Bartzen wanted him investigated he would have it done, and Investigator Harmon was assigned to the task.

Fitzgerald visited Bartzen about this time and was told (although McGoorty subsequently was accused of not investigating the case) that an investigator was working on the case and that they soon would be able to force McNamara out of his civil service position.

A day or so after this McNamara got wind of what was going on and began to pull a few political wires himself. The result was a call by Harry Gibbons and John F. O'Malley on Mr. Bartzen.

The next result was that a few hours later Bartzen told Fitzgerald that if he ousted McNamara he would offend Gibbons and O'Malley and that he had therefore decided to call the investigation off, but that he would try to give the commissioner some other good job.

Defends Harris and Moyer.

The statement made by Mr. Guilliams in answer to Commissioner Dunn's attack on Drs. Harris and Moyer is as follows:

"At the present time and for some time past, I have personally been responsible for the shaping of the policies and methods employed by the Chicago Railways company in the investigation and settlement of its claims and lawsuits, growing out of personal injuries arising in connection with the operation of its lines in the city of Chicago.

"I desire to state that so far as the conduct and handling of this work is concerned, I have never asked and have never caused to be asked any special favors of any one connected with the Cook county hospital and have always sought to conform to all the rules and regulations of that hospital.

"For this reason I recently had occasion to turn down a proposition made by a certain doctor in this town, who, I understand, is not connected at all with the medical staff of the Cook county hospital, and who holds no official connection therewith, although I must admit that I have knowledge that he has a close acquaintance with some of the Cook county commissioners recently elected, to the effect that he could and would make examinations of all individuals injured by our cars who might be taken to the Cook county hospital and would report to me the results of his examinations and keep me posted with respect to all of such matters.

No Information Given Him.

"Neither Dr. Moyer nor Dr. Harris, who are referred to in said article, has ever, so far as I am aware—and I am very sure I am aware of all that has been done in that connection—given me any information concerning any case in that hospital, nor aided me in obtaining any information concerning any individual who had been injured by the Chicago Railways company's cars and was in that hospital.

"Nor has either of these doctors ever made any examinations for the Chicago Railways company of injured individuals and reported same to the Chicago Railways company, except where the consent of the injured individual and his attending doctor was first obtained, and if he or she had a lawyer, without the consent of the lawyer being obtained before the examination was made.

Wants a Full Inquiry.

"In view of what has been said in the public prints of late by Mr. Bartzen and the Chicago Examiner, and in view of the fact that a commission has been appointed to investigate Peter Bartzen's conduct, I hope the same commission will at the same time investigate any and all charges which Mr. Peter Bartzen has already made in the public prints and any other charges which he may care to make before said commission touching upon the conduct or methods of any employé or representative of the Chicago Railways company in relation to the Cook county hospital. J. R. GUILLIAMS."

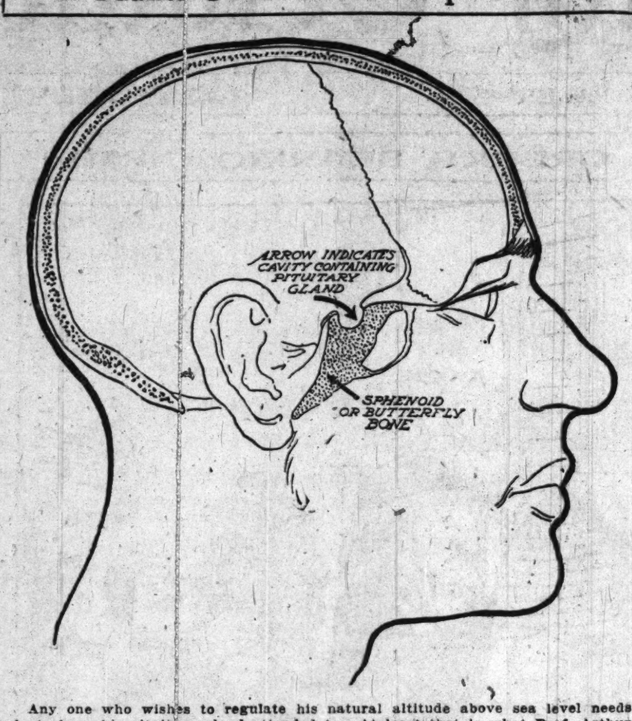

"Two visits were made to my office in the Ashland block by the physician to whom I refer in the foregoing statement," said Attorney Guilliams later. "The last time he was up here was about a week or ten days ago. He did not specify the amount of money he wanted to bind the contract he suggested to me, as I did not give him an opportunity."

Cases Assigned in Rotation.

"There are twenty-one surgeons who are members of the attending staff of the county hospital and who look after cases brought here," said Dr. Harris. "The cases are assigned to surgeons in rotation, each surgeon having his own service. The rest of the surgeons at the county hospital get as many railway cases as I do, and I never have anything to do with the cases on another surgeon's service.

"In performing operations on my service I do not know whether the patients were injured by street cars or in some other manner unless some one happens to explain to me the manner in which the injury was received. The company never calls me in connection with county hospital cases."

Pituitary Gland? Why Here It Is; It Makes Us Grow or Keeps Us Small.

Any one who wishes to regulate his natural altitude above sea level needs only to have his pituitary gland attended to. At least that is what Prof. Arthur Keith of London says, and his statements were corroborated yesterday by a number of Chicago's foremost physicians.

The pituitary gland is the first in importance of the principal ductless glands of the body, which include the thyroid and adrenolin glands and a portion of the pancreas.

The juices secreted by this gland, according to Chicago physicians, largely control the growth of the bones of the body. When the secretion is plentiful the bones grow to an abnormal size, but when it is comparatively small in quantity the growth of the bones is retarded.

When the secretion is caused to flow freely, say physicians, a rapid development of the bones is the result. Thus, when a boy or a girl is ill for some time with a fever, the diseased condition of the body causes the pituitary gland to become unusually active, with the result that the sick person "grows like a weed."

GEN. JAMES S. CULVER DEAD.

High Officer of Illinois National Guard Succumbs at Home in Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—[Special.]—James S. Culver, retired brigadier general of the Illinois national guard, died at his home tonight after an illness of three days. Gen. Culver commanded the Fifth infantry during the Spanish-American war, and was retired a few years ago. He was a contractor and erected many national monuments throughout the country. He was 65 years old.

HARRISON AID STIRS SULLIVAN

Ald. Reinberg Says Latter Is Giving Help to Merriam.

STORY BRANDED AS FALSE.

Republican Just Rides in Auto of Cosmopolitan Co. Agent.

Roger C. Sullivan and Carter H. Harrison are at it again. Resumption of hostilities between the Democratic national committeeman from Illinois and the Democratic nominee for mayor resulted yesterday in strewing the ground with large bunches of hair.

The latest riot started when Mr. Harrison's campaign manager, Alderman Peter Reinberg, unexpectedly gave out for publication a charge that Mr. Sullivan "not only is supporting Mr. Merriam, but is doing so openly," the evidence cited being an alleged trip by Alderman Merriam for a few blocks in the automobile of an officer of the Cosmopolitan Electric company.

"It's a lie," retorted Mr. Sullivan, whereupon the principals fell into a clinch.

Round No. 2 will be a statement Mr. Sullivan is preparing in answer to the Harrison outbursts. He proposes to take the public into his confidence and "say things that may be interesting."

Says Story Is Untrue.

Ald. Reinberg charges that last Wednesday "Mr. Delaney, contract agent for the Cosmopolitan Electric company, took Sullivan's automobile and went to the office of Roy O. West, whence Delaney carried Mr. Merriam to a luncheon of the Electric club, where the candidate made a speech."

"Nothing but an absolute falsehood," commented Mr. Sullivan. "It is on a par with other lies given out from the Harrison headquarters during the campaign. I do not know whether Mr. Delaney or any one else connected with the Cosmopolitan company took Ald. Merriam to a meeting of the Electric club, nor do I attempt to dictate the political conduct of any of that company's officers or employés."

At the Merriam headquarters Robert M. Buck said that the candidate went to the Electric club from the Grand Pacific hotel, where he was addressing a meeting, with Homer S. Niesz, president of the Electric club and manager of the Cosmopolitan company.

"If Mr. Niesz extended such a courtesy," said Mr. Sullivan, "that was his privilege and I knew nothing about it."

Hope of Indorsement Gone.

Democratic politicians were aroused by the possibilities in the Harrison-Sullivan set-to and were hard pressed to see how the organization men could come into the Harrison camp after their leader had been made the target for such a personal attack. Chairman John McCarthy of the county managing committee declined to comment upon it, but it was predicted that the incident would end talk of organization indorsement, which already was doubtful, in view of Mr. Harrison's ante-primary speeches saying that, if nominated, he did not want or expect the "support of the La Salle hotel crowd."

Boy Hurt by Automobile.

Gus Silverstein, 10, 2829 Dearborn street, suffered bruises about his head and body when he was struck by an automobile owned by the Mitchell Automobile company, 2234 Michigan avenue, yesterday.

HARRISON DODGES FOE'S CHALLEGE

Turns Down Merriam Proposition to Give Fund Figures Under Oath.

MAKES REPLY IN LETTER.

Promises to Make Public List of Campaign Contributors from Time to Time.

Carter H. Harrison in a letter yesterday afternoon answered but did not accept the challenge of his mayoralty rival, Charles E. Merriam, to make public all campaign contributions and expenses.

He said that statements of such finances would be issued from time to time, but not under oath, and declined to subscribe to the conditions proposed to assure thoroughness and accuracy.

The points in Ald. Merriam's plan which Mr. Harrison failed to meet are the following:

Submission of all campaign accounts, books, check stubs and other sources of information to an auditing committee.

Such examiners to have full power to requisition and scrutinize pertinent documents and to base thereon a report to be published.

Audit committee to be mutually agreed upon or the same as was appointed by primary candidates, to scrutinize ante-primary statements of receipts and disbursements answering the "Who is Putting Up" query.

Harrison Reply to Merriam.

The letter of Mr. Harrison to Ald. Merriam in part follows:

"As chairman of Carter H. Harrison's campaign committee I am requested by him to reply to the letter your campaign manager, Harold L. Ickes, addressed to him.

"Mr. Harrison intends that the fullest measure of publicity shall be given to his campaign fund, the contributions to it and the expenditures from it. Lists of the contributors to the campaign fund will be made public from time to time through the newspapers.

"No money will be taken directly or indirectly from any public utility corporation. No money will be taken from any questionable source. This has been Mr. Harrison's course, and will continue to be his course.

Statements Will Not Be Sworn To.

"A man that would lie regarding these contributions would make an affidavit to such a lie if no penalty were involved. It is not to be believed that a statement from Mr. Harrison under oath would add one iota of credibility to a plain statement over his signature.

"The personnel of the finance committee in Mr. Harrison's campaign is of so high a character that its word will be accepted as a bond by the element of the public that is fair, unbiased, and willing to give fair consideration to its statements.

"It is to be regretted, in view of what you say is your attitude regarding campaign funds, that, on the occasion of your spectacular special train trip to Springfield a few days ago, you did not take a little time while on the ground to urge the passage of the proposed corrupt practices act controlling campaign funds, so strongly advocated by Mr. Harrison."

LETTERHEAD WINS 'WET' VOTE; HARRISON GETS INDORSEMENT

Northwest Division of United Societies Takes Action—Merriam's Name Appears as Association Director.

Using as a wedge a Hyde Park Protective association letterhead upon which appeared the name of Charles E. Merriam as a director, the Carter Harrison forces carried the northwest division of the United Societies for their candidate by a vote of 33 to 2 at the meeting of delegates at Schlitz hall.

Not a voice was raised for Merriam. The letterhead was claimed to be conclusive proof that Merriam was a Prohibitionist.

Harry Bauer was elected chairman and Leopold Newmann secretary. The letterhead had been reproduced and printed on sheets of paper for distribution among the delegates, who represented, according to Secretary Newmann, 109 societies on the west side.

Printed in red ink on the letterhead by way of explanation was the following:

"The above is an exact reproduction of the letterhead of the Hyde Park Protective association, a prohibition organization. Read the other side and there you will find the names of Charles E. Merriam and Arthur Burrage Farwell among the board of directors. This will furnish conclusive proof that Merriam is closely allied with the Prohibition interests, which means that he is inherently opposed to personal liberty."

DECADE FOR JEWELER NICHOLS.

Judge Landis Declares Penalty for Man Who Enticed Girl Away Is Inadequate.

Declaring that the federal statutes do not provide a heavy enough penalty for such as the prisoner, Judge K. M. Landis in the United States District court yesterday imposed the maximum sentence of ten years on Edward S. Nichols, 33, a jeweler, 126 State street, convicted under the Mann "white slave" act.

Nichols was found guilty of having enticed Elsie Ferrier, 13, to Hammond, Ind.

He is married. The evidence against him, furnished chiefly by Elsie Ferrier and her sister Adessa, tended to show that he had taken both to Hammond under promise to marry the younger and abandoned them.

SOLVES BLACK HAND CASE

Inspector Learns Who Hurt Last Victim of the District.

QUARREL OVER GIRL CAUSE.

Culprit Under Surveillance; Wounded Objects to Prosecuting.

While Italian detectives from the office of Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler were investigating the latest shooting near "Death Corner," Inspector John L. Revere of the Chicago avenue station solved the mystery of the assault. The deed was the outcome of a quarrel over a young woman, a resident of the north side Italian colony.

The victim, Antonio Getlos, who at first was believed to have been wounded by the shotgun murderers, was found, upon examination at Passavant hospital, to have been wounded with the bullet from a 38 caliber revolver.

Inspector Revere was furnished with the name of the man who did the shooting and has him under surveillance. The injured man steadily refused to admit the details of the case even after information given to Inspector Revere was told him. He asserted that he does not want to prosecute. The wound is not serious.

"You can't make much headway against the Omerta," was the remark of Gabriel Longebarde, an Italian detective, in explanation of the ineffectiveness of the police with regard to the three "death corner" murders.

"What is the Omerta?" was asked.

"The law of silence," he explained, "or, better, the law of the Mafia. La Omerta is a sort of code strictly observed by the Mafia and generally recognized by all Sicilians. Even though not of the Mafia, they obey it through fear. Nearly all the inhabitants of the 'death corner' district are Sicilians."

MERRIAM A FOE TO "PULLS," HE EXPLAINS TO AUDIENCES.

Republican Mayoralty Candidate Also Says He Favors Union Standards and Merit Rule in the Municipal Service.

Ald. Charles E. Merriam in four crowded meetings in as many wards last night, declared for the elimination of all political "pull" in the city civil service and for better conditions for the employés of the municipality.

The Republican mayoralty candidate's avowal that union wages and standards should obtain in the city service brought cheers from his audiences. Mr. Merriam talked in the Sixth, Twenty-third, Twenty-sixth, and Thirtieth wards. Accompanying him were A. W. Bellfuss and W. F. Mayhew, candidates for city treasurer and city clerk, the aldermanic nominees in the three wards and other speakers.

Ald. Merriam said, in part:

"The city's attitude toward its own employés should be that of the model employer.

"Union wages, standards, and conditions of labor should be maintained in the various branches of the city's service.

"The civil service law should be honestly applied, without favor or discrimination, to the city's force of men.

"The labor bureau of the civil service commission should be thoroughly reorganized.

"Provision should be made for semi-monthly payment of employés in order to avoid the loan shark evil.

"More attention should be given to the human welfare of the city's employés.

"I believe the men in the service of the city would welcome the establishment of a genuine merit system and the elimination of graft and political pull."

GIRL IS BOOSTING MERRIAM.

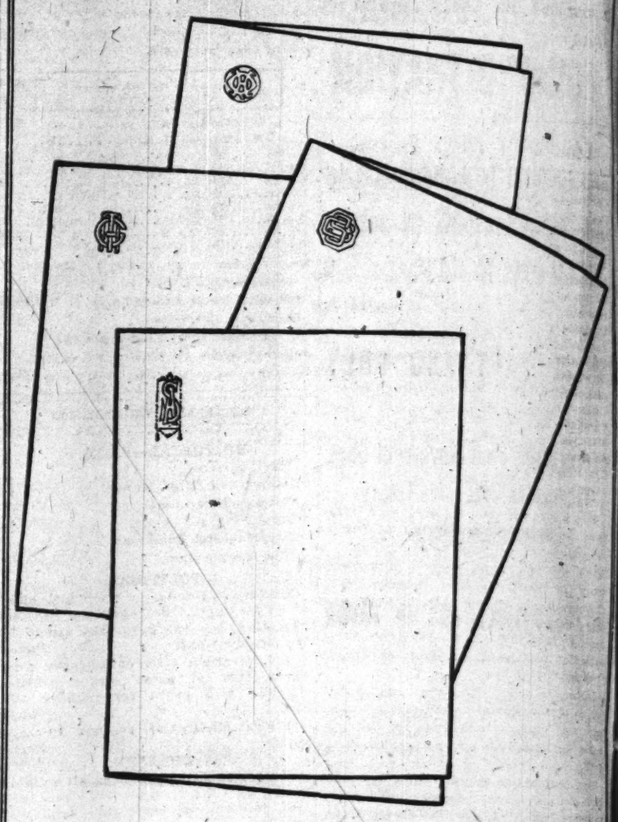

Former Pupil of Republican Mayoralty Candidate Asks Friends to Give Him Help at the Polls.

Miss Clio Mamer, daughter of Christopher Mamer, a Republican leader in the Nineteenth ward, is making a campaign for Ald. Merriam and is urging her friends to support him for mayor. She formerly attended Chicago university and was a student in some of Prof. Merriam's classes. She believes "because he was a good teacher he will make a good mayor."

Fire insurance and real estate men of Chicago yesterday advocated an educational campaign for the purpose of curtailing the city's enormous fire loss. The statement made by H. H. Glidden, manager of the Chicago Underwriters' association, before the Chicago real estate board, in which the loss by fire in 1910 was fixed at $7,500,000, got attention from every building and property interest.

Insurance men proposed bringing the matter to the consideration of various business and civic organizations, accompanied by appeals for immediate action of remedial character.

The estimate of the city's fire loss during 1910 is based on the reports of the Fire Insurance Patrol. Insurance operators figure that payments actually cover about 80 per cent of the total fire loss. The $7,500,000 loss sustained by the city in 1910 is the total loss reported by the Fire Insurance Patrol, with one-fourth added. This one-fourth includes business blocks uninsured and, in the majority of cases, the contents of residence buildings, thousands of dollars' worth of which never is insured.

Matches Cause Many Blazes.

During 1910, 1,921 fires were attributed to unknown origin, but next to that figure the biggest damage was caused by careless use of matches. Fires started by this source numbered 1,089. Gasoline explosions caused 865 fires, and 843 were laid to sparks from chimneys. Defective flues and overheated stoves caused together more than 400 fires. Crossed electric wires charged a heavy toll, with 134 fires, and 8 fires of consequence were started by the explosions of films in moving picture theaters.

Insurance men urge that an educational campaign should prohibit within the city limits the use of any save safety matches. The exercise of care by householders in the use of gasoline and other heating materials could cut the fire waste down a million dollars.

Need Conservation at Home.

"Much could be accomplished if the facts concerning this enormous fire waste are brought to the attention of the public in systematic fashion," said Edward B. Case of Moore, Case, Lyman & Hubbard, fire underwriters. "It is a pity that people cannot see far enough to know they should practice conservation right at home. It is just as important to conserve these great buildings in Chicago as it is to conserve the forests out west. Yet the individual citizen is doing little or nothing to prevent fires.

"The public often feels that the insurance companies are doing all they can to put rates up and that they are interested in little else. The fact is that the insurance concerns are striving to reduce the number of fires. Not every insurance company can go into every basement and take out the refuse that starts the worst fires with which we have to deal. But every citizen could do it and prevent many fires."

"WOMAN WITH THE CAT EYES" IS BROUGHT HERE IN CUSTODY.

Charged with Stealing $2,500 in Jewelry in the Mix Household Hour After Being Engaged as Servant.

Lilly McDowell, the "woman with the cat eyes," who is charged with stealing $2,500 worth of jewelry from the residence of Ira J. Mix, 3633 Grand boulevard, was brought from St. Louis to Chicago yesterday by Detective James Conick.

On Dec. 10 she was engaged as a servant in the Mix household, and, it is alleged, stole Mrs. Mix's jewels an hour after beginning work.

The McDowell woman was traced to St. Louis, where she was arrested and charged with two robberies in that city, both of which were similar to the Mix case.

Miss McDowell was acquitted on one charge and the jury disagreed with regard to the other. The St. Louis police then gave her into the custody of the Chicago detective.

When arrested in St. Louis she carried a handbag that was identified as the property of Mrs. Mix. A large portion of Mrs. Mix's jewelry also was recovered.

DUNNING PATIENTS IN DANCE.

National Terpsichorean Exercises in Costume Given by Insane Before Audience of 600.

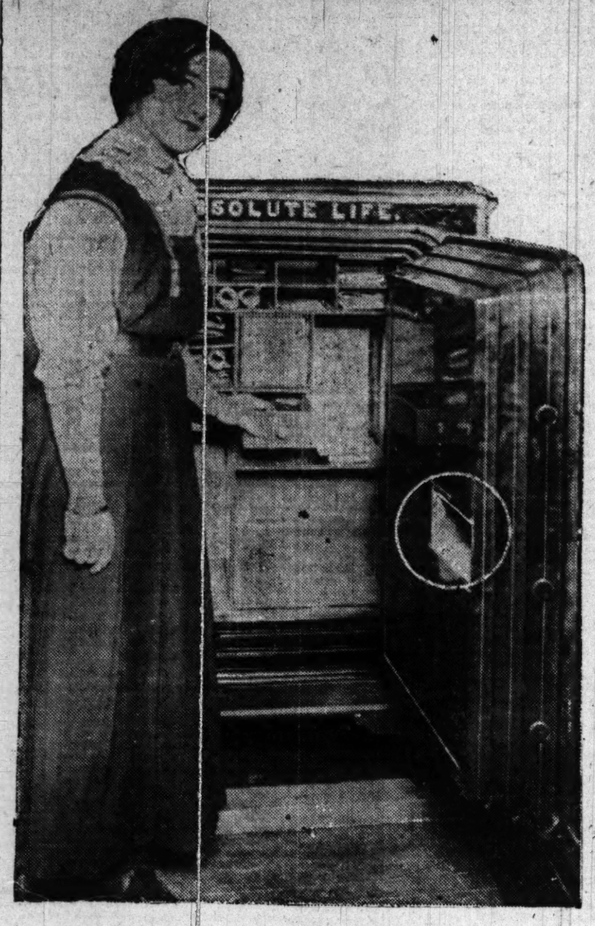

A "Dance of All Nations" was given last night by thirty-six patients of the Dunning institutions for the insane before an audience of 400 patients and 200 visitors. There were three dances, Irish, Swedish, and German—all costumed and rehearsed in the institution. Eight men and eight women patients participated in each dance. An orchestra composed of attendants furnished the music.

"Anything which will provide amusement for the patients is eagerly seized upon," Dr. J. P. Pwival, superintendent of the institutions, said last night. "Of course those who took part in the dances are suffering from only mild diseases of the brain. The entertainment was valuable not only as a relief from institution routine for them, but for the 400 other patients who witnessed it."

Martha Kaleh Ill; Cannot Play.

Upon the brief announcement that Miss Bertha Kalich, who is playing in "The Kreutzer Sonata," was suffering from influenza and was unable to appear the audience at the Princess theater was dismissed last evening. It was stated later in the evening by the star's physician that she probably would be able to play this afternoon.

LEAPS IN LAKE; GAINS REASON

Insane Mother Becomes Rational When Baby Screams.

SEEKS TO MURDER CHILD.

Plans to Kill Infant and Self; Shock Restores Faculties.

Her baby's scream and the sudden shock of the ice waters of Lake Michigan temporarily restored the reason of Mrs. Anne Fullmer of Kenosha and transformed her from a would-be suicide and child murderer to a heroic mother, battling for her own life and that of her offspring.

Mrs. Fullmer's baby girl, Beatrice, aged 3 years, probably was the direct means of waking her slumbering mentality, for the child screamed and struggled desperately when her mother jumped with her into the lake near their home in the north shore suburb.

The woman has been slightly deranged since the birth of the baby, but until yesterday she never had shown any suicidal or homicidal tendencies. It had been her custom to take daily walks, on which she was accompanied generally by her baby daughter.

Watches Waves, Then Jumps.

Yesterday the mother and child wandered slowly down to the beach and stood for a long time watching the waves. Suddenly Mrs. Fullmer seized little Beatrice in her arms, ran to a point where she could jump into comparatively deep water and took what she evidently intended to be the death plunge of herself and her child.

The baby screamed with the shock of the water. Two men who had been working near the water's edge and who had started to run to the scene when they saw Mrs. Fullmer jump heard the scream just as they came in sight of the struggling pair in the water.

Later they said that as the baby screamed the mother's demeanor changed and she appeared suddenly to realize that she and her child were in peril. Changing from her purpose to end her life and drown her baby, the woman immediately began to fight the waves in an effort to keep afloat.

Wades Ashore with Baby.

Finding the water not over her head, Mrs. Fullmer held the baby's head above the water and waded ashore. When the men reached her and aided her on the last few steps of her way to the beach she collapsed, while the baby also was unconscious.

Later Mrs. Fullmer was revived, and for a time talked rationally and appeared to have regained her reason fully. After a time, however, she relapsed into her former mental state. Physicians say that both probably will recover from their exposure without ill effects.

WARNED, SHE SAVES 20 GIRLS

Woman Rescues Tailor's Employes in Downtown Fire.

LOSS PREDICTED BY GYPSY.

Told Listener to Expect Damage as a Result of Flames.

When a gypsy fortune teller a few days ago told Mrs. Thomas Pick of 4157 Indiana avenue that she would suffer great financial loss through fire she laughed and told her husband of the incident. Mrs. Pick is owner of the Handy Specialty company, occupying the third floor, 185 Madison street.

At 6 o'clock last night, as Mrs. Pick and seven men employes were sitting in the private office of the company, a man entered crying: "Run for your lives, the building is on fire!"

First Thought Is of Girls.

Mrs. Pick did not stop to gather valuables or books and papers. She ran into the adjoining part of the building, occupied by a tailoring shop, and gave the warning to twenty girl employes.

The girls grew hysterical and ran aimlessly about, imploring Mrs. Pick to save them.

Terrified Girls Obey Command.

"Keep still and follow me," she commanded. Then she lifted a window leading to a fire escape. Down the three stories to the street she climbed, followed by the terrified girls. Then she fainted.

The amount of damage done is over $6,000 and the fire destroyed a business which Mrs. Pick says she was three years in building up.

EX-MAYOR SWIFT INJURED; FLORIDA DOG FIGHT CAUSE.

Owner of Canine Which Chicagoan's Pet Kills Wreaks Vengeance on Former City Official, Biting His Nose.

As a result of a dog fight on the lawn of the Palm Beach, Fla., winter residence of George B. Swift, former mayor of Chicago, Mr. Swift is now suffering with a number of teeth marks on his nose and severe scratches about the face. These were made by the owner of the losing canine, who is said to have been insane at the time.

According to a telegram from Palm Beach the Swift house is near that of his assailant. A few days ago the latter's dog came over to the Swift estate and attempted to make friends with a dog owned by Mr. Swift. A fight resulted, in which the intruder was killed.

Several days ago the owner of the dead dog extended a cordial invitation for Swift to call upon him. As soon as Mr. Swift had taken off his hat and made himself comfortable the neighbor proceeded to imitate the actions of the deceased canine.

STOUT IS UPHELD; RISTINE BLAMED

Acting Health Commissioner Probes Contagious Disease Hospital.

NEGLIGENT AND CRUEL.

Discharged Ambulance Surgeon Charged With Having Made Dying Woman Walk.

After an investigation of affairs at the Chicago Contagious Disease hospital yesterday Acting Health Commissioner Godfrey Koehler sustained Dr. A. M. Stout, superintendent of the institution, charged with incompetency by Dr. Earl F. Ristine, former ambulance surgeon, who was discharged on Wednesday. No evidence could be found to verify the allegations of the dismissed employé.

Dr. Stout was appointed on March 1, succeeding Dr. E. P. Biwer, who resigned under pressure.

Dr. Ristine used to take the nurses joyriding in the hospital automobile ambulance, said Dr. Koehler. "The nurses had no regular hours. They came and went as they chose. The ambulance surgeons, attendants, and chauffeurs loafed in the wards and private rooms. They talked a good deal with the nurses on duty. Patients were neglected. One nurse put a leaking ice pack about the head of a feverish patient. When she returned the child was lying in a pool of water.

Must Obey or Lose Positions.

"When Dr. Stout was appointed he put in force regulations which may be found in any well organized hospital. The attendants rebelled. We discharged two nurses, an ambulance attendant, and Dr. Ristine. Others will go unless they obey orders.

"We know of two instances in which Dr. Ristine was unnecessarily cruel to patients. He forced a maid of Mrs. J. M. Hobbs, 4504 Lake avenue, who had scarlet fever, to walk from her bed to the ambulance. He and the attendant were too lazy to carry her. The girl was so weak she fell to her knees several times. Dr. Ristine did not call for this patient until thirty-six hours after he was notified by Dr. William C. A. Leopold, the attending physician. The record shows that the ambulance crew was not unusually busy at that time."

This patient died the day after entering the hospital.

Dr. Ristine received his letter of discharge Wednesday morning. He refused to quit. To avoid a personal conflict, Dr. Ristine was permitted to remain in the building Wednesday night. On Thursday he left the institution; in the afternoon he returned.

Denies Charge of Carelessness.

Charges made by Dr. Ristine that carelessness permitted by Dr. Stout had been the cause of an epidemic of the measles at the hospital were denied by Acting Health Commissioner Koehler. There are now seventeen cases of measles there. The disease was introduced by Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, who entered the institution on Feb. 21, or seven days before Dr. Stout took charge. The Brown case was not isolated for several hours after being admitted.

HUNDREDS SEE MAN BATTLE FIRE IN THE BOSTON STORE.

Watchman's Efforts, Together with Stream from Sprinkler, Checks Spread of Flames to Huge Stock.

Hundreds of persons stopped at Dearborn and Madison streets last night and watched through the big plate glass windows on the third floor of the Boston Store the figure of a man in a gray cloud of smoke fighting a fire which was threatening several million dollars' worth of property. The fire was discovered at 11:40.

The firefighter stuck to the job and was still there when members of an engine company arrived five minutes later. The firemen found that the efforts of the watchman and a stream from an automatic sprinkler had practically quenched the blaze.

The fire was caused by an electrician's torch coming in contact with a lace curtain. The third floor is occupied by the woolen department, and, according to James Barr, night superintendent of the store, the damage from the blaze was small.

MODERN DIOGENES IN SUBURB.

Found Living in Sewer Pipe in Waukegan and Tries to Hold Residence Against Police.

Diogenes, Tub & Co., revised to the year 1911, was discovered at Waukegan yesterday in the person of James Sixta—said Sixta having adopted a five foot sewer pipe as his residence. It appeared that he had been living in it for three weeks. When Alexander—i. e., a Waukegan policeman—tried to oust him he replied in the well known words of his distinguished philosopher-model: "Beat it, pal. All I want is peace." But the officer couldn't see it that way.

Bryan's Daughter Engaged to Wed.

Miss Grace Bryan

Lincoln, Neb., March 17.—[Special.]—Miss Grace Dexter Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bryan, will be married early in June to Richard L. Hargreaves, a business man of Lincoln. Announcement of the engagement was made this evening by Mr. and Mrs. Bryan. The attachment of the young couple is of long standing and has met the approval of their families.

HARDEN'S NURSE IS WITNESS

Testifies in Alienation Suit of Former Chicagoan.

SHE HAD AN EYE ON HOOPS.

Hugging and Osculation When Husband Was Not Home.

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—Describing the Harden household life as divided into two parts, one when Percival Harden was "home" and the other when he was away and William T. Hoops and Mrs. Harden were "home," Mayme McEnerney today took the witness stand in the $150,000 suit which Harden, editor of the Club Fellow, has brought against Hoops for the alienation of his wife's affections. The latter is now the wife of Hoops. All the parties to the suit are former Chicagoans.

The girl was in the Central Park residence of the Hardens for several months in 1906, where she served as nurse girl for Mrs. Harden's sister.

"Whenever Mr. Harden was away," she said, "his friend Hoops always was calling on Mrs. Harden. At such times he would call her 'sweetheart,' and she would call him 'Billy.'"

"What did they do at such times?" asked the lawyer.

"Smoked cigarets," she said; "hugged each other and kissed many, many times. Whenever they stopped doing these things they walked up and down side by side."

Surprised in the Hallway.

"Did you ever surprise them in the hallway?" asked the lawyer.

"Once," replied the witness. "The baby got out into the hall and when I went after it I saw them walking and kissing each other. Then they stood still and kissed each other. Later they went into the parlor, where there was more kissing. They did that everywhere."

"When Mr. Harden was home, how was it then?"

"All different. No smoking or kissing."

"How did Hoops then address Mrs. Harden and she him," asked the lawyer.

"Formally, as 'Mrs. Harden,' and she always said 'Mr. Hoops,' not 'Billy.'"

Miss McEnerney then said that Hoops used to call Mrs. Harden up frequently on the telephone during the afternoon and often would come to dinner.

He Would Play with Her Ears.

"Did you get the impression that Hoops thought a great deal of Mrs. Harden?" the lawyer asked.

"Yes, for he did nothing but kiss and hug her. Sometimes he would play with her ears and stroke her arms."

WOMEN DISROBED IN HUNT FOR GEM

Wife and Daughter of Rich Southerner Searched in Vain on Lusitania.

CASE MAY GO TO COURTS.

Baggage Seized for Undervaluation by Officials at Port of New York.

New York, March 17.—The wife and a daughter of Joseph Hull of Savannah, Ga., one of the wealthiest men in the south, were required to disrobe in their state room on the Lusitania today while a customs inspectress made a vain search for a diamond necklace thought to have been purchased abroad.

The action of the custom house officials was taken following a mysterious tip.

The necklace rumor dismissed, customs inspectors scrutinized the family baggage and, charging undervaluations, seized the articles in question.

Mother and daughter maintained they had acted in good faith, but their explanations were not considered satisfactory to Collector Loeb. The articles consist entirely of wearing apparel and will be held until "the home value," that is the foreign cost plus duty, is paid.

Joseph Hull was on the pier to greet his wife and daughter, as was a son, Daniel, a cotton broker in this city. All were indignant and threaten to carry the matter to the courts if necessary.

Had to Take Off Stockings.

"We were made to take off even our stockings," said Mrs. Hull. "Every stitch of our clothing was searched and even our hair did not escape. I consider this treatment an outrage and I had no idea such a thing could happen on American soil."

It was explained for the family that the report concerning the necklace had probably come from Savannah, where "there was jealousy" over the fact that the Hulls were fortunate enough to enjoy foreign luxuries and finery.

"My sister Eliza," said Daniel Hull, "was the only one of the three who had previously been abroad, so yesterday my father sent a wireless warning mother and the girls to be cautious and particular in making their declarations. As to the alleged undervaluation the total can be no more than $150 and that was due to the ignorance of my mother and sisters and was done with no malicious intent.

Bought Necklace Five Years Ago.

"My sister Eliza has a diamond necklace she purchased five years ago in Savannah. A customs inspector there heard of this and got the mistaken impression that she bought the necklace in Paris and was bringing it with her on this trip. Of course, she had no such jewels."

FORBIDS CIGARETS FOR WOMEN.

Blackstone Hotel Management Insists Middle Aged Feminine Guest Throw Away "Coffin Tack."

A middle aged woman, well gowned, startled guests at the Blackstone hotel yesterday by calmly lighting and smoking a cigaret in the main lobby.

The woman occupied one of the cozy corners with an elderly man, who smoked a cigar.

"I am sorry, madam," said Manager Tompkins, "but women are not allowed to smoke anywhere in this hotel."

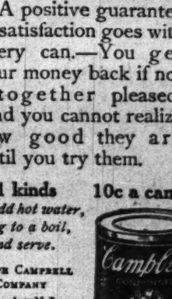

"Very well," she replied with a smile, "but I live abroad a great deal and am used to smoking in public."

MISS MARTHA SWANK

Miss Martha Swank, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Swank, 5042 Sheridan road, will be hostess at an interesting luncheon today, commemorating her 16th birthday. Her guests will include sixteen of her friends, all the same age. Later the sixteen young people will go to the theater.

Mrs. Joseph Gunsaulus to Give "Portrait Tea."

MRS. JOSEPH GUNSAULUS, 1358 North State street, is the latest of the matrons of the city to announce a "portrait tea." Mrs. Gunsaulus has asked her friends to come to her residence tomorrow afternoon to view the recently finished portrait done of her by Francois Flameng of Paris. M. Flameng, who will be among the guests, is making his first visit to Chicago, although he has painted the portraits of several Chicagoans, they having gone to New York to give him sittings.

Mrs. Edward S. Adams, 810 Tower court, will give a dinner on Wednesday evening complimentary to Señor and Señora Sorolla. Mrs. James B. Walker gave an informal luncheon for Señor and Señort Sorolla yesterday preceding the Thomas concert.

Mrs. Robert Avery Noble of Blooming (Eleanor Goldman of Chicago), who will be the soloist at the musical to be given in Mandel hall, University of Chicago, next Wednesday, will reach the city on Monday and will be the guest of Mrs. W. D. Washburn, 5824 Woodlawn avenue. The musical is given for the benefit of the boys camping fund of the University of Chicago settlement.

The marriage was announced yesterday of Miss Emily Blair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Preston Blair to Edward Clement Henrotin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henrotin. The ceremony took place Wednesday at the residence of the bride, 43 Cedar street, the Rev. John Timothy Stone officiating.

Although the bride and groom have known each other for many years, the news of the wedding will come as a surprise to the friends of both, as no announcement of an engagement had been made. Mr. and Mrs. Henrotin left for a brief wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton Ross, who have been stopping at the Plaza, have taken an apartment at 1449 Dearborn avenue.

Miss Alice Runnells, who has spent the last two or three months in the east, returned yesterday to the North State street residence. Miss Runnells, during her visit in the east, visited the family of the late Prof. James at the time that Henry James, the novelist, also was a guest. Later she visited Miss Sherwin of Philadelphia, who visited her in Chicago last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph S. Blome and daughter, 612 Deming place, have returned from a six weeks' motor tour of southern California.

Mrs. James E. Howell left Wednesday evening with her two little sons for San Francisco to join Mr. Howell, who has been there some weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Howell will make their home in or near Los Angeles. They returned from Roumania Thanksgiving week and have been visiting at the residence of Mrs. Howell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McCullough, in Oak Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Scherzer have returned to the Virginia after two months travel in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Nourse Armstrong, 33 Garfield boulevard, have returned from an extended trip through the south. They spent the Mardi Gras season in New Orleans.

Mrs. Glenn Steere, 3820 Lake avenue, will give a reception this afternoon in honor of Mrs. C. Gaylord Morse, formerly Miss Glenna Lynch. Those who will assist in receiving are Mrs. T. Vernette Morse, Mrs. Lynch, Mrs. Arthur Dunning, Mrs. Harry Terriere, Miss Frances Thompson, Miss Martha Matthews, Miss Katherine Calloway, Miss Vankey, and Miss Grace Lynch.

The Chicago alumni of Indiana university will be guests this evening at the residence of Dr. A. S. Carrier of McCormick Theological seminary, 2304 North Halsted street. Mrs. Carrier is the president of the local alumni association. The president of the university, Dr. William Lowe Bryan, will be the chief guest.

The French causerie will be held today, instead of Tuesday, at the residence of Mrs. Robert Mandel, 3415 Michigan avenue. Dr. Alice Brugnot will deliver a lecture on "French Peasants and Their Superstitions."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Boyer, 919 Sheridan road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marie Louise, to Hollins A. Antrim of Philadelphia. The wedding will take place early in June.

The wedding of Edna Weniger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Weniger, 1616 Clifton Park avenue, to Edward D. Rollberg, this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at St. Paul's Evangelical church, Orchard and Kemper streets, will be solemnized by the Rev. R. A. John. Miss Ruth Atkins of Springfield, Lydia Best of Chicago, Lester Quensel, and William Seifreed will be the attendants. Hildegarde Rollberg and Edith Weniger will be the flower girls.

After the ceremony there will be a banquet and dance at Lawndale hall, Ogden and Trumbull avenues. The bride and groom will go to California for their wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thrane have taken an apartment in Lincoln court, 2256 Lincoln Park west.

The Misses Lillian and Amy Sundvahl, 3831 Herndon street, will give a dinner for the Alpha chapter of the Phi Beta Delta sorority at the Mission tearoom, 4046 Sheridan road, this evening.

Among the Clubs.

Miss Elizabeth R. Hunt spoke yesterday at the morning session of the literary study class of the Arché club on "American Drama."

"The Great Divide is the greatest American prose drama," said Miss Hunt, "and the outlook is bright. The only question is shall we indorse the drama of poetry or the drama of prose. There is a great future for the American dramatist along either line."

Following the address the class officers were elected for next year. Mrs. Frank H. Pitkin was chosen chairman, Mrs. Oren O'Neal vice chairman, Mrs. Frank A. Beale secretary, and Mrs. Samuel C. Price treasurer.

Forests of Germany were discussed by Mrs. Henry L. Frank at the morning session of the forestry class of the Chicago Woman's club. Mrs. Joseph W. Hines gave a group of woodland songs.

Dickens' day was observed yesterday at the West End Woman's club. Frank Speaight gave "Choice Leaves from Dickens," which included selections from "Pickwick Papers," "Old Curiosity Shop," "David Copperfield," and "The Cricket on the Hearth." The West End club chorus furnished the music.

Meetings and Entertainments.

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE will hold a meeting from 3 to 5 o'clock this afternoon in room 736 Fine Arts building, under the auspices of the library committee. M. Benedict Papot will speak on André Picard's "Jeunesse," the play to be given by the Comédie Parisienne on March 26 and 27.

JULIUS WHITE POST NO. 740, Grand Army of the Republic, will give an entertainment and oyster supper in the hall at California avenue and Madison street this evening.

RIDGEWAY CLUB will have a card and dancing party this evening at the clubhouse, 5536 Indiana avenue. Vice President A. L. Wellman will have charge of arrangements.

THIRD UNITARIAN CHURCH will have an address by Mrs. Raymond Robins on "The Industrial Condition of Woman" Sunday evening.

Round About Chicago.

The Decadence of Hockey.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

WE saw our first game of hockey at the Ice palace, on Marshfield avenue, the other night, and as the game is little known in Chicago, we hasten to describe it. We stood far back in the big crowd that bordered the ice during the game, and much of the information we gleaned regarding the sport was furnished by a short, thick set man with a long black mustache and a retreating forehead who stood near us.

The man also wore a bright red necktie and a diamond horseshoe stickpin, and used his Adam's apple in place of a chin. Outside of this he was all right. We asked the black mustached man why hockey had to be played on the ice, and the man said that as the players were required to wear skates they found they could get around better if they played on the ice. He said that the game had been tried on a grass field, but that the grass tangled up in the skates and prevented rapid work.

Also a grass field was too soft. When a man is thrown down on a grass field it doesn't kill him. Ice is nice and hard, and when a player cracks it with his nose it hurts the player just as much as it does the ice. The black mustached man said the game of hockey had sadly deteriorated.

Under the old rules of hockey there were seven murderers on each side. The black mustached man said they had to be murderers because it's a very rough game. We asked him why burglars, or second story men, or members of the legislature couldn't have played the game, but the black mustached man said we had failed to understand his remark. Hockey, he said, was not a dishonest game—that is, not necessarily so.

"But 'tis a bit rough," said the black mustached man. He went on to explain in a deep undertone heavily freighted with sorrow and rye whisky that in hockey neither the strangle hold nor the half nelson was barred. He asked us to remember rule 4. We tried with great earnestness, but could not recall rule 4. Never having seen the laws that govern the grand old game of hockey, we couldn't even remember rule 2. It seems that in rule 4 the players are required to use only long clubs to pound each other with. There is, to be sure, another use for the clubs, and that is to drive the little rubber dingus called the "puck" back and forth on the ice and across the goal lines. But this is only incidental. The black mustached man said that the game is being ruined by the reformers who put in rule 4 and made it a law of the game.

According to rule 4, the work of the reformers, who are attempting to reduce the game to the level of jackstraws or tiddledywinks, no player is permitted to carry a revolver or knife. We were horrified at the diabolical work of the reformers, and so expressed ourselves. We asked the black mustached man if the players were not even permitted to carry brass knuckles or sandbags, but he mournfully shook his head and said no. The only deadly weapons now used by hockey players are the clubs, which are not any bigger than ordinary fence rails.

The game began and the players dashed madly at each other. The clubs whistled through the air. The carnage was terrible. The referee blew his whistle and the game stopped.

"Why the delay?" we asked the black mustached man.

"The other side has sent in a flag of truce," said the black mustached man. "They want to stop the slaughter for five minutes while they bury their dead and carry off their wounded."

True enough. Three players were borne solemnly from the field. Thinking it was the proper thing to do, we applauded vigorously.

"Don't cheer, boys," said the black mustached man, taking off his hat; "the poor devils are dying."

During the wait the black mustached man gave us further information regarding the sport. He said that the reformers had changed rule 7 so that we would hardly recognize it as applying to hockey or pinochle. "Rule 7," said the black mustached man, with tears in his eyes, "would be all very well in the brutal game of seven-up or in the fiendish contest known as 'button, button, whose got the button?'"

As a matter of fact, the seventh rule, the second one crowded into hockey, was copped bodily from the constitution and bylaws of the Buena Park Ladies' Whist club. It prohibits biting an opposing player on the nose or even slapping in the breakaway, or pulling the hair, or holding with the teeth.

"Well, well, well," we said to the black mustached man, "what a diabolical outrage!"

"It sure is," said the black mustached man. "Before long they will be padding the ice. That's what the reformers will do to a game when they get started."

The black mustached man harked back to the past again.

Only a few years ago, and hockey was played right. In those happy, carefree days, before the reformers had got in their deadly work, hockey players carried axes and had their clubs studded with spike nails and razor blades. The game had much greater possibilities then than it has now. There was an opportunity for headwork and strategy. For instance, when one side would see that its goal was in danger of being crossed the players would mass in front of the opposing team and hold them back, while one of their number would quickly dig a hole in the ice and insert a stick of dynamite.

The explosion would cause a deep hole in the rink, into which the opposing players would fall as they rushed on toward the goal. Then the team which had dug the hole would stand around the edges and whack the other players over the head with their clubs until they gave up or became unconscious.

"When did the game begin to deteriorate?" we asked the black mustached man.

He said that the decadence in hockey began in 1904, when the reformers succeeded in having the sport brought within the scope of the international peace conference at The Hague. The friends of hockey agreed to this proceeding in order to have the action taken by The Hague tribunal against dumdum bullets apply to hockey. For a long time there had been a growing sentiment among the players against the use of exploding bullets. Sometimes the players were so mussed up by these bullets it was impossible to identify the bodies, and as each casualty counted the opposing side fifteen points, naturally it was highly important to know on which team a dead man belonged.

This was all very well, but when the reformers went further and claimed that all the rules of civilized warfare, as laid down by The Hague conference, applied to hockey, the friends of the sport recognized they had been imposed upon. For example, the game as played under the rulings of The Hague conference no longer permits firing on the wounded nor the filing of the teeth of the players to a razor edge.

"In fact," concluded the black mustached man, mournfully, "you wouldn't know the game any more."

Hockey must have been some game in its time.

Among the New Books.

Two Novels of Bennett's and "Marie-Claire."

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

MANY books have been written in this world, but none quite like that curious, reticent, yet frank little autobiography by the French seamstress, Marguerite Andoux, entitled "MARIE-CLAIRE." Paris already has awarded it the warmest appreciation and a number of the most distinguished writers there have openly spoken their admiration for the beautiful confession made by this unknown workingwoman. It has remained for John N. Raphael to translate, as best he might, the simple French of this new writer into English, and he has done it with no little enthusiasm. He writes: "I should like to say quite earnestly—and perhaps a little shamefacedly, because we hate saying these things out loud—that when I read this book I felt awed. It had worked upon me. Do you remember the impression of moonlight upon snow in the country? You must be quite alone to feel it. The purity of it makes you wish that you were a cleaner man or woman, and till you rub shoulders with people again, you mean to try hard to be cleaner and better. 'Marie-Claire' made me feel exactly like that."

It is one of those books which make you aware of the absolute independence of the human soul. Marie-Claire was born of common, wayward, weak parents. She grew up under adverse circumstances. She was lonely, neglected, often unloved. But the essence of her soul remained exquisite. She met the world with dignity and patience, turning labor into privilege and sorrow into sweetness. Her instinct for what she should not dilate upon amounts to genius; she makes an allusion assume dramatic significance, and she maintains a reticence which is more than admirable.

It is a singularly touching and beautiful book—this sad story of a girl's lonely life. It is above all a surprising book, with its extraordinary character delineation, its gentle humor, and its profound knowledge of the human heart. One is gratified to know that this quiet woman, poor in purse and humble in vocation, feels the warm response to her untutored talent, and proposes to continue her autobiographic record. (George H. Doran company, New York.)

It is some time since Arnold Bennett wrote "THE BOOK OF CARLOTTA," but it appears now for the first time in America. (George H. Doran company.) When it was published in England it was called "Sacred and Profane Love." Whether the search for the "sacred" love proved unavailing, or whether it was supposed Americans would not recognize the allusion is not known. The book purports to be the product of the heroine, Carlotta Peel, a writer of novels and poetry, and Mr. Bennett points out that the style in which the book is written is not his own, but Carlotta's, and that the opinions are not his but hers. He does, however, put himself on record as believing Carlotta to be a "nice" girl, in spite of the exotic flavor of her life.

Carlotta was a genius and a peculiar set of circumstances left her alone in London, the prey of an intense and excursive temperament. Indeed, one might go farther and say that Miss Peel has piratical leanings. At any rate, she took a good woman's husband away from her and the woman—a friend of Carlotta's—committed suicide. After that the husband blew out his brains. And then, in time, Carlotta returned to a man to whom she had yielded herself after half an hour's acquaintance. This makes surely a singular variant of niceness, but we are warned so passionately against conventionality several times in this book that we feel somewhat confused and cannot but wonder if we shall prove ourselves blameworthy for objecting to conduct so impulsive.

There are beautiful and ardent passages in the book, but whether Mr. Bennett has proved his heroine a genius may be a question. That was what he aimed to do and he was certainly ingenius in endeavoring to justify his plea for the extraordinary mental powers of the heroine by letting her write her own book.

The story has fascination, the style, caprice, and charm, the woman a certain nobility and courage, but her code is erratic, her generosity misplaced. At the risk of being thought obtuse and hard we must affirm that we cannot agree with Mr. Bennett's standard of what is "nice" in a woman. Carlotta may at moments have been splendid, but she was an unreflecting hedonist and all her bravado and brilliancy cannot atone for the obliquity of her moral vision.

Charles Alexander Eastman, the Sioux Indian, and a writer of feeling and excellent simplicity, has put forth a small volume entitled "THE SOUL OF THE INDIAN," in which he describes, not the customs and observances of the Indian merely, but the meaning which lay back of them. It is, indeed, a satisfaction to the mind which desires to approach all men and all thought with courtesy, to find here the true attitude of the Indian to his ceremonies and materials. Mr. Eastman speaks with well tempered earnestness—with a sort of hidden passion—which cannot but move the reader. The gravity and dignity of these explanations are offered, it is plain to see, with the hope of inducing the white man to better understand and, if possible, to venerate the emotions of poetry and aspiration which lay at the root of Indian ceremonial. Writing of the alleged sun worship among the Indians Mr. Eastman says:

> The rites of this physical worship again were wholly symbolic and the Indian no more worshiped the sun than the Christian adores the cross. The sun and earth, by an obvious parable, holding scarcely more of poetic metaphor than of scientific truth, were in his view the parents of all organic life. From the sun, as the universal father, proceeds the quickening principle in nature and in the patient and fruitful womb of our mother, the earth, are hidden embryos of plants and men. Therefore our reverence and love for them was really an imaginative extension of our love for our parents and with this sentiment of filial piety was joined a willingness to appeal to them as to a father, for such good gifts as we may desire.
> The elements and majestic forces in nature, lightning, wind, water, fire, and frost, were regarded with awe as spiritual powers, but always secondary and intermediate in character. We believed that the spirit pervades all creation and that every creature possesses a soul in some degree, though not necessarily a soul conscious of itself. The tree, the waterfall, the grizzly bear, each is an embodied force, and as such an object of reverence.
>
> The Indian loves to come into sympathy and spiritual communion with his brothers of the animal kingdom, whose inarticulate souls had for him something of the sinless purity that we attribute to the innocent and irresponsible child. He had faith in their instincts, as in a mysterious wisdom given from above, and while he humbly accepted the supposedly voluntary sacrifice of their bodies to preserve his own, he paid homage to their spirits in prescribed prayers and offerings.
>
> The animal totems so general among the tribes were said to have descended to them from their great grandmother's clan, and the legend was often quoted in support of our close friendship with the animal people. I have sometimes wondered why the scientific doctrine of man's descent has not in the same way apparently increased the white man's respect for these our humbler kin.

This interesting and unusual book is published by Houghton, Mifflin company. Indeed, who should publish it if not Houghton-Mifflin? Who, through all the years of their long service, have ever opened their facilities for publication to the misunderstood, the inarticulate, the oppressed, the voicers of new causes, but Houghton-Mifflin? We have most of us a way of turning a jest at Boston and her enthusiasms, but we do know, in spite of all foolish mirth, that she stands for the things of the spirit, for the moral truth, for the disinterested effort. And whatever Boston stands for at its best, this company of honorable publishers has stood for. It has been, from the first, moved by other considerations than commercial ones, and it never has been oblivious of its higher obligations to the public.

"DIMINUTIVE DRAMAS," by Maurice Baring is a little book you require if you are to keep up with the laughter of the world. There are new things in laughter as there are in clothes and in salads, and if you have a fancy to keep in the procession with the mirthful ones, you must read the men who are ingenious in the concocting of the mysterious thing. For laughter is mysterious. It belongs in its appreciative forms to the civilized man—the man so civilized that he is good. As wicked or scornful laughter is the most offensive sound that can greet the ears, so gentle and discriminating laughter is the most felicitous.

Mr. Baring, who knows all about these matters, wrote his little dramas for one of the London dailies, and they are said to have attracted much attention. They deal, chiefly, with historical subjects in a way so original and piquant that they are like to arouse the covert jealousy of Mr. Shaw. They will make equally good reading or acting, but they are not for dull audiences or for those who are looking for time worn jests and situations. (Houghton, Mifflin company.)

Graham's Nonsense; New Dickens Stories.

BY JEANNETTE L. GILDER.

CAPT. HARRY GRAHAM, who is well known by his "Misrepresentative Men," and also from the fact that he was once engaged to Miss Ethel Barrymore, has written his first long book. It is called "LORD BELLINGER, AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY" (Duffield). It is in Capt. Graham's amusing and somewhat sarcastic vein. There is an introduction to the book, in which the editor tells us that Bellinger Hall became the property of Mr. Wilbur P. Balch, familiarly known in Chicago as the "Chew Gum King." I can better give an idea of the manner of this book by quoting some of its contents. Here is what he says about Bellinger Hall, which was bought by the "Chew Gum King":

> The interior of the house was decorated in a fashion to match the façade. The big hall, surrounded by galleries, which was the main feature of the internal scheme, provided a very fair example of that style of decoration which Ruskin once referred to as a cross between "early Pullman" and "late German Lloyd." Plush settees filled every available corner. The roof was upheld by heavy carved pillars of imitation marble which would not have deceived a fly. An eminent British artist had adorned the ceiling with a scene representing "The Banquet of the Gods," the latter being depicted as stout, décolleté, improper looking individuals, apparently attempting to stay the pangs of divine hunger with ambrosial food of a particularly appetizing kind. The full beauty of this masterpiece could only be appreciated by lying on one's back on the floor, an attitude which few of my grandfather's guests cared to adopt.
> The rest of the house was in keeping with the hall, though here and there some conspicuously audacious efforts had been made to introduce foreign novelties. Of these my grandmother's French sitting room supplied a good example, of which she and my grandfather were extremely proud until an old friend administered a severe shock to their vanity. One day when old Sir Percy Bellinger was showing the Duchess of Bognor round the building, he flung open the door of his boudoir with pardonable vanity. "This," he replied, "is our Louis Quinze room!" The duchess gazed thoughtfully at it for a moment. "What makes you think so?" she inquired, pleasantly enough.

On the subject of the "British workman" and the way he was regarded by his lordship, Capt. Graham is particularly amusing:

> The selfishness of the laboring man—of which I have already had occasion to complain—is only one degree less lamentable than that fatal disinclination for work which he evinces. I have sometimes stood for more than an hour at a stretch at my library windows watching the gardeners at work, and wondering why great strong men were not ashamed to spend their precious time so unprofitably. The leisurely way in which they plant bulbs or tickle the paths with a raze makes me despair for the future of England. I believe the working man would sooner do nothing at all than dig in a flower bed or cart manure. He has no conception of the dignity of labor; he takes no interest in work for work's sake. It is not only in the country that we find this apathy. Even in London I remember, when the road was being repaved outside Bellinger house, I used to be amazed at the laziness of the workmen—I could see them from my room as I breakfasted in bed—and wrote to the county council to complain.

It may be remembered that Capt. Graham was private secretary to Lord Rosebery and that he resigned that position when he thought he was going to marry Miss Barrymore, as his lordship made it a rule never to employ married secretaries. It is just possible that there was something more in Capt. Graham's mind than the mere writing of a book when he wrote this bit of sarcasm.

Some years ago Miss Mamie Dickens, the eldest daughter of the great novelist, wrote a short and intimate biography of her father, for the special reading of children. The book was published in England, but not in this country. It is now, however, about to be published for the benefit of American children, who know and love Dickens quite as well as the children of his own country. Miss Dickens has not attempted to compete with Forster's Life of her father, but merely to write about him as she would talk about him, to children.

In the early days of Dickens' literary life he was fond of riding, and after a hard time at his desk he would be off with some chosen friend into the country for a whole day's ride. Later on he would take long walks, sometimes during the day, sometimes at night; but through his life he found rest and recreation in almost every violent exercise; he was also fond of driving at this time and had a pair of ponies which he drove in a small open chaise; he was obliged to give them up and provide a more suitable conveyance for Mrs. Dickens.

While Dickens was writing "Nicholas Nickelby" he received a letter from a little boy who was entirely unknown to him, telling him how he would like the book to be finished; and his answer is so characteristic that I quote it in full:

> Respected Sir,
>
> I have given Squeers one cut on the neck and two on the head, at which he appeared much surprised and began to cry, which, being a cowardly thing, is just what I should have expected from him—wouldn't you?
>
> I have carefully done what you told me in your letter about the lamb and the two "sheeps" for the little boys. They have also had some good ale and porter, and some wine. I am sorry you didn't say what wine you would like them to have. I gave them some sherry, which they liked very much, except one boy, who was a little sick and choked a good deal. He was rather greedy, and that's the truth, and I believe it went the wrong way, which I say served him right, and I hope you will say so, too.
>
> Nicholas had his roast lamb, as you said he was to, but he could not eat it all, and says if you do not mind his doing so, he should like to have the rest hashed tomorrow with some greens, which he is very of, and so am I. He said he did not like to have his porter hot, for he thought it spoilt the flavour, so I let him have it cold. You should have seen him drink it. I thought he never would have left off. I also gave him three pounds of money, all in sixpences to make it seem more, and he said directly that he should give more than half to his mamma and sister, and divide the rest with poor Smike, and I say he is a good fellow for saying so; and if anybody says he isn't I am ready to fight him whenever they like—there!
>
> Fanny Squeers shall be attended to, depend upon it. Your drawing of her is very like, except that I don't think the hair is quite curly enough. The nose is particularly like hers, and so are the legs. She is a nasty, disagreeable thing, and I know it will make her very cross when she sees it; and what I say is that I hope it may. You will say the same, I know; at least, I think you will.
>
> I meant to have written you a long letter, but I cannot write very fast when I like the person I am writing to, because that makes me think about them, and I like you, and so I tell you. Besides, it is just eight o'clock at night, and I always go to bed at eight o'clock except when it is my birthday, and then I sit up to supper. So I will not say anything more besides this, and that is my love to you and Neptune; and if you will drink my health every Christmas Day I will drink yours—come.
>
> I am, respected sir,
>
> Your affectionate friend.

Of his death and the days preceding it Miss Dickens writes:

> Charles Dickens had an intense dislike to and shrinking from all leavetakings. He never used the word "goodby" if he could help it, and generally left us for any short absence with a kiss or a nod.
>
> But on this day his daughter Kate said, "I must say goodby to papa," and went over to the chalet where he was busy writing. As a rule, when he was busy he would just put up his cheek to be kissed. But this day he took his daughter in his arms, saying: "God bless you, Katie!" And there, "among the branches of the trees, among the birds and butterflies and scent of flowers," she left him. All that day and the next he was well, but soon tired—an unusual thing for him.
>
> On the Wednesday morning he was in excellent spirits, talking to "auntie" about his book ("Edwin Drood"), and as he was to go to his office in London the next day he would work in the chalet and take no drive or walk until the evening. He came once to the house in the middle of the day, smoked a cigar in the conservatory, which "improvement" he took intense delight in, and went back to the chalet.
>
> It was not until he and his sister-in-law, the only member of the family at home just then, sat down to dinner that she noticed a change in his color and expression. She asked him if he were ill, and he said: "Yes, very ill; I have been very ill for the last hour." She was going to send immediately for a doctor, but he forbade her, saying that he would go on with dinner and to London afterwards. He struggled against the fit which was coming on, and she, becoming seriously alarmed, entreated him to "come and lie down." "Yes, on the ground," he answered quite distinctly, and on her going to assist him he slid from her arms and fell on the floor. A couch was brought into the dining room, on which he was laid. Telegrams were sent to his children and to his London doctor, and a messenger sent for the doctor at Rochester, and the faithful friend and companion sat alone, for a time, watching.
>
> The two daughters and Mr. Beard arrived that evening, the eldest son the next morning, and his son Henry from Cambridge the evening of the 9th, too late, alas!
>
> We watched all through the night, and all through the next day, but he never once opened his eyes or showed one sign of consciousness. It was better so for him. The last "goodby" would have caused him such pain and sorrow. But we could tell the moment—ten minutes past 6—when his spirit took flight. A shadow stole across his face, a tear rolled down his cheek, he gave a deep sigh, and he was gone from us.

The many American children and grown-ups to whom the name of Charles Dickens is one of the dearest in literature will thank the publishers for this book.

Music.

Kortschak Brightens A Monotonous Program.

BY GLENN DILLARD GUNN.

THE admirable violin playing of Hugo Kortschak supplied the moment of interest that brightened the tedium of yesterday's matinée by the Thomas orchestra. Mr. Kortschak, who is the orchestra's second concert master, selected the Tor Aulin C minor concerto as his contribution to the afternoon, and this fact probably inspired in the mind of the conductor the unhappy thought to make it a Scandinavian program. Norway, Sweden, and Finland have given to the world a great deal of beautiful music, and, being estimated by the compositions that have succeeded, are justly esteemed among the most musical peoples of Europe.

That these countries suffer their due proportion of musical failures no one present in Orchestra hall will doubt. An entire program of music that exploits pronounced racial peculiarities of harmonic color, melody, and rhythm is likely to become monotonous. When the music performed represents the peculiarities without significant content—the manner, but no important matter—the results are sad indeed, and no amount of admirable interpretative art can afford relief or distraction.

The Thomas orchestra has rarely played better than in the Sibelius D minor symphony, for example. Never has it expended its energies to poorer advantage. The Finnish composer is an example of the danger of emotional economy, not to say poverty. He is acquainted with one mood, melancholy. He discovers a few melodies that give it sentimental emphasis, and by way of contrast evolves a variety of strange, inarticulate orchestral noises presumably designed to accomplish dramatic climaxes. In the Scherzo he breaks into an artificial vivacity, making much ado over a theme that is musically less than nothing.

Like Tschaikowsky, Sibelius enjoys a reputation for creating music that is full of feeling. In fact, both men are singularly limited in feeling, since they both seem to have been impelled to give musical expression to but one phase of emotional experience. Each, according to the measure of his art, has written variations on one mood. Depression is traced through all its possible inflections, from sentimental melancholy to dramatic despair, with the accompanying hysterical and artificially stimulated reactions. Since their emotional limitations impel them to terrifying exaggerations, the public has been inclined to accept their creations as expressions of great depth, forgetting that feeling in music, to be rich, must be as broad as the human heart itself.

Thanks to Mr. Kortschak's playing, Tschaikowsky found his way onto the day's program. The applause that greeted his performance of the Tor Aulin concerto was so genuine that he responded to encore with commendable promptness, presenting a pleasing example of salon music by the great Russian.

A tone of beauty so unvaried that it threatened at times the unaccustomed danger of an attractive monotony, phrasing, and shading remarkable for their sensitive refinement, grace of style, rhythmical vigor, and the unfailing charm of sincerity are the salient qualities of his art. They suffice to place him in the front rank of resident violinists and should insure him a place of honor among his more famous colleagues.

The Svendsen "Coronation" march made a vigorous and dignified opening to the program, which closed rather feebly with three pieces from Grieg's "Sigurd Jorsalfar" suite. It will be repeated this evening.

The statement in yesterday's TRIBUNE to the effect that the symphony by Margaret Horton Potter is the first work of its kind by a woman is an error. Mrs. H. H. A. Beach of Boston composed a "Gaelic" symphony, which was performed thirteen years ago by the Boston and Thomas orchestras.

Woman and Her Interests.

Hearts and Homes.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1911: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

My heart is like a desert scene,
By love forsaken and by sorrow broken;
It holds one rose to tell of what has been
An everlasting token.
Once I was loved, and in the twilight hour
Mem'ry's fragrance breathes an invocation;
Love hears and wakens with the magic power
That fills and rules creation.
And tho' I stand deserted and alone,
Like a lone blossom 'neath the evening glory,
I still, in dreams of bliss my heart has known,
Rehearse love's old sweet story.

IF we knew the story of sorrow lying behind brave smiles and forced gayety we would not be so hasty in thinking ill of the woman who is trying to show the world only the sunny side of her life instead of the shadows.

Every home has its skeleton in the closet, a grim phantom of whose presence even their most intimate friends have no knowledge. The hearts of those within its walls make the home; be it castle or a humble cot. Some husbands' hearts are concentrated on their homes, and there are others whose hearts are elsewhere. There is no truer saying than that which tells us "Where a man's treasure is there his heart is also."

If a man does not treasure the wife in his home his heart will not be there. Home should be the dearest spot on earth to a man. Beneath its roof are the ones who love him with a devotion which we find nowhere else on earth. The interests of husband and wife are one—if he wills it to be so.

For the wife whose life is lonely and whose heart is empty there is no pleasant little chat with her husband over the dinner. It is always a stately affair, which forbids exchange of confidences or one word of affection. They have no moments alone together. After evening meal he hurries away from the house. Its gilded splendor wearies him. He tolerates the wife who reigns therein. He is not a man whose love is of the lasting kind. He does not trouble himself with her worries or heartaches. He "seeks the pleasures congenial to him; let her do likewise" is his motto. That home does not ring with the patter of childish feet or the laughter of baby voices. The wife in this home rebels against her cruel fate, hears the world tell of what an exemplary husband she has, beautiful home, jewels, and autos that are hers. The world does not know what she knows.

A little child to cuddle in her arms and to love her would be worth more to her hungry heart than all the trappings of wealth, luxury the world could give. She knows love is never to be hers. She tries to live her life out as best she can without it. Friends she has none, yet five hundred dear acquaintances write her notes, invite her to their homes, to theater, and ball. She stamps them for exactly what they are—acquaintances for today and perhaps tomorrow.

If her social position were to be suddenly stripped from her she knows they would know her not. She laughs, talks, and entertains them, but there is not one among them to whom she would go for sympathy, unburdening the utter weariness of her love starved heart.

Women must fill their lives with some occupation, be it good, bad, or indifferent. Some plunge into the social whirl, opera, ball, musical, dinners, and clubs.

Their one thought is—to escape the ennui an unfulfilled day would bring. The husband of such a wife has much to answer for. If he made home bright for her by his presence at her side instead of a life of indolence it would blossom out with good and noble purposes. It is the beloved wives of wealthy husbands who have revolutionized the world. They have gone into the slums, holding their hands out to their unfortunate sister women; drawing them from dark, want and woe, out into the life of usefulness and hope. The husbands of such women have been in full sympathy with them—entering heart and soul into their plans encouragingly.

Write Him Fully.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a not unattractive girl of 24 and have been engaged to a gentleman for over four years. We have been deferring our marriage until the time that he would be better able to take the added responsibility of his own home. He no longer lives in my home town as his business took him to Chicago. I see him frequently, as I go to the city to shop and attend musicales and the theater. He always seems attentive enough but of late his letters have become less frequent and seem quite disinterested. I truly love him and have reason to believe that he still loves me. Can you tell me, please, how I can best find out the state of his affections?
"TWENTY-FOUR."

Why not write, explaining how you feel. I think I would if I were you.

She Likes Mr. Kelly.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a young woman 23 years old and am considered by many to be exceedingly good looking. For the last few years I have been keeping company with a young man named Kelly. Although not engaged to him, I love him dearly, and this fact is also known to the younger people of our set. In the last few weeks Mr. Kelly has gone to see another woman not in our set. Of course this caused quite a little comment, and I am the butt of many jokes. The girls are continually asking me, 'Has anybody here seen Kelly?' Now, my dear Miss Libbey, I am heartbroken over it, and I want your advice in the matter. Do you think that I ought to let my friend come up to see me? What shall I do to keep the girls from saying what they do? LONESOME."

If you like Mr. Kelly pay no attention to what the girls say. Yes, let him come and call on you.

Shall She Marry Him?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have hesitated a long time before writing of my heart troubles. My question is this: 'Should I marry a man 21 years old?' I am only 17 myself, but I have old fashioned ideas on this subject and have always lived with older people. My mother and father are both dead and I have to shift for myself. The young man loves me dearly, I think, and tries to persuade me to marry him. While in his company I am always inclined to say 'yes,' but I think afterwards that maybe we are too young. So any advice you may offer, dear Miss Libbey, will be greatly welcome to M. E. D."

You do seem young. Still, if you love the man there is no reason why you should not marry. As you have no parents I think it would be wise for you to marry, but be sure you really love this man and that he is the right kind of a man. Is he sober? Is he lazy? Has he a good temper? Is he honest? Be sure that you can answer all these questions to your satisfaction before you accept him.

Just Like a Man.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I recently found, upon a business correspondence, the address of a young woman, and after much consideration I decided to write to her. I did write to her, giving her a description of myself and asking her to correspond with me. A few days ago I received a delightful letter from her with her picture inclosed, but her letter leads me to believe that she is older than myself, and after much consideration I have decided to ask your advice before answering her. I am a student, and she being a stenographer, causes me to wonder if she is the kind of a girl whose acquaintance I should form. Please advise me immediately, as I do not wish to appear indifferent to her, if you think it proper for me to correspond with her. NEMO."

No. A girl who would cheapen herself that way isn't worth while. Your letter tells me that, like all men, you don't appreciate what you may have too easily.

Economical Housekeeping.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Central Food of the Universe.

Alice was about to prepare tea. The drawn thread cloth was laid diagonally on the table, the strawberry jam occupied the northern point of the compass, and the marmalade was antarctic, while brittle cakes and sponge cakes represented the occident and the orient respectively. Bread and butter stood, rightly, for the center of the universe.—From "Buried Alive," by Arnold Bennett.

IT would be easy to be a vegetarian or a continual observer of fast days if one could always get good bread. But this is not easy. That is, it is not easy to get a perfect bread that has all the virtue in it that bread should have.

Whether good or bad, there is no food that constitutes a larger part of the diet now, and has constituted such for no one knows how far back in history. Says the government bulletin—the last on the subject of bread and breadmaking: "Ever since the far off days when the wild cereals were first found or cultivated men have known that food prepared from them would support life and strength better than any other single food except milk."

It takes a good deal of practice to learn to make a perfect raised bread, and many housekeepers think they have neither the time nor the patience for this task, but one of the [illegible] est and busiest women I know, a woman who has prepared herself by the study of law and other subjects to fit herself for the responsibilities of managing a great estate, a woman who dresses exquisitely, and gives time to fine attainments, trusts no one to make the bread of her household. She always makes it herself, no matter what her engagements.

Let us turn to the government bulletin again for a description of good bread and how some people learn to make it: "When the flour is of good quality, the dough well prepared, and the bread properly baked, the [illegible] has certain definite characteristics. Thus it should be well raised and have a thin, [illegible] crust which is neither too dark in color [illegible] too tough, but which cracks when broken. The crumb, as the interior is called, should be porous, elastic, and of uniform texture without large holes, and should have a [illegible] flavor and odor. In this connection the breadmaking and judging contests in some of the household science departments of the farmers' institutes are of interest. The members [illegible] urged to bring loaves of their own baking to the meetings, and these are judged on such points as flavor, lightness, grain and texture of the dough, color, depth and texture of crust, and marked on special score cards with as much accuracy as is used in seed or stock judging contests among farmers. If housekeepers would judge the bread baked in their own kitchens with the same intelligent interest and profit by their findings they would soon learn to make bread as accurately as wholesale bakers."

The flour makers want people to have [illegible] bread. They send out the best of recipes with their flour. It requires practice, practice, practice, to learn to make good bread, but the apprenticeship is much shortened if judgment grows with each trial.

Quick Coffee Cake.—One cup flour, two [illegible] spoons baking powder, one teaspoon lard, one-fourth cup sugar, pinch of salt, milk, and water. Mix as for baking powder biscuit, using enough milk and water to make a [illegible] dough. Roll out and put in baking tin [illegible] put bits of butter, cinnamon, and sugar on top. Bake in quick oven. Mrs. Marie Habermeyer, 7247 St. Lawrence avenue.

Dixie Biscuit.—One pint of pastry or winter wheat flour, one-half pint buttermilk or sour milk, two level tablespoons of lard, [illegible] half teaspoon salt, one scant teaspoon baking soda, one level teaspoon baking powder. [illegible] salt, soda, and baking powder and sift [illegible] flour, saving out a little of the latter for board. Rub lard through flour with fingers, add milk, and knead very lightly for a minute or two till smooth. Roll out and cut with biscuit cutter. Prick with fork and bake in a hot oven.—Miss Lillian M. Cook, La Grange, Ill.

CRUSH OUT HOPE OF MEXICAN PEACE

Diaz and Madero Show They Cannot Agree on Settlement of Revolt.

LIMANTOUR EFFORT VAIN.

President Insists Uprising Is Only Minor and That Insurgents Lost.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—All chances of a settlement of the Mexican trouble seem to have disappeared. According to the statements given out by both the Diaz government and the leaders of the most important faction of the revolutionists, there can be no agreement along the lines which were proposed by Minister of Finance Jose Ives Limantour.

The Madero forces will demand that Diaz resign, that effective suffrage be given to all citizens of Mexico and that the president hereafter be eligible to only one term. This stand was announced by Frisco I. Madero.

The Diaz government, according to authentic statements from Mexico City today, will treat with the insurgent forces on no terms. According to these messages Diaz considers the revolt as of minor consequence.

Maderists Guarantee Protection.

The position of the Madero forces was made known when Francisco I. Madero, provisional president, and Abraham Gonzales, secretary of state of the revolutionist government, issued a decree through their confidential agency here guaranteeing protection to lives and interests of all foreigners in Mexico. The decree gives the detailed plan for reimbursing those sustaining losses "as soon as the triumph of the provisional government will have become recognized by the capture of Mexico City."

Simultaneously with the decree, Dr. Vasquez Gomez, head of the confidential agency, received the set of notes addressed by Francisco Madero to all foreign powers having diplomatic representatives in Washington giving an official statement of the causes of the revolution, together with a guaranty of respectful treatment of the rights and property of foreigners.

President Diaz Is Defiant.

Mexico City, March 17.—If Minister of Finance Limantour is coming to Mexico City with the intention of inducing Gen. Diaz to listen to terms proposed by the insurrectos for cessation of hostilities it is probable his efforts will prove fruitless. Limantour passed Palestine, Tex., tonight on his way from New York.

The known character of Gen. Diaz is not such as would permit him to listen to terms from revolutionists. It was only a few days ago that the president announced a plan which was not one of conciliation but one of war.

No longer is there a disposition on the part of the administration to deny that a condition of war exists, but it is maintained that the progress of the campaign made against the rebels has shown satisfactory results. It is not admitted that the insurrection exists in all portions of the republic, but it is only in the north, chiefly the state of Chihuahua.

Say Rebels Are Beaten.

At the war department it was explained that Madero's campaign in the north has received a serious setback within the last four days. The ability of the federals to reestablish railroad communication with the city of Chihuahua, it was pointed out, has demonstrated the weakness of the rebels. During the entire campaign, according to a statement made at the war department, the rebels have not won a decisive battle.

To yield to the rebels in any one of their demands for peace under these conditions would be most absurd, said officials high in the government. That the administration would be willing to grant terms was regarded as a strong probability, but, as stated before, only after the rebels had laid down their arms. That Gen. Diaz would agree to declare his recent election void was dismissed as the extreme of absurdity.

That changes in the cabinet are probable has not been denied here, though when, no official would say positively. Minister of Foreign Affairs Creel has declared that it was unlikely they would occur until after the revolution has ceased.

Madero Plans a Capital.

El Paso, Tex., March 17.—Francisco I. Madero, leader of the Mexican insurrectos and their so-called president, is concentrating his forces 100 miles south of El Paso, with a view of storming and taking a town and establishing in it a "capital" from which to carry on his operations throughout the states of Sonora and Chihuahua, according to a statement given out by the revolutionary junta tonight.

The following news concerning Chihuahua, where 700 Americans live, came to Juarez today.

"There are 3,000 federal troops here. They are regarded as sufficient protection against an attack, but the inhabitants are not allowed to go into the country. We sleep under the guns of both the insurrectos beyond and the federals within. Our condition is growing daily more serious. We have been under siege for eighteen days. We have not seen a newspaper from the outside since Feb. 22.

"Last week the grocery men had a meeting and agreed to raise the price of everything 30 per cent. There was a loud protest, so the agreement was not carried out. The present prices are: Butter, per pound, $1.25; crackers, 50 cents a box; three pound can of tomatoes, 85 cents. The supply of milk is diminishing."

ATTACKS MOBILIZING OF TROOPS.

Madison, Wis., March 17.—If intervention in Mexico means anything, it means war, declares Senator La Follette in his magazine. He asks if it is possible that the army and navy and the lives of Americans are being used to help Wall street gather in the shekels.

The Wisconsin senator inquires whether the financial interests in Mexico of Henry W. Taft, the Morgan group, Attorney General Wickersham and others has any connection with the warlike demonstration along the border.

"Why is the president massing troops on the Mexican border?" asked La Follette.

"Congress should require the president to give a strict accounting of this extraordinary use of the army and navy. The whole affair seems incredible. It is unprecedented. If this means anything it means war. To all intents and purposes it is the beginning of hostilities against the Mexican republic."

Mrs. G. Fred Rush

When people are in love, six weeks between their wedding day and the date when the former mate of one was granted a divorce, is long enough to wait, in the opinion of Mr. and Mrs. G. Fred Rush, who will have their home at 5719 Washington avenue upon their return from the wedding tour. Mr. Rush and Miss Harriet Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Miller, 5214 Kimbark avenue, were married Thursday, six weeks after Mrs. Katherine Rush was granted a divorce at Lewiston, Idaho. They left immediately after on a wedding trip through the east.

LAWMAKER CALLS COLLEAGUE 'LIAR'

Angry Giant in Canadian House of Commons Uses Epithet in Debate.

ATTACK CAUSES UPROAR.

Glen Campbell Is Forced by the Chairman to Withdraw Expressions Used.

Ottawa, Ont., March 17.—"My honorable friend is a liar, absolutely a liar!" thundered Glen Campbell, the Conservative member for Dauphin, Man., in the house of commons today. One of the most tense situations and exciting scenes ever witnessed in parliament followed.

The house was in committee and Mr. Neely of Humboldt, Alberta, in the course of a speech declared Glen Campbell on a public platform had admitted bribing a government official to get a grazing lease.

The reply by Mr. Campbell, who is a giant in size, brought proceedings to a standstill and for five minutes nothing could be heard except the Liberals shouting "Withdraw!" and the Conservatives yelling "Stick to your guns!"

Campbell Is Obdurate.

When Chairman McIntyre was able to make himself heard he declared the expression unparliamentary and demanded that it be withdrawn.

"I called him a liar and I refuse to take it back," shouted Campbell. "Talk of honesty! Where is the capital of Saskatchewan and what did it cost to vote it there?"

The chairman insisted on a withdrawal.

"If the word is not parliamentary I will withdraw it, but he is absolutely a liar," said Mr. Campbell.

"That is no withdrawal," said the chairman.

"I will not take a word back and he is a liar first, last, and all the time," replied Mr. Campbell, white with rage.

"As the member refuses to withdraw, it will be my duty to report the matter to the house for such action as it may see fit to take," said the chairman. "However, I will give the member one more chance to withdraw."

A report to the house would involve a possible expulsion from parliament.

Offender Is Forced to Yield.

"Mr. Chairman, it is a hard task to withdraw something which is absolutely true," said Mr. Campbell.

"The rule must be obeyed and the expression withdrawn," declared the chairman.

Then I will withdraw the expression and bow to your ruling," said Mr. Campbell.

Mr. Campbell later declared that if Mr. Neely dared repeat his charges outside the chamber he would thrash him.

WOMAN MEMBER OF STORTHING MAKES HER FIRST ADDRESS.

Miss Rogstad, School Teacher, Says Great Results Will Follow Her Presence in Norwegian House.

CHRISTIANIA, March 17.—Miss Rogstad, the first woman to represent a constituency in the storthing, made her maiden speech before that body today.

She is a school teacher and represents one of the Christiania seats made vacant by the resignation of Gen. Bratlie, president of the storthing, who was compelled to retire temporarily in order to assist in the work of reorganizing the army.

The entire assembly rose when Miss Rogstad began her speech. She said that the day would be a memorable one as it was the first time a woman had ever participated in the discussion in the nation's parliament and predicted that the movement for political enfranchisement of woman was bound to succeed and to result in many reforms.

CHURCH CRUSADE FOR ARBITRATION

gestion for an unqualified Anglo-American arbitration treaty and Sir Edward Grey's speech in support of the same.

Lord Chancellor Loreburn, who presided, declared that when a man who held an office such as the presidency of the United States said what President Taft had said, he raised the hopes of all mankind.

Socialists to Limit Arms.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Mar. 17.—The Socialists have decided upon the wording of a resolution to be submitted to the Reichstag in connection with the naval appropriation bills. The resolution reads:

"In view of the fact that the French chamber of deputies and the British house of commons have declared in favor of the limitation of armaments, the Reichstag hereby calls upon the chancellor to take steps to bring about an international understanding regarding a general reduction of armaments and the abolition of the rights of capture at sea."

A similar resolution has been framed by members of the Progressive People's party. They hope to unite all of the liberal sections in favor of the idea.

Danes Will Accept Plan.

COPENHAGEN, March 17.—The Danish foreign office today sent a letter to the peace bureau at Berne, Switzerland, saying that Denmark would accept the American government's invitation to appoint a commission on the lines authorized by congress to promote arbitration among nations and for the limitation of armaments.

PRESS COMMENT ON PLANS.

LONDON, March 18.—8 a. m.—The discussion in the newspapers of the suggestion for an Anglo-American arbitration treaty continues unabated. Sir Edward Grey's speech last night appears to have removed one of the chief objections to President Taft's proposal as urged by the Conservative press—that a treaty would involve a defensive alliance—and strong hopes are expressed in the editorials this morning that negotiations for the treaty soon will begin.

The Daily Telegraph declines to believe that the negotiations would be shipwrecked like those undertaken by Lord Pauncefote, and thinks that an Anglo-American treaty might be followed by a similar German-American settlement.

The idea of a treaty is opposed by the Imperialist organs like the Outlook and the Saturday Review, the latter displaying its customary anti-American bias.

Tonsiline Prevents Quinsy

The Germs which cause Quinsy reach the deeper seated tissues by absorption through the tonsils, causing the horribly painful inflammation which results in suppuration. Quinsy is simply a development of Sore Throat to which some people are peculiarly subject. With them, a tedious or neglected Sore Throat terminates in Quinsy. With them, a quickly cured Sore Throat means Quinsy avoided and nothing else cures Sore Throat as quickly and surely as TONSILINE.

Many such letters as below prove TONSILINE'S value in preventing Quinsy.

Gentlemen:—I have been subject to Quinsy for the last fifteen years and have simply had to suffer from ten days to two weeks with it at every attack, never having been able to find a preventive, until I commenced using TONSILINE.

Up until a year ago I had had ten attacks of Quinsy, but have been able to avoid it twice since that time by the use of a 25 cent bottle of your remedy. Hoping that others similarly troubled will profit by my experience, and thanking you for what your TONSILINE has done for me, I remain, Yours very truly, E. T. KEENAN, Chief Clerk Auditor's Office, C. A. & C. Ry., Cleveland, Ohio.

Sufferers from Quinsy should always have TONSILINE ready for instant use on first sign of Sore Throat. 25c. and 50c. Hospital Size $1.00. All Druggists.

Harriman Lines' Passenger Report for 1910 Shows Victory of Safety Devices.

ACCIDENTS CUT TO THIRD.

Union Pacific Casualties Drop to One-Fifth; Ticket Scalping Is Reduced.

The Harriman normal lines carried 10 per cent of the estimated 1910 passenger traffic of the United States, or 49,491,000 people, without fatal accident to any of the number. This result is ascribed to the installation of safety devices and is believed to have no parallel in the railroad world.

The report, containing this data, just has been compiled in the offices of Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and operation on the system, including the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads, a total of 17,920 miles.

The total number of passengers carried on a one mile basis was 5,000,000,000. The figures of the country's railroads for 1910 have not yet been compiled by the government; but in 1909 the interstate commerce commission reported the number of passengers carried as 29,000,000,000. The figures for 1910 will not exceed a billion more, it is said.

No Like Record Known.

Many other railroads have gone through a year without a fatality to any of its passengers, but it is said that no system has made this record for such a large total of passengers.

The results on the Harriman lines are ascribed to a campaign waged by the management for years to reduce accidents. The Harriman system now has more miles of automatic block signal protection than any other system in the world. Mr. Kruttschnitt himself has directed special attention to the accident problem and began several years ago to bring about a reduction by giving complete publicity to all forms of accidents and their investigation, which, it is believed, spurred both officers and employes to greater efforts to safeguard lives intrusted to their care.

Chicago Tribune, February 12th.

Union-Southern Pacific

Not a Single Fatal Accident.

The Harriman lines carried 10 per cent of the country's estimated passenger traffic for 1910. Not a single fatal accident occurred to a passenger anywhere on the system.

This achievement is described as unparalleled in railroading, and it is attributed to the installation of safety devices—chiefly, if not wholly.

If a small line gets through a year without a fatal accident the result may itself be considered accidental. A vast system carrying millions of passengers owes safety to improvements, care and efficiency.

CHICAGO FIRE LOSSES.

The direct property loss by fire in Chicago last year was about $7,500,000. So says the manager of the Underwriters' association, and he ought to know. Of the indirect fire loss through suspension of business, deprivation of employment, etc., he said nothing. We know it was great.

If the city were to borrow $100,000,000 at 5 per cent and were to use the money in such a way as to eliminate all fire losses the community would be a gainer financially. Last year's fire loss was equivalent to 5 per cent on $150,000,000. A considerable proportion of the property destroyed last year could have been saved by the investment of a comparatively small sum in high pressure water systems at the stockyards and in the business district.

The tax which the community pays now because of the failure to provide adequate means for fighting fire is small in comparison with what it will be in the future if those means shall not be provided. It would be the height of folly to defer action when the need is so great. High pressure water systems for the stockyards and the business district would prove, no matter what the cost might be, the most profitable investments Chicago could make.

MOBILIZING THE ARMY.

A German critic has said that the moving of the American soldiers to Texas was poorly managed—that it fell quite below the German standard. The railroads, he said, did not do their work so efficiently as the German lines. Doubtless if there had been a real enemy on the frontier, the troops would have been moved more expeditiously. The government would have taken possession of the railroads if necessary.

They do manage some things better in Germany than in the United States. The American general staff ought not to be reproached for falling short of the German standard in some particulars, such as the matter of transportation, for instance. But there is a report in circulation which, if true, goes to show that the small American army was not so ready for mobilization, and not so well equipped to meet an enemy, as we have been led to believe.

The story runs that when mobilization was ordered, it was discovered that the army did not have the powder supply it needed and that what was required had to be borrowed from the navy. It is said also that after part of the field artillery had started on the way it was found that there was no ammunition for it, and guns of smaller caliber had to be substituted. It is said also that somebody had failed to look after the supply of revolvers and that there was a shortage.

If this be a true story—THE TRIBUNE devoutly hopes it is not—we have been crowing too loudly over an alleged triumph of mobilization. It would have to be admitted that the army was not quite ready, and its chiefs not quite up to their work.

FOR HONESTER ELECTIONS.

There have been introduced in the general assembly bills amendatory of the city elections and primary laws. They were drafted by Lewis Rinaker, whose long service as county judge made him familiar with the defects which these bills would cure.

The one amending the city elections law empowers the election commissioners, when unable to find capable judges and clerks in any one precinct, to select from other precincts as many qualified persons as may be needed. There are such precincts, and under the present law the commissioners are obliged to appoint judges and clerks who blunder in their work and whose ignorance encourages and covers up fraudulent voting. The last general assembly refused to adopt this remedial measure. Better things are expected of this one. The bill also authorizes the commissioners to appoint inspectors to aid them in the discharge of their duties. They are needed on both registration and election days.

The primary elections bill does away with voting on affidavit. That practice always has fostered fraud and always will. Provision is made for a revision of the registry books shortly before a primary election. All who have a right to vote will be given an opportunity to do so.

The selection of challengers is taken from the ward committeemen and given to the candidates. That is proper, for a contest at the primaries is not between parties but between candidates, and each candidate should, if he pleases, have his representative at every poll.

The law as it stands makes it an offense for a voter to sell or offer to sell his vote. It is proposed to broaden the law and make it take in all who buy or offer to buy votes. Morally the buyer is no less culpable than the seller, and often more so. Then why should the law make a distinction?

These are excellent measures which would make elections honester and should not fail of passage.

"EVIL SILENCE."

In a strong and significant leading article the Continent asks and answers the question:

Is it honorable to "tell on" a neighbor or associate for violating law and honesty?

This is a serious problem of personal patriotism now frequently presented to the citizen, declares the Continent, and it points out that "an overwhelming percentage of the corrupt bargains driven in American politics are no doubt made and performed without incurring for the participants the least shadow of public shame, to say nothing of legal punishment."

"Such business must be stopped," says the Continent, "or the republic is a failure," and it answers its own question with the declaration that "no alleged fashion for gentlemen can have any conceivable claim on a patriot when it has become to his nation a direct instrument of debasement."

It is not dishonorable—it is on the contrary eminently honorable—nay, more, it is the lasting duty of a worthy American—to reveal explicitly and relentlessly to public notice any fact within one's knowledge tending to identify the scoundrels of politics—and this without regard to the intimacy of any relation through which the knowledge may be derived.

Treason to a good fellow to tell on him? It is treason to your country not to tell. Which sort of traitor would you rather be?

These are timely words. The Continent truly says that "in the senatorial case in the Illinois legislature there were incorruptible members who were very certain that bribery was being plotted, but they would go no further than vague hints towards uncovering it." In Ohio and in Vermilion county hundreds knew of the wholesale bribery, but did nothing to bring the guilty to justice. And everywhere justice encounters the stubborn, short sighted, and morally perverted obstruction created by the average American's theory that it is dishonorable to tell, but not to withhold his knowledge of wrongdoing. This is the foolish honor of the school boy who does not know that there are public duties. Americans must grow out of their immaturity in political and social thought or they will not prove fit for self-government. Self-government is a man's job, not a child's.

Telling is not pleasant. It takes in some cases a courage not short of heroism. It means breaking pleasant and profitable associations, and even hurting friends. "But soldiers have gone to battle—millions of them—just because there was danger to their country which had to be shot to death. Now there is a worse danger to the country which has to be testified to death. So today's patriot must enlist with all the testimony he has, just as yesterday's patriot enlisted with all the marks of craven. Or else today's citizen is no patriot at all but a craven.

But the Continent does not shirk the difficulty expressed in the excuse that "all I know is something that could not be proved to a jury."

Some day perhaps it may be possible so to amend American law practice that anything may be told in court which would convince the man in the street; but until then some forms of crime must be tried in the street before the court of public opinion. And there somebody must be brave enough to say things unprovable.

No public evil, indeed, is ever overthrown except by the decision of an aroused people. And the people give their verdict only when some aroused man has the courage to stand out unabashedly and make himself personally responsible for a direct and ringing accusation—to say on his own account as a man the uncorroborated truth.

Not slander—never; the honest citizen will avoid scandal as he would a nest of serpents. Neither will he use innuendo or repeat rumor. But when he has studied a public evil in the light or caught sight of its deep depravity in the dark, so that in his own soul he knows, and knows he knows, then he is no good citizen if he does not forget all cost to himself and speak out boldly:

"Here is the villainy and there is the man who made it."

"Cry aloud and spare not!"—the ancient prophet's motto writes the modern patriot's duty.

There are men in Illinois who have had a very different theory of their duty. During the past months, during THE TRIBUNE'S attempt to thoroughly reveal the corruption which involved the senatorial election, these men have kept silence, though they knew much that would have aided. Some were lawyers who had acquired their knowledge under the professional bond of confidence. But others were not so bound. They held themselves bound merely by "good fellowship," by the private code which ignores the duty of the citizen, or by considerations of personal convenience, or by fear of enmity. They placed these considerations, one or all of them, above the safety and honor of their country.

They have helped to create what the Continent calls "an evil silence in the land." They have thrown the dead weight of their secrecy into the scales of justice against the public good.

It is easier and cheaper to sing "Illinois" and "America."

THE INCOME TAX.

So little has been said of late about the income tax constitutional amendment that it is worth while to call attention to the progress it has made toward ratification. Up to date it has had the approval of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, South Carolina, North Carolina, California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Iowa, North Dakota, Nebraska, Nevada, Wisconsin, Vermont, Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Alabama, Kentucky, Missouri, Georgia, Maryland, and Mississippi. Thus twenty-five states, or more than half the total number, have already given their assent.

Seven states have thus far rejected the amendment. They are Arkansas, Virginia, Utah, West Virginia, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, and New York. But New York is an uncertain quantity. The legislature may do this year what it failed to do last year.

So there remain fifteen states to be heard from, and the amendment must receive the votes of ten of them to obtain the necessary three-fourths—thirty-five. If New Mexico and Arizona were full fledged states, thirty-six would be required. Both those states when admitted will vote for the amendment if not already ratified. So, even if New York should not change front and five of the states which have not acted yet were to vote that they wanted no income tax in theirs, ratification would come finally.

Unless unexpected opposition shall develop in some of the states yet to be heard from, it is more than likely that the national government will soon be armed with that power which the last income tax decision of the Supreme court took from it. Perhaps if the question could come up before the court as now constituted it would not agree with the judges who seventeen years ago held an unapportioned income tax unconstitutional.

LEGISLATIVE "HIRED HANDS."

Considering all the precautions the last legislature took that it might live in security and cleanliness we must confess pained surprise that its doings brought it bad repute. The annual report of the state civil service commission contains, for the information of the present assembly, various enumerations of the persons employed by the state. The commission optimistically thought that a legislature which had been commanded by the voters to pass a civil service law might welcome such data.

Included in the list is the record of the last assembly as an employer of labor, and we are sure that a glance at it would cause our friend B. L. T. to exclaim "Some employer!" The house of representatives was stubbornly determined to keep its house in order. No matter what the cost, the hall of the house should be swept and dusted. To that end seventy-four janitors were used. A surprised citizen might say that this was a large enough gang to keep the Twenty-seventh ward of Chicago clean. We can do nothing to set him right.

Inasmuch as the efforts of seventy-four men confined in a reasonably small assembly room, all sweeping the very life out of the carpets, would present a phenomenon similar to a dust storm, four men were employed to open the windows, and lest any of the janitors escape twenty-two policemen were hired to watch them. It is beyond belief that they were hired to watch the legislators, and even more incredible that they were hired to protect citizens who might come in contact with the lawmakers.

We are not contending that either of these reasons for employment could not have been justified. We merely say that it is not to be believed that such was the purpose of the service. To this total of janitors, ventilators and policemen is added a force of 105 clerks and stenographers, making a total of 205. Four chaplains at various times looked after the spiritual welfare of the assemblymen who were so determined to be physically clean in their habitation and pious in their ways, and other employments raised the grand total to 249. The house of representatives is composed of 153 statesmen.

The senate managed to pull through the regular session with 115 employés, a smaller number but a higher proportion per statesman. The facts are not presented for the first time, but they are worth looking at again and again. Nothing sits so gracefully on the legislative brow as the determination to "save the taxpayers money." When this is the theme oratory becomes impassioned and rhetoric blossoms like a rose bush. We cannot question the sincerity of this noble purpose, seeing that 204 legislators managed to get along with 364 hired hands, which is not quite two per lawmaker.

What the present assembly is doing as an employer of men we do not know, but we fear that it is not holding up so well the glorious traditions of the past. We suspect that it is doing very well but probably is not worthy of comparison with its predecessor.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright, 1911, By the Brentwood Company.]

ALESBURY'S new marquis, sixth of his line, has hitherto been known by the title of Earl of Cardigan, under which name he fought through the South African war, with such gallantry as to win the Distinguished Service order. He is a first cousin of the fourth marquis, who before his death attained the unenviable distinction of being warned off Newmarket heath and off all racecourses under the control of the Jockey club, by decree of the stewards. In fact, the new marquis, like his father, is the antithesis in every respect of the fourth Lord Allesbury, who was popularly known as the "Coster Marquis," and whose altogether phenomenal blackguardism contributed in no small degree to the initiation of the crusade against the house of lords, it being regarded as intolerable that a man of such abominable character should possess, as a peer of the realm, the hereditary right to sit and vote in the house of lords, and thus to obstruct, influence, or promote legislation.

The present marquis may be regarded as the principal representative and chief of the historic house of Bruce, which furnished two kings to Scotland, and the sword which King Robert the Bruce carried at the battle of Bannockburn in 1814 hangs on the walls of his home, Tottenham house, in Savernake, crossed with that of the Black Douglas.

Savernake forest is a superb domain, considerable greater in extent than Windsor forest, full of magnificent old trees, one of which, an immense oak, called "the Duke's Vaunt," thirty feet in circumference, owes its name to its having been the favorite tree of the Protector Duke of Somerset, who flourished in the reign of King Edward VI., was regent during his minority, and was one of the chief promoters of the reformation in England.

The forest, some sixteen miles in circumference, is held from the crown by one of those strange tenures that date back to the middle ages. By the terms of the charter granted by King Edward VI. the owner of Savernake forest is compelled to sound a hunting horn, which dates from that time, whenever the sovereign passes through the forest. This horn, formed of an elephant's tusk, with enameled silver mountings, is three feet long. George III. was entertained at Savernake for some days by the Marquis of Allesbury of his reign. The monarch, on leaving, assured his host that he was exceedingly pleased with his visit.

"You have forgotten, however," he added, "to blow your tenure horn. When a king of England comes here and that horn is not blown your property becomes forfeited to the crown."

"Well, sir," replied the marquis, "try as I would, I could not get any sound out of it." The king smilingly pardoned the omission.

Another custom which has been preserved for ages by the owners of Savernake forest is invariably to provide every royal guest with an ivory drinking cup, beautifully mounted, for use during their visit, and which they are afterwards requested to take away as a memento. This practice originated during a visit to Savernake forest by Queen Elizabeth, who invariably drank from an ivory goblet, which she took with her wherever she went. To save her this trouble her host undertook to provide her and all the members of the reigning house with ivory goblets whenever they came to Savernake forest.

It would take too long to trace the descent of the Marquis of Allesbury on the distaff side from those Bruces who were rewarded for their services to William the Conqueror by the grant of Jerveaulx abbey and other lands in Yorkshire. Their representative obtained from David I., king of Scotland, the lordship of Annandale and other grants of land in the south of Scotland, where the Bruces remained for nearly a century, while it was the eighth of his line, better known as Robert the Bruce than by any of his titles, who asserted his claim to the Scottish throne and was crowned at Scone in 1306. King Robert's only son succeeded him as David II., but, as he had no issue, the royal male line of Bruce ended, though continued in the female line. For many generations there were two Bruce peerages, that of Kincardine and of Kinloss.

The Kinloss peerage subsequently was transformed into the earldom of Elgin, and two generations later the titles of Elgin and Kincardine were merged into one. The fourth Earl of Elgin was likewise Earl of Allesbury, and when he died without issue his earldom of Allesbury passed to his nephew, Thomas Brudenel Bruce, fourth son of the Earl of Cardigan. The earldom of Allesbury subsequently was transformed into a marquisate, and on the death of the last Earl of Cardigan, the celebrated cavalry leader of Balaclava and "Charge of the Light Brigade" celebrity, the earldom of Cardigan became merged in the marquisate of Allesbury.

The widow of this well known soldier, who attracted much attention a couple of years ago by the publication of some remarkable reminiscences, still survives, and enjoys a life ownership of the earl's estates, amounting to 16,000 acres, and yielding a rent roll of nearly $200,000 a year. After her death they are to remain in the hands of trustees for twenty-one years, and only at the end of that time are the estates and the accumulations to pass to the then Marquis of Allesbury—that is to say, presumably to the now 6 year old son of the present Marquis of Allesbury, a boy who now is known as the Earl of Cardigan.

The late marquis, who has just been gathered to his fathers, was a clever business man and a great brewer, being chairman of the great brewing house of Meux & Co. He also had many business interests in this country, which frequently brought him to New York. He needed all his business acumen to extricate, on his succession to the marquisate, the Savernake forest property from the chaos into which it had been plunged by his nephew and predecessor, who would have sold Savernake had it not been entailed.

One of the present marquis' sisters is Lady Ernestine Hunt, whose career has been of an unusual description, who is now in the horse breeding and horse selling business, raising the horses on her 50,000 acre ranch at Calgary, in Alberta, and selling them in Dublin or in London at remunerative prices. Her marriage was a romantic one, and was vigorously opposed by her father and family. Passionately fond of the sea, and a noted yachtswoman, she studied at a nautical school at Liverpool, with the object of securing a master's certificate, so as to be duly qualified to take command of her yacht. At the school she met a young man of the name of Harry Brady Hunt, who was studying for a master's certificate. Their acquaintance ripened into affection, and one day they were married. Soon afterwards Hunt was appointed skipper of a sailing vessel, and Lady Ernestine, who is small, with beautiful eyes, a fair complexion, and is pleasant looking, accompanied him on his first voyage, as well as on many subsequent ones, being quite as competent as himself to take command of the ship. Lady Ernestine also graduated as a professional sick nurse from the great Liverpool infirmary, and served as such throughout the war in South Africa. She gave up seafaring life about four years ago, and since then has divided her time between her ranch in Canada and a place that she has in Ireland, at Ballylean, County Clare, where her horses, imported from Canada, are put into condition after their ocean journey. I may add that she has taken a leading part in the feminine work of the military territorial movement, and holds a commission equivalent to that of lieutenant in the ambulance corps.

"THE FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE."

A FINE FOR BONFIRES.

Chicago, March 16.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly inform me through your valued column as to the city ordinance governing the burning of paper in public streets or alleys? M. S.

There is a fine of $25 for any one who burns hay, straw, shavings, or other combustible materials in any street, alley, or public place.

CONDITIONS TO BE BETTERED.

Chicago, March 16.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly inquire of the proper parties why we who live in the vicinity of Cottage Grove avenue and Eighty-fifth street and are compelled to pay two fares into the loop should have to step off from the car into the black mud over our ankles as we did recently? We are in the Thirty-third ward and have aldermen elected to give Burnside and Dauphin Park improvements to which we are justified. Or is it up to the street car people?

R. T.

The Calumet and South Chicago Railway company has been notified to at once proceed and put in the proper walks at crossing complained of. In the meantime, the ward superintendent has been instructed to give temporary relief, so that cars may be boarded without discomfort to patrons.

R. M. COCHRANE,
Superintendent of Streets.

NO EXTENSION OF ARMITAGE AVENUE LINE.

Chicago, March 15.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I wonder if THE TRIBUNE in any way could assist us in having Armitage avenue street car line extended to Fifty-first avenue, where Grand avenue car crosses. People who live in the vicinity of Armitage, between Forty-sixth and Fiftieth avenues, have too long a walk, indeed. So far as the extension of the car line is concerned it is only a matter of one mile.

ANDERSEN.

The Chicago Railways company, under its ordinance, has twenty-four miles of road to construct. Its officials say that until this work has been completed no more will be projected.

HALL LIGHTS IN APARTMENT BUILDINGS.

Chicago, March 14.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I am living in a two story flat building with the owner, paying $45 a month rent. Will you kindly inform me if I cannot force them to keep a dim light going all night in the hallway.

E. R. S.

The law concerning hall lights only applies to tenement or apartment houses more than two stories high.

A MATTER OF TRANSFERS.

Chicago, March 15.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Under date of March 2 you reply to my question as to whether the Chicago Railways company should carry a passenger "from any one point on its lines to any other point on its lines for a single fare."

I have also received the reply of the company forwarded by you. But I do not think I am unfair in saying that neither of you have answered my question. In the meantime I have been investigating. In conversation with an official of the company, I stated the case. After looking at the map he said: "The route has a peculiar shape, but you are certainly entitled to that trip for one fare. Our instructions to conductors are perfectly clear on that point." And he handed me a little pamphlet headed, "General Transfer Regulations for Conductors," which begins with the following words: "A new transfer system is hereby placed in operation, the intention of which is to give those passengers of this company who desire it a ride from any one point to any other point on our lines for a 5 cent fare, and any number of transfers they may require to make the trip."

Had I made this discovery sooner I should not have needed to trouble The Friend of the People, but I thank you just the same.

A DOCTOR.

NOT AGAINST THE LAW.

Chicago, March 17.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Would you kindly advise an old reader of THE TRIBUNE through these columns whether there is any law in existence regulating the housing of chickens, geese, ducks, and turkeys in a well settled residence district within the city limits, and what steps, if any, could be taken to stop this practice? My neighbor has a small market, and at times keeps as many as 200 to 300 chickens in a little open pen about 12x20 feet. A great many of these are roosters and make a great deal of noise commencing to crow about 2 o'clock in the morning and keeping it up all day, so that it is next to impossible for a day worker to sleep nights, or for a night worker to sleep during the day. I would also like to know whether said party could be compelled to inclose this chicken pen, which would tend to keep the odor out somewhat and also help to eliminate the noise.

A SUFFERER.

Your only remedy is to complain against your neighbor for maintaining a nuisance.

TIRED PASSENGERS DETAINED.

Chicago, March 17.—[To the Friend of the People.]—It is a matter of public interest to know why the extra ticket seller for the South Side Elevated railroad company stops selling after 6:15 p. m. at Madison street and Fifth avenue, during the rush hour, with a line of people extending down the stairway in waiting. It is a most aggravating condition for tired people anxious to reach home to be needlessly detained, simply because the company is not treating its patrons with common fairness.

BENJAMIN T. MANSON.

As previous communications of THE TRIBUNE have been ignored by the officials of the South Side Rapid Transit company, this inquiry is printed without forwarding it to them.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES.

Chicago, March 17.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly tell me what items should be scheduled for personal property assessment? Where a person has no pianos, organs, and holdings of that description, and where all personal property if sold would not bring to exceed $100. Also, what is the limit in time for payment of personal taxes?

JAMES WILSON.

If you will send your house address the Friend of the People will mail you a list of taxable personal property. The revenue law does not fix a minimum amount, but the board of assessors can assess on $100 or under this amount. Usually the personal property warrants are in the hands of the county collector the first of the year, when personal property taxes are payable.

MATTER BETWEEN BUYER AND SELLER.

Chicago, March 17.—[To the Friend of the People.]—In last year's assessment I gave in as personal property $3,000 which I had on hand, at which time I had thought of buying a home. In September I bought a home in Edgewater with the said $3,000. Now I receive a personal tax notice for $52 and a property tax notice for $2. Is not this double taxation, and should I have to pay both these amounts? If so, when must they be paid? Upon receipt of the first notice of personal tax I went to the tax office and inquired if anything could be done about this, and they told me I could do nothing, as the board of review was not in session.

A TAXPAYER.

There is no provision in the revenue law covering the question involved—i. e., where a person schedules $3,000 on personal property April 1st and later in the year uses the same money to purchase real estate. Taxes are a lien against the real estate it not paid by a certain date, and it is of no where the party purchased the property in December, it is a matter between the buyer and seller regarding the taxes for 1910.

ALL RECORDS ARE BROKEN IN WORK ON PANAMA CANAL.

Excavation in Central Division, Including Culebra Cut, During February Amounts to 1,409,338 Cubic Yards.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—The excavation in the central division of the Panama canal, including the great Culebra cut and the Chagres section during February was the greatest on record, being 1,409,338 cubic yards. Altogether 71,033,522 yards have been excavated in that division, leaving 26,091,495 yards to be removed.

In the Atlantic division the total excavation was 574,199 yards and in the Pacific division 509,217 yards.

Taking the canal as a whole up to March 1, there had been taken out 131,829,486 yards, leaving to be excavated 50,708,330 yards.

The canal at the Pacific entrance is completed from deep water to a point opposite the Panama railroad wharf at Balboa, a distance of about five miles. Inland from this point the open water channel extends three miles, varying from 30 to 45 feet in depth, and certain sections have been excavated to its final width of 500 feet.

In the Atlantic entrance to the canal the channel is completed to its full width of 500 feet. There remains to be taken out of this section 30,600,000 yards of earth, and 3,800,000 yards of rock, so the earth excavation is 66 per cent and the rock 59 per cent completed.

Excavation in the big Gatun lock is practically completed and about 56 per cent of the concrete is in place. The Gatun dam, the greatest in the world, is about 60 per cent completed. The concrete work on the locks at Pedro Miguel is over 67 per cent completed and about 11 per cent of the concrete is in place at the Miraflores locks.

$43,000 FOR SCHOOL GYMNASIA

Committee Also Votes to Raise Pay of Janitors, Not Benefited Last Year.

John A. Gardner asked the school committee on buildings and grounds yesterday that the site of a new school planned for Fifty-second and Berteau avenues be changed and the school built one block further west, at Fifty-third and Berteau avenues. He urged that property there could be obtained more advantageously. The committee voted to make an investigation.

An appropriation of $43,000 for the installation of gymnasiums in a number of schools was concurred in by the committee, as was an expenditure of $3,000 for equipping a physics laboratory in the Farragut High school.

The committee granted a 10 per cent raise in the wages of janitors at seven schools not included in last year's pay increases.

IRISH CELEBRATE ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Fellowship Club Has Largely Attended Banquet at the La Salle Hotel.

OTHERS JOIN IN THE FETE

Candidates Merriam and Harrison Both Break Bread with Senator Lorimer.

A plea for the development of the individual citizen as the only infallible basis for the perpetuation of the nation was urged in an eloquent address delivered by Charles A. Towne of New York before the members of the Irish Fellowship club at its tenth annual banquet in the La Salle hotel last night.

Members of the club and friends celebrating St. Patrick's day numbered one thousand. At the speakers' table, among others were Phillip J. McKenna, president of the club; Charles E. Merriam, Carter H. Harrison, William Lorimer, Elbridge Hanecy, the Rev. Dr. John Cavanaugh and Judge Adelor Petit.

"I believe the Almighty reserved this continent for the great experiment in self-government," said Mr. Towne. "The stage was set just right when the curtain was drawn aside from America's virgin lovliness. The feudal system in the old world was tottering. This has been a foreordained democracy. The men who came here were compelled to study self-government. The early period of the country's history produced great constructive statesmen. In all the history of the world you cannot find another short period producing such men as Washington, Madison, and Jefferson, and their fellow patriots.

Today's Chances Also Great.

"They had much to do then, but the glory and the opportunity of citizenship are just as great for us today.

"The future is full of problems. These can be met only by the practice of the doctrines of righteousness by the individual citizens. Proud of this republic as we may be, it is only a thing of time and may pass away. We have not yet many of the influences which caused other nations to perish. We must build an empire in the hearts and souls of men that shall outlast all time."

Carter H. Harrison and Charles E. Merriam were introduced to each other during the reception that preceded the banquet, and they in turn introduced Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Merriam to each other.

Bachelors Dodge Auction.

At one of the largest of the St. Patrick's day celebrations last night, 1,500 persons crowded into the parish hall of St. Bernard's church, Sixty-sixth street and Stewart avenue. There was a long program, including a "spinsters' convention." An advertised bachelors' "auction" failed to materialize, and some of the older members of the parish who were attempting to decrease the number of old maids, were foiled. The "auction" was called off at the last moment, when it was found that none of the girls would "buy," and that none of the bachelors would offer themselves to the mercy of the auctioneer.

The Irish Literary society gave an "'Irish night" entertainment at Orchestra hall. The festival included dancing, songs and an illustrated lecture by the Rev. K. J. Fielding.

St. Ignatius Parish Celebrates.

Members of St. Ignatius parish, North Edgewater, held the customary celebration in honor of St. Patrick with a concert in Loyola hall, Hayes and Winthrop avenues, and a lecture by the Rev. Edward P. Sullivan of Detroit college.

The annual St. Patrick festivities of St. Mel's Roman Catholic parish were given in the parish hall of the church under the auspices of the Married Ladies' sodality. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Bernard McDevitt Jr.

The Irish Music club of Chicago celebrated with a festival and ball in Oakland Music hall, Fortieth street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Father D. J. Crimmins gave the principal address at the celebration at St. David's Roman Catholic church. There was a long program of songs and dances and moving pictures.

An old fashioned hard times party was given at the Working Boys' home, 1140 Jackson boulevard. The Rev. Father Quille had charge of the arrangements.

England must do more than listen to Andrew Carnegie's preachments on love and peace before an acceptable alliance with Ireland can be formed, Attorney M. J. Moriarty told the Irish societies of South Chicago last night in their joint reception held in Lincoln hall, Ninety-first street and Commercial avenue.

TWO MILLION NATIVE IRISH NOW LIVE IN UNITED STATES.

Number of Erin-Born Persons in This Country Nearly Half of Population of Home Land.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—Two million is the approximate Irish-born population of the United States.

There were exactly 1,619,449 Irish-born in the United States in 1900. New York had the most, there being 425,553 in the Empire state; Massachusetts came second, with 249,918; Pennsylvania third, with 205,909; Illinois fourth, with 114,565, and New Jersey fifth, with 94,844.

Immigration from Ireland for the last ten years has averaged 37,000. From June 30, 1900, to January of this year 427,741 Irish immigrants entered the United States.

The population of Ireland in 1909 was 4,374,158. The population has steadily decreased for the last sixty years. In 1861 it was 5,798,967.

ROTUNDITY TAX IS LEVIED; BIGGEST CONTRIBUTION $5

Penny an Inch for Waist Measurement Called for at St. Patrick's Day Party for Benefit of Church.

A new form of taxation, known as the "belt line" revenue, has made its appearance in Chicago.

It is distinctly a tax on personal property, as the rates are based on the measure of the taxpayer around the waist. It was put into effect by its originators last night at a St. Patrick's day party given at the home of Mrs. P. O. Perkins, 7620 Emerald avenue, for the benefit of the Auburn Park Baptist church. A round rate of 1 cent an inch was charged.

Guests were given the privilege of measuring themselves at their residences. The largest individual amount was paid by P. W. Fulford, 7656 Emerald avenue. He handed over $5, explaining that he had accidentally gotten the tape measure around a divan on which he was lying when the measuring was done.

COUNTY TO LOSE RECORDER DAVIS

Gets New Position as President of Real Estate Title and Trust Company.

MAY QUIT NEXT MONTH.

Retiring Official Has Won Recognition for Efficiency of His Work.

Abel Davis, recorder of Cook county, is to resign his official position in order to become the president of the reorganized Real Estate Title and Trust company, whose proposed mortgage insurance project is at present arousing agitation in real estate circles.

Mr. Davis admitted yesterday that he had been offered the presidency of the company and of the proposed mortgage guarantee company to be affiliated with it, and that he practically had decided to accept the offer. As the work of reorganization will probably not be completed much before April 1, Mr. Davis probably will not leave the recorder's office much before that date. That, at least, was the intimation that he gave out.

His successor until a recorder is chosen by ballot will be Capt. John V. Clinnin, deputy recorder, which position he has filled during the last three or four years of Mr. Davis' term of office. Mr. Davis is now serving the third year of his second term, or nearly seven years altogether.

Has Been Efficient Recorder.

Besides being recorder he is register of the Torrens system, in which he is greatly interested and to the development of which he has given much attention.

Mr. Davis is a lawyer and a members of the firm of Gardner, Stern, Anderson & Davis. He was admitted to the bar in 1901, and for a time was associated with Sigmund Zeisler.

He also has a military record, having served through the Spanish war with the First infantry, Illinois national guard, of which he is now a major.

His selection as president of the Real Estate Title and Trust company will come as a surprise, as it has been understood that Moses E. Greenebaum was to become the president of the company upon the completion of its reorganization. Judge Cutting was at one time talked of for the place, but the plans in this direction subsequently were changed.

Makes Formal Statement.

Mr. Davis gave out the following statement regarding the matter:

"I have been offered the presidency of the reorganinzed Real Estate Title and Trust company and of a mortgage guaranty company which will be affiliated with it.

"The acceptance of this offer means my retirement from public office. While this step is to my financial interest I will leave the public service with the deepest regret."

WILL TEACH CITY MOTHERS

Child Welfare Exhibition Is to Open in Chicago May 11.

BROUGHT FROM NEW YORK.

New Features Locally Illustrative Are to Be Added.

The danger of putting a child to sleep in a poorly ventilated room is but one of many hints for mothers to be illustrated at the child's welfare exhibition, to be held at the Coliseum from May 11 to May 26. Two dolls will be seen seemingly asleep in two glass formed rooms. An apparatus has been constructed to make these mannikins apparently breathe smoke, and the smoke will be exhaled from the nostrils of the dolls. In the ventilated room the smoke will quickly be carried out. In the other room the atmosphere soon becomes so befogged that even the doll cannot be seen by the spectators.

The child welfare exhibit, treating of child life in the city, which held the interest and attention of New York City for a month and had an aggregate attendance of 250,000, will be supplemented here by Chicago features, and will excel the original exhibit. This has been made possible by the public spirit of Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick Jr., whose interest in child welfare led her to take immediate steps to bring it here.

This exhibition cost upward of $80,000 in New York. It has been loaned to Chicago without any charge except that of the cost of transportation.

A group of citizens in Chicago has formed a child welfare exhibit committee. The organization thus far effected is as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick Jr.; executive committee, chairman, Miss Jane Addams; first vice chairman, Sherman C. Kingsley.

DOG DIES WITH AGED MISTRESS.

Octogenarian Widow Is Believed to Have Left Gas Turned On by Accident.

Mrs. Marie Tomlinson, 81, a widow, was found asphyxiated by gas in her residence, 4124 Berkeley avenue, yesterday. Her pet dog was also dead from the fumes. She owned the two story building and lived alone.

The police believe that Mrs. Tomlinson accidently left the gas jet open before she retired.

ANGRY SUFFRAGETS GET BUSY TO MAKE SOLONS SEE LIGHT.

Will Run No Further Risks of Turndowns at Springfield—Plan to Appeal Directly to Voters.

Thoroughly disgusted with the outcome of their journey to Springfield to influence legislation in favor of the woman suffrage bill, the last remnant of the special train party, which returned to Chicago Thursday night, met yesterday and planned a new method of attack.

No longer will the woman vote seeker attempt to influence the legislators with the silvery tongued oratory of the fair sex, nor will she attempt by means of the pretty face of the artful co-ed to win over the Springfield solon.

The new suffrage motto, as propagated yesterday by Miss Helen Todd, is "Knife my bill, and you will suffer for it. Vote for my bill, and you will be returned to the legislature." The hitherto quiet lives and homes of the Illinois farmers soon will be invaded by a small army of suffrage seekers, who intend to go directly to the voters.

"For forty years it has been our policy to go down to Springfield and beg and plead with those men," said Miss Todd. "We have spent money in literature, we have chartered special trains and sent our finest women to Springfield. We have tried to convince the legislature by an appeal to their sense of justice and right. But never again. Hereafter we shall appeal direct to the voters who elect these men."

Eve's Second Husband

HOPE excited by "A Circuit Rider's Wife" is not dashed by CORRA HARRIS' NEW NOVEL. In its sanity, candor, and shrewd humor "Eve's Second Husband" is fiction of a very rare sort. In the beginning the author announces: "What I am about to tell differs from the feminine aenemia and the back-breaking matrimony that is so often dramatized in the fever-blistered, neurasthenic novels of the day." That is literally true.

There are many quotable sayings. We reprint a few:

¶ "One of the sweetest texts in the Bible is this: 'For all men are liars.' If they were not, the hearts of all women would break."
¶ "Almost any young wife would rather be praised by her husband than be right. Her little tinkling beatitudes all go to the fulfilling of his 'ideal.'"
¶ "I have never seen a woman who did not admire a reformed man more than she respected just a good man."
¶ "Besides, when you think of it, married women are curious things morally. Love warps them. They think what is right, and do as nearly as they can what their husbands want them to do, whether it is right or not."
¶ "One of the things I have learned is that it is best for a woman to stay down in the dust of the road with her husband, no matter how pluperfect she is, and to hike along with him, no matter how imperfect he is."
¶ "It is especially important that the wife of a public man should efface herself—not to the public, but to him."
¶ "You cannot run for sheriff, or for the legislature, or even for the governorship on the principles with which you make the race for a harp and crown in another world, no matter how much you may quote Scripture in your political speeches."
¶ "Love, I believe, takes no account of the dead, nor of mourning veils. Shakespeare was profoundly correct from the psychological point when he permitted Richard III to court Anne in the very presence of her dead, and when, after spitting on him, Anne yields to his advances."
¶ "My experience is that a wife must entertain, at least now and then, some anxiety for her husband, either his life, his fortunes, or his morals, in order to develop the whole sweetened character of love."
¶ "If women had the propriety of choice, few of them would take for husbands the men they actually do marry."

GREAT BOOM DUE BY FALL OF 1913

Financial Kings Predict Only Normal Business in the Next Two Years.

UNEQUALED ERA COMING.

Prosperity Such as This Country Has Never Seen Before Prophesied.

BY HOLLAND.

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—Upon the forecast made by government experts that the apparent international trade balance in favor of the United States by the end of the present fiscal year, June 30, will be not far from five hundred million dollars, a figure rarely equaled, are based sentnimental reasons for predicting that next summer the long expected business boom will be under way. That, however, is likely to prove an inaccurate prediction. Wall street is so given to sentimental considerations that it sometimes without good reason reflects that feeling in quotations for securities. But the business men of the United States who are in close touch with actual conditions do not find anything in the present conditions which justifies the statement that the boom will be with us by summer.

Comfortable Year in Business.

Some of these business men have been in New York this week. Two or three have been sojourning in Florida for a month, thereby having opportunity to exchange views with men of large affairs wintering there. In one opinion these men are in agreement. They say 1911 is to be a comfortable year in business. The normal demands of the people make a large volume of business inevitable. They agree that the country has never been in a sounder business or financial condition than now.

There are two factors, however, which in their view will stand in the way of that great business boom of which we have heard so many predictions. One is based in part upon political or legislative agitation, and especially upon the situation in which the railways find themselves. The other is that next year will be a year of presidential politics. Therefore, it is their conviction that not this year nor next will there come a revival of great business prosperity.

Business Now Simply Normal.

This judgment is based upon detailed information from business men in all parts of the country. All report that at present business is simply upon a level with the normal demand of the American people. However, no approaches to men who possess capital are being made with intent to secure funds to be used upon a large scale for investment purposes.

One of the best of recent barometers of trade conditions is the electric business. Those who direct the great electric companies report they are receiving no propositions that represent large expansion of electric plants, that they are doing no more than is necessary to meet the ordinary, everyday requirements of the American markets.

If the outlook were favorable, heavy investments in the development of telephones, especially throughout the west, and the furnishing of factories with large electric equipment would now be under way.

So, also, the increase in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation does not do much more than reflect every-day business of the country.

Will Be Gradual Increase.

According to this argument, until March 4, 1913, the business of the country can be described as simply marking time. There is to be no recession in business, but gradual increase. Meanwhile the country will be accumulating surplus capital through the enormity of our excess exports and through enforced economies and the withholding of demands for capital for investment. We should have within the next year and a half probably a greater supply of surplus capital than the country has ever known.

All the men who have expressed their views speak with enthusiasm of prosperity when it does come. They say that in magnitude and scope, in investment of capital, in development of natural resources and wise industrial or railway promotions it is to be an era which the imagination now can scarcely grasp. That is known to be the view of J. P. Morgan and of E. H. Gary. It is the universal opinion throughout the south, and there it is based to some extent upon the stupendous stimulus which will be caused by the prospective opening of the Panama canal.

Says Railways Are Behind Times.

If the judgment of some of these men is correct the railroads are far behind the rest of the country so far as healthy conditions are concerned. A great manufacturer who has been identified for many years with a leading industry in Pittsburg says it is fortunate that the business revival is not now upon us, for if it were the railroads could not handle the business offered. They must be greatly improved and expanded if they are to be in position to meet the demands of industry and commerce which will follow the revival of business prosperity, for, if they are not they will check rather than foster the coming of that prosperity.

Summed up, if these business men are correct, we are to have normal and comfortable business conditions for two years. Then, by the fall of 1913, if there be no unfavorable development, we are to enter upon an era of prosperity the like of which the world has never seen.

WANTS STRAIGHT 3 CENT FARE.

Mayor Brand Whitlock Demands Negotiations Be Opened to Settle the Franchise Question.

Toledo, O., March 17.—[Special.]—Mayor Brand Whitlock, in a statement issued this afternoon, demands that negotiations be opened immediately to settle the street railway franchise question in this city. He also demands among other things a straight 3 cent fare, universal transfers, and if practicable when the earnings warrant it, a lower rate than 3 cent fares. Whitlock then renews his demand for municipal ownership of public utilities.

HOOSIER J. RUFUS IN THE TOILS.

Indianapolis Fugitive Arrested After Successful Wallingford Stunt in Minnesota.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 17.—[Special.]—John F. Wood, former city councilman and business man, who had been a fugitive since May 31, 1910, on charges of forgery and embezzlement, arrived here this morning. Wood was arrested last Sunday at Northfield, Minn., where he had taken the town by storm as a "J. Rufus Wallingford" stunt and had started a newspaper.

WALL STREET GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, March 17.—[Special.]—The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway company has recently sold in Paris, through J. P. Morgan & Co., its one year notes in amounts of 60,000,000 francs, due March 4, 1912, the proceeds being applied on payment of its one year notes due March 15, 1911, in amounts of 44,000,000 francs, and a balance—16,000,000 francs—for various improvements to be made during the year. This sale brings the total known amount of American securities placed abroad up to about $80,000,000 within the month. This latest transaction does not represent the creation of fresh credits on the other side to the full face value of the notes, as most of the new issue is for the purpose of refunding similar notes which matured a few days ago. Only 16,000,000 francs or approximately $3,000,000 of the new issue may be drawn against in the exchange market, but at the same time the placing of a fresh batch of notes obviates the necessity of remitting for the amount of the maturing issue.

Announcement is made that the Public Service corporation of New Jersey has sold $13,850,000 of its authorized issue of $50,000,000 5 per cent general mortgage bonds to J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York and Drexel & Co. of Philadelphia. Part of the proceeds from the new issue will be used to pay off $4,000,000 collateral trust gold notes which fall due on Oct. 1, 1911, and the balance will be utilized for improvements and betterments to the property. It is understood the bonds will be offered at 94 and interest.

Negotiations have been concluded for the sale of $8,000,000 five year 6 per cent notes of the Pere Marquette Railroad company to local bankers. Notes are secured by the deposit of $16,000,000 fifty year 5 per cent bonds issued under the new improvement and refunding general mortgage of the Pere Marquette Railroad company. This financing is in accordance with the plan announced early in the month when J. P. Morgan & Co. purchased 110,000 shares of common stock of the Pere Marquette Railroad company from the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway company, giving that firm control of the Pere Marquette. Proceeds from the sale of the notes will be issued for improvements.

CANADIANS EVADE U. S. NET?

Four Indicted in Alleged Alaska Frauds May Escape.

LAWYERS CANNOT AGREE.

Defense Retains Levy Mayer; Frost Ready to Come Home.

Whether the United States government can prosecute the four Canadians who were indicted, with Albert C. Frost of Chicago, promoter of the Alaska Central railroad, and four other Illinois men, by the federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to obtain 10,000 acres of coal lands of the Alaskan public domain from the government by fraudulent entries was a question which was a topic of widespread discussion among legal lights in Chicago yesterday.

The government attorneys admit that they have not decided whether the Canadians can be brought to the United States and prosecuted. No action will be taken until Assistant United States District Attorney S. S. Shiber, who will have charge of the prosecution, confers with Assistant Attorney General B. D. Townsend, in charge of all the government's Alaska land fraud cases.

Attorney Levy Mayer will defend Frost and his associates when the case comes to trial.

TELEPHONE RATES TAKEN UP BY COUNCIL SUBCOMMITTEE.

Recommendations of Investigators Under W. J. Hagenah Placed in the Hands of Ald. Pringle, Chairman.

The first of a series of meetings of the subcommittee of the council committee on gas, oil, and electric light in charge of public utility investigations was held yesterday for the consideration of the revised schedule of telephone rates.

The recommendations of the investigators under the direction of W. J. Hagenah were placed in the hands of Ald. W. J. Pringle, chairman of the subcommittee, and when he was joined by his associates, Ald. Charles E. Merriam and T. K. Long, two hours were spent in listening to the expert explain the steps leading up to his conclusions. These included a distribution of all charges against the various classes of service so that the expense of each class could be determined, and a brief study of the theory of which should, because of the greater benefits from the service, stand more than their share.

DEWEY DENIES ANTI-JAPANESE STATEMENTS CREDITED TO HIM

Admiral Expresses His Friendliness and Corrects Error Made by Count von Reventlow, German Strategist.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—Admiral Dewey expresses his friendliness for Japan in a card he gave out tonight denying statements in a published interview with Count Ernest von Reventlow, the German strategist. In this interview Count von Reventlow is quoted as follows:

"I recall a remark made by Admiral Dewey just after the peace negotiations had begun at Portsmouth, to the effect that America ought to have attacked Japan at an earlier date, because she was becoming more powerful than was compatible with the interests of the United States."

Admiral Dewey says he never made such a statement and adds:

"Furthermore, my views are and always have been just the opposite. It has been my aim ever since I assumed command of our Asiatic fleet in 1898 to cultivate a friendly feeling between this country and Japan."

GROCERIES.

Evaporated Fruits.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Evaporated apples are quiet, but prices are firm in the light supplies; on the spot fancy are quoted at 15½c; choice, 12½c; prime, 12¼c. Prunes continue strong, with an upward tendency; quotations range from 8@12½c for Californias up to 30s; 40s and 11@12c for Oregons from 80s to 30s. Apricots are quiet but firm; choice, 15c; extra choice, 15½c; fancy, 13¾@14c. Peaches are inactive but firm; pressure prices hold steady. Choice, 7¼@7½c; extra choice, 7¾@8c; fancy, 8½@8¾c. Raisins are firm but quiet; loose Muscatels are quoted at 5½@6¼c; choice to fancy seeded, 6¾@7½c; seedless, 4¾@6c; London layers, $1.40@1.60.

Coffee.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a advance of 2@5 points in response to steady European markets. Trading was quiet, but there was some covering by local shorts and a little scattering demand which appeared to be inspired by reports of steady, firm offers from Brazil, and talk of a better spot demand from the interior, on which prices improved slightly during the day. The close was steady at a net gain of 5@15 points. Sales, 22,500 bags; March, April, and May, $10.85; June, $10.87; July, $10.85; August, $10.87; September, $10.39; October, $10.05; November, $10.10; December and January, $9.94; February, $9.93. Havre was ¼ franc higher. Hamburg was ⅛@⅜ pfennig higher. Rio, 50 reis higher at 7$475. Santos, unchanged, 4's 0$700; 7's 6$300. Receipts at the two ports, 5,000 bags, against 14,000. Jundiahy receipts, 1,400 bags, against 4,000 last year. Stock in New York warehouses deliveries yesterday, 7,234 bags, against 10,436 last year. Brazilian exchange on London, 16 1-16d. Spot coffee, steady; Rio No. 7, 12¾c; Santos No. 4, 15¾c. Mild coffee, quiet; Cordova, 13¼@18½c, nominal.

DEMOCRATS PLAN HOUSE SHAKE-UP

Move to Cut Off Many Who Are on Government Pay Roll Without Work.

WIPE OUT ALL SINECURES.

Old Guard Alleged to Have Wasted $100,000 a Year to Help Friends.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—[Special.]—The Democratic leaders in the new house of representatives are planning to embark on what they term a "general house cleaning" of the Republican administration of the last sixteen years. It will be a formidable attempt at the purification they allege is needed if they carry out the program.

As a starter the Democratic members of the new ways and means committee, which is sitting as a committee on committees, today made these two moves:

Appointed a sub-committee to report the sinecures in the house of representatives that may be dispensed with.

Decided to appoint committees on expenditures in each executive department with a view to investigating the conduct of administration in each branch.

Hope to Save $100,000.

The subcommittee on sinecures consists of Representatives A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, chairman; Kitchin of North Carolina, and Hull of Tennessee. The statement was made in committee meeting that soft snaps enjoyed in and about the house of representatives by the friends of the Cannon organization have cost the country more than $100,000 a year.

There are scores of clerks of committees that never meet, clerks assigned to mysterious and more or less mythical tasks, assistant keepers of this and that, and a regiment of supernumeraries whose duties are alleged to have taxed the imagination of the minds which invented them.

All of these sinecures have been filled by the henchmen of those Republicans lieutenants of the old guard who never swerved in their devotion to Speaker Cannon. For years it was the rule that none others need apply. Three of these pensioners were spotted by the Democrats and relieved of their duties before the close of the last congress. The trio were friends of as many Republican congressmen and had been on the pay roll as "special clerks" for nearly four years at $1,800 a year each. They had nothing to do.

Republican Rule Is Used.

The appointment of the committees on departmental expenditures will be merely the continuation of the Republican custom and the investigations undertaken will be under the authorization of an existing rule of the Republican house. The only difference is that under the Republican rule the expenditure committees never did any investigating and were used merely to award that many additional chairmanships with the attendant perquisites.

One of the inquiries scheduled to be undertaken is of the payment of fees to receivers and other officials appointed by the federal courts. Representative Sabath of Illinois introduced a resolution in the last congress alleging that gross extravagance and injustice obtained in the practice in the courts at Chicago.

Mr. Sabath also will demand an investigation of the expense money drawn from the treasury by judges of the Circuit Courts of Appeals. It was said recently that some of these judges were accustomed to collect between $3,000 and $4,000 a year each in "expenses" in addition to their salaries of $7,000.

SIXTY LEAP FROM BUILDING DURING FIRE IN MILWAUKEE.

One Dead, One Missing, Eleven in Hospital, Several Probably Fatally Injured as Result of Blaze.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 17.—[Special.]—Fire in the plant of the Minnesota Billiard Table company this afternoon spread so rapidly that sixty employés were forced to leap from the second and third story windows.

One person is missing and is believed to be buried in the ruins, an unidentified man's body was taken from the ruins, eleven persons are in the Emergency hospital, several are probably fatally injured, and a dozen others were treated by doctors at their homes. The financial loss is $100,000.

An automobile occupied by two girls was passing as the workers leaped from the windows and the girls turned their machine into an ambulance and gave the injured first aid while rushing them to the Emergency hospital. The girls refused to give their names even to the hospital authorities. Their car made five trips to the hospital.

There were eighty men and one woman, a stenographer, employed in the building. The fire started in a storeroom on the first floor. The flames drove the frightened employés back when they tried to escape by way of the stairways, but twenty reached the ground floor in this way.

FOGLE IS WITNESS FOR WAYMAN

Opening Arguments in Defamation Case Made, Erbstein Acting as His Own Attorney.

Opening arguments in the case of Attorney Charles E. Erbstein and Arthur McBride, on trial before a jury in Judge McSurely's court on a charge of conspiracy to defame State's Attorney John E. W. Wayman, were made yesterday.

Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup opened for the state, while Attorney Erbstein made the argument in behalf of himself and McBride.

John L. Fogle, attorney for the grievance committee of the Chicago Bar association, was the first witness called by the prosecution. He identified the proceedings had before the association.

CONCRETE HOUSE DEFIES FIRE.

Suspicion Is That Two Blazes at La Grange Were Work of an Incendiary.

Every inflammable thing in a big concrete residence recently erected at La Grange by Walter A. Lantz, former member of the legislature, was destroyed by fire last night. Yet the building itself stands unscarred as the day it was completed. The structure is situated at 17-19 Madison avenue and was occupied by Mr. Lantz and B. M. Bard. A second fire in the La Grange store of John Steven, 4 Burlington avenue, leads to the suspicion that a firebug started both.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

William A. Read & Co. are offering at .97 and interest to net 5% per cent $300,000 Kansas Gas and Electric company first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, due March 1, 1922, net earnings for the year ending Jan. 31, 1911, as reported by the company, were equivalent to three times the annual bond interest, including interest on the bonds recently issued.

The Union Typewriter company reports for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1910, earnings, after deducting losses, of $1,471,461. This is an increase of $217,808 over the previous year.

Known movements of money for the week indicate the New York banks gained $8,654,000 from the interior, but lost to the subtreasury $4,867,000, making a net loss of $216,000.

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Bedford and Holidaysburg railroad, a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania, the capital stock was increased from $300,000 to $600,000.

FIGHT FACES GUARANTY PLAN

Realty Men Discuss Proposed Insurance of Mortgages.

HOSTILITY IS SHOWN BILL.

Some See Corporation Authority on Principal, Etc., as Menace.

The proposed mortgage insurance question aroused a spirited discussion in the Chicago real estate board yesterday. The participants included George L. Warner, George Birkhoff Jr., Moses E. Greenebaum, and Oliver L. Watson.

Resolutions practically identical with those submitted by Mr. Warner at Wednesday's meeting of the board were referred to the legislative committee to investigate, the committee also being given full power to act.

As the spirit of the resolutions is hostile to the pending bill at Springfield, which aims to authorize corporations to guarantee the proposed payment of principal and interest of mortgages and as the committee of the board is admittedly hostile to the pending bill a hot fight will be waged against its passage both by this organization as well as the the Cook county board.

Charges of undue haste and bad faith in the introduction of the bill was also made by Mr. Birkhoff and Mr. Warner.

Regards Project as Dangerous.

Mr. Warner, after giving at considerable length his objections to the proposed bills, which went into the matter in much detail, referred to the statement given out by Mr. Greenebaum, which he characterized as plausible but far from convincing. He said:

"It seems to me that this is a dangerous thing, and in view of the fact that it has operated to the detriment of the business of mortgage loan brokers in New York and has put the business into the hands of one or two companies there it seems to me it is one that we might be strongly opposed to. I hope the resolution will pass and be referred to the committee."

Mr. Greenebaum read a statement in reply to the objections which have been directed against the proposed guaranty legislation, which he declared arose from a misunderstanding of the scope of the bill and the purpose of the mortgage guarantee company.

He said that those behind the company never had any intention of going into the mortgage brokerage business, and, moreover, that it would be impossible to do so if the pending bills should become a law.

Explains New York Conditions.

The conditions complained of in New York, he said, were due to the fact that the title insurance companies are organized under the banking laws of the state with large capital and are engaged in the mortgage loaning business.

He said it was proposed by those behind the project here to deal only through mortgage brokers, that every one would be treated alike; that the mortgage broker would be benefitted and not injured, and that it would induce large investors, such as insurance companies and others, not now in the market, to buy freely of mortgages. It was also asserted that unless those behind the project find that they can secure the cooperation of real estate men they will not form it. He also denied the charge that his company planned to sell their business to the new company.

PRODUCE TRADE MORE ACTIVE; VEGETABLE RECEIPTS AMPLE.

Butter Market Is Weaker—Lower Grades of Creameries Accumulate, but Prices Are Not Changed.

Produce prices at Chicago yesterday made no important changes. The trade was more active than on earlier days this week, but there were heavy receipts of green vegetables and fresh fruits and offerings on the market were ample for the requirements of the trade. Little credence was placed in reports telling of extensive damage to fruit trees in southern Illinois by freezing, it being the consensus of opinion that vegetation had not advanced sufficiently to be in much danger of damage so early in the season.

Weakness developed in the market for butter, and there were accumulations of the lower grades of creameries, but dealers did not believe the situation called for reductions in prices and they maintained old quotations. The egg trade was broad, with buyers taking supplies for immediate consumption and to place in cold storage. The shortage in the supply of chickens was relieved by more liberal receipts and the market was weaker, although values were not changed.

ALIEN ARRIVALS ALIEN INDEED.

Eighteen Men Held in Atlantic Port Twenty-four Hours and Nobody Yet Can Understand Them.

Boston, Mass., March 17.—Eighteen strange appearing men wearing "drum major" hats, quilted blouses and trousers, and high leather boots, are detained at the immigration station because government interpreters are unable to classify them or to understand their language.

The men arrived on the Ivernia yesterday, and during the twenty-four hours they have been here have been unable to make themselves understood.

It is thought that they may be natives of some village in the Caucasus mountains. They have tickets for Seattle, Wash.

CHICAGOAN FILES A PROTEST.

Remonstrates Against Renewal of Liquor License of a Philadelphia Hotel.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 17.—[Special.]—William A. Favorite of Chicago has filed a remonstrance against the renewal of the liquor license of the St. James hotel and has taken the fight to the license court. Behind the remonstrance is a fight during the course of which Favorite and his sons were thrown out of the hotel dining room by several waiters. It is alleged that the waiters were a little slow and Favorite became abusive. The hearing was postponed.

TRADE ANALYSIS SHOWS ADVANCE

R. G. Dun & Co. Say in Review That Raw Supplies Are Being Well Absorbed.

RAIL BUSINESS LARGER.

Testifies to Expanding Offerings of Heavy Material, Merchandise, and Farm Needs.

Dun's Review, published today by R. G. Dun & Co., will say:

"While payments through the banks show decreased aggregate and trading defaults again are heavier, the monetary position is more clearly favorable to railroad financing and new investment.

"Trade conditions generally reflect seasonable advance, although low temperature interrupted construction and adequate activity in leading retail operations.

"Agricultural advices continue highly encouraging as to winter wheat and rye, but crop marketings were lighter on rush of farm work and seeding in the northwest was set back by zero weather.

"Arrivals of live meats exhibit sustained increase and packing compares favorably with this time last year. Movements of breadstuffs reflect sharp falling off in demand and local supplies accumulate in both grain and provisions.

"Other commodities show comparatively heavy forwardings, especially hides, leather, wool, and dairy products.

Raw Supplies Better Absorbed.

"Deliveries of mill and factory outputs, structural shapes, and minor metals compare more closely with a year ago and the markets for principal raw supplies reflect wider absorption and prices without important change.

"Firmness appears in lumber quotations, yard stocks being well reduced and replenishing slow from the pineries.

"Railroad returns testify to expanding offerings of heavy material, general merchandise, and plantation needs. Gross earnings of Chicago steam roads maintain moderate improvement.

"New business in iron and steel includes none of notable size, but bookings steadily strengthen and there is gain in the active capacity at furnaces, rolling mills, forges, and foundries. Specifications improved for cars, motive power, bridge, and terminal materials.

"Orders for rails, however, are placed slowly and plans for extensions and equipment undergo revision for economic reasons. Current deliveries are quite large in planing mill and quarry outputs, and there is spreading demand for interior finish, sanitary appliances, and cement.

Woodworking Shops Are Busy.

"The woodworking shops continue busy on spring needs, furniture shipments being especially large for both domestic and export consumption. The markets for hides and leather show sustained interest of buyers, with prices firm for future requirements, and employment is steady at the shoe, belting, harness, and trunk factories.

"Buyers attend the wholesale merchandise markets in satisfactory numbers. Sales equal those at this time last year in dry goods, woolens, clothing, footwear, men's furnishings, millinery, cloaks and suits, and food products.

"Total movement of grain at this port, 6,969,650 bu, compares with 8,893,640 bu last week and 8,635,250 bu a year ago. Compared with 1910, receipts decreased 33.5 per cent and shipments increased 4 per cent. Flour receipts, 94,743 brls, compare with 113,843 brls last week and 269,886 brls a year ago.

"Aggregate receipts of cattle, hogs, and sheep, 290,972 head, compare with 226,926 head last week and 194,027 head in 1910.

"Receipts of hides were 4,077,500 lbs, against 3,623,100 lbs last week and 2,350,000 lbs last year.

Big Drop in Lumber Receipts.

"Lumber receipts were only 31,484,000 feet, against 37,196,000 feet last week and 48,804,000 feet last year.

"Compared with the closings a week ago, cash prices are unchanged in flour and ribs but higher in wheat and oats, each ⅝c a bu; corn, 1c; hogs, 10c a hundredweight; pork, 25c a brl; and sheep, 35c a hundredweight; and lower in lard, 7½c a tc, and choice cattle, 35c a hundredweight.

"Bank clearings, $274,788,790, are 5.7 under those of corresponding week in 1910, and compare with $260,393,000 in 1909.

"Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 29, against 21 last week, 20 in 1910, and 28 in 1909. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 12, against 5 last week, 2 in 1910, and 6 in 1909."

Distributive Trade Still Quiet.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Distributive trade is still quiet, more so perhaps, than in recently preceding weeks, because many visiting buyers have returned home to await the first indications of the trend of spring retail distribution. The latter branch of the trade has been in turn checked by a sharp cool snap which has overspread a large area of the west and north, and which, while not sufficient to stimulate demand for left over winter goods, has, nevertheless, operated to retard business for spring wear.

Of the leading lines of wearing apparel, perhaps most activity, largely at wholesale, has been in millinery, in which the tone is really optimistic. Staple dry goods have sold fairly well, but price or tariff uncertainties are a check to free buying. There is a feeling in the wholesale cotton goods trade, however, that the line of resistance to lower prices has now been reached and this is fortified by the closing down or curtailment of operations by many mills north and south.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending March 16 were 251, against 290 last week, 206 in the like week of 1910, 224 in 1909, 208 in 1908, and 157 in 1907.

WEEKLY BANK CLEARINGS.

Bradstreet's bank clearings report for the week ending March 16 shows an aggregate of $3,072,723,000, as against $2,988,876,000 last week and $3,581,980,000 in the corresponding week last year. The following is a list of the cities:

CALL ON GOMPERS TO AVERT STRIKE

New York Teamsters Threaten to Tie Up "Everything on Wheels" in City.

MAY MAKE 50,000 IDLE

More Expressmen Go Out as Mayor Gaynor Is Angered by Attitude.

New York, March 17.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has been summoned to New York to take charge of the threatened general strike of teamsters in the Metropolitan district, which if called will tie up "everything on wheels" and involve 50,000 men.

Strikers and employers are asked to submit their differences to arbitration, and the men to return to work pending a decision, in resolutions adopted tonight by the International Denominational committee for the promotion of industrial arbitration.

Thirty-five hundred employés of the United States and Wells-Fargo Express companies threw in their fortunes today with the 1,200 striking drivers of the Adams Express company.

Mayor Gaynor was astounded when he learned that his peace proposals had been overridden.

"This strike is absolutely inexcusable," he told a delegation of the National and American drivers, who appealed to him for protection. "Further than that, it is criminal and brutal. Do not be drawn into it. I shall have three policemen, if necessary, detailed to every one of your wagons."

DRIVERS' STRIKE IS AVERTED; EMPLOYERS GRANT $1 RAISE.

Plumbers Win First Battle with Steamfitters and Suspension of the Latter from Labor Federation Recommended.

Baggage, parcel, and delivery drivers, who threatened the moving industry of Chicago with a strike, settled all difficulties with the Furniture and Express Movers' association yesterday when the latter acceded to the demand of the drivers. The toilers received an increase of $1 a week, with 5 cents an hour increase for overtime.

Conferences were also held between the piano movers and the representatives of the association. The piano movers have been receiving $19 a week. They demand $24. The helpers, who have been receiving $18, demand $21.

The first battle in the jurisdictional fight between the United Association of Plumbers and the International Union of Steamfitters was won by the former when the executive council of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor voted to recommend the suspension of the steamfitters' organization from the national body.

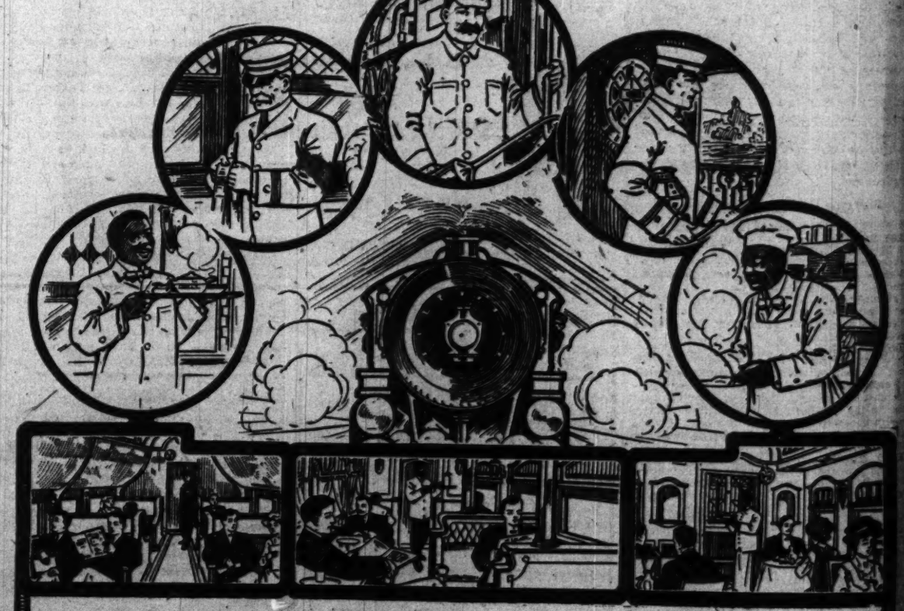

The recommendation was formulated in an all day conference at the Briggs house and follows the lines of a similar edict issued several months ago at a meeting of the building trades department in St. Louis.

Marble work on the new portion of the Art Institute and the new Karpen building was practically stopped when fifty marble setters of local 21 walked out in sympathy with members of the Marble Workers' union, which is on a strike.

PAIN FIREWORKS HAS RECEIVER.

Action Taken in Case of Concern Whose Troubles Are Due to the Sane Fourth Movement.

New York, March 17.—Lyon A. Smith was appointed today receiver of the Pain Manufacturing company, manufacturers of fireworks, in an action for dissolution brought recently by four stockholders, who alleged that the spread of the "Sane Fourth" movement was responsible for the concern's difficulties. The receiver's bond was fixed at $100,000.

MARKET IS ACTIVE IN SEARS COMMON

Stock, Which Has Been Well Protected, Opens at 144½ and Closes at 145.

ELECTRIC SHARES DULL.

Swift Steady at Fraction Above Par; Chicago Railway 5s Hold Firm.

Sears-Roebuck common was the feature in activity of the local exchange. The market for the shares acted well. The stock opened at 144½ and closed at 145. While it is well enough understood that there is a so-called pool in the shares, it is one that operates largely for the protection of the market and to keep the stock active rather than to indulge in any purely manipulative tactics.

In order that a company may enjoy the benefit of good credit and have its stock quoted at prices that represent what are believed to be fair values, it is not uncommon for insiders in a company to look after the market for their securities.

This, to date, appears to have been the attitude of those in control of the market for Sears-Roebuck stock. When holders of the common desire to sell they usually finad a market on which they can dispose of their holdings without special sacrifice.

Confidence Felt in Company.

The stock has been well protected covering a period of eighteen months. The earnings are good and confidence is felt in the business of the company to an extent that the principal owners are willing to accept at a fair market price all the stock that is ordinarily offered in a nonspeculative way. It is understood that some time within the current year or early next year there will be an increase in the cash dividend. This will come about as a result of earnings.

Commonwealth Edison shares were rather dull and the price sold off from the previous day's close. The opening was at 128 and the low quotation 127. There was a fractional recovery from that figure. Swift & Co. stock held steady at a fraction above par. Both Fisheries issues were dull. In the bond department, Chicago Railways 5s were firm, closing at 98½.

McCrum-Howell Common.

Directors of the McCrum-Howell company have ordered the first quarterly distribution on the new common stock issue. The declaration is three-fourths of 1 per cent on the entire amount of common outstanding. The new stock was issued in connection with the sale of $2,000,000 new preferred, so that the total capitalization is $3,500,000 preferred and $3,500,000 common. According to interests in the company the earnings for the last fiscal year were at the rate of 11 per cent on the total issue of common.

Calumet and South Chicago.

Earnings of the Calumet and South Chicago railway company for the year ended Jan. 31, 1911, were equal to $224,731, or 2.24 per cent on the $10,000,000 capital stock of the company. These figures were submitted at the annual meeting of the company, held yesterday. The statements follow:

The following was wired from New York:

"The statement is made on high authority that there is no truth in the reports circulated that the Canadian Pacific railway company is buying the Erie stocks with a view of securing control of the property.

"A Canadian Pacific official says that his company does not contemplate buying the securities of any railroad in the United States for the purpose of securing an entrance into New York. He adds that the present arrangements with the New York Central and the New Haven roads are satisfactory."

Bank Increases Dividend.

The Woodlawn Trust and Savings bank has increased its dividend rate from an 8 to a 10 per cent basis by the declaration of a quarterly distribution of 2½ per cent. The bank has made a good record as a money earner. It has deposits of roundly $1,250,000.

Union Carbide Active.

There was a renewal of activity in Union Carbide stock on the local curb. The price at the opening was 116½. It advanced to 114 and the close was at 113½ bid and 114 asked. The stock sold ex-dividend 2 per cent. The price with the dividend on is therefore equal to 116. The dividend is payable April 1.

WALL ST. AWAITS TRUST DECISIONS

Course of Business Affected Largely by Expectation of Rulings on Monday.

FINANCING HAS EFFECT.

Estimates of Currency Movements Indicate Loss in Cash by the Banks.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, March 17.—[Special.]—Once again the course of business on the stock exchange was influenced almost solely by the possibility of decisions from the Supreme court Monday in the anti-trust suits. Trading fell away to purely nominal figures, while the swing of prices corresponded to the small volume of transactions, and there was a distinct downward trend.

Discussion naturally centered upon the expected verdicts from the Supreme court in the oil and tobacco cases, since these are the overshadowing matters of the moment. While no definite word can be expected from the Supreme court or those directly involved in the litigation, it is nevertheless considered quite probable that these cases will be finally passed upon on Monday. The fact that a prolonged recess is immediately before the court, following Monday's sitting, and that the importance of the settlement of the cases to the entire business world is well understood in Washington, suggests strongly the rendering of the decisions Monday.

Financial Deals Important.

Financing of corporation requirements are still the order of the day with bankers. The day's transactions of the kind included the sale of $60,000,000 of 5 per cent Lake Shore notes to Paris and the purchase of $13,850,000 public service corporation 5 per cent bonds and $8,000,000 Père Marquette notes, all taken by the house concerned in the Paris negotiations.

The usual weekly trade reviews spoke of improvement in trade conditions, but described it as slow and irregular, while a grain trade authority set forth the position of winter wheat as quite satisfactory. The report of the United States Steel corporation for the year ended Dec. 31 last was published, but the figures, with the exception of deductions showing little differences from those made in previous years, were practically those made known at the end of the December quarter. The year upon the whole was a good one for the corporation, its income account showing a surplus available for dividends on common stock of about 12.25 per cent.

Banks Have Small Loss in Cash.

Preliminary estimates of currency movements of the week indicate a small loss in cash by the local banks, this coming as a result of the drain to the subtreasury. From the interior direct banks appeared to have gained enough to offset all but some $200,000 of the $4,867,000 loss to the subtreasury. This loss, however, represents payments to the government on orders from interior banks, who thus discharged obligations of one sort or another to the subtreasury, so that it is plain the tide has again run against this center this week, although by no means so heavily as a week ago, when the loss was figured at about $4,000,000. A sufficient comment, however, on the local money situation is furnished by repeated reductions in bids for time money and in the 1½ per cent rate touched today for demand loans.

Money on call steady, 2@2¾ per cent; ruling rate, 2¾ per cent; closing bid, 2½ per cent; offered, 2¾ per cent. Time loans easy, with no demand; 60 days, 2½@2¾ per cent; 90 days, 2¾@3 per cent; six months, 3@3¾ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent; sterling exchange firmer, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8395@4.8410 for 60 day bills and at 4.8615 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.83¼@4.83½. Bar silver, 53c; Mexican dollars, 45c; government bonds steady; railroad bonds irregular.

ANNUAL REPORT ON STEEL SHOWS BIG GAIN IN BUSINESS.

Figures of United States Corporation Give Comparative Statement of Operations for Years 1909 and 1910.

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—The annual report of the United States Steel corporation for the year ended Dec. 31, 1910, shows that the total earnings amounted to $141,054,755, an increase of $9,563,341 over 1909, and net earnings were $116,738,158, an increase of $8,965,058. The balance of the surplus was $10,772,383, a decrease of $4,549,535, due principally to an increase of $5,000,000 in the appropriation for the Gary plant.

During the year the corporation manufactured 10,733,995 tons of rolled and other finished steel products, compared with 9,859,660 tons in 1909, and 14,179,369 tons of steel ingots, against 13,355,189. Pig iron and other blast furnace production increased from 11,618,350 tons to 11,831,398 tons. Of the iron ore there were 25,245,816 tons mined, compared with 23,431,047 tons last year.

Capital expenditures during the year amounted to $50,091,369, of which the Gary plant accounted for $16,072,851 and the Tennessee Coal and Iron company's properties, $3,887,079. The net expenditure for development work at the mines was $3,009,853. The total capital expenditure since the organization in 1901 for additional property, construction, etc., was $362,452,389.

On Dec. 31, 1910, the aggregate book valuation of inventories of manufacturing and operating materials and finished and semi-finished products was $176,537,824, an increase of $12,726,544 over 1909.

Under the offer of January, 1911, subscriptions were received from 26,363 employés for 19,229 shares of common stock. The preferred offered at 114 a share and common $70 a share. In 1910 there was an average of 218,435 employés on the pay rolls, compared with 195,500 in 1909. The total annual salaries and wages was $174,955,139, against $151,663,394. The report says concerning prices:

"Prices received for shipments made to the trade during 1910 of finished products averaged more than those obtained in the preceding year, both in respect to domestic and export shipments. Tonnage shipped for export in 1910 was the largest for any year since the organization of the corporation."

Since the early part of January, 1911, the new business booked by the corporation has been nearly equal to the normal maximum daily capacity of the mills.

The balance sheet shows cash in hand and deposits of $56,953,914. Accounts receivable aggregate $44,603,274. Marketable bonds and stocks are set down at $4,410,794 and outside real estate and investments at $2,369,394. The undivided surplus amounts to $164,143,168, of which $25,000,000 was furnished in the organization of the property.

Though the report is "as of" Dec. 31, 1910, the name of James A. Farrell appears on the title page as president, but there is no mention made in the report of the retirement of William Ellis Corey.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, March 17.—Money was in stronger demand today owing to repayments to the Bank of England. Discount rates were lower. The stock market was quietly irregular. Paris liquidation weakened mining shares and caused foreign stocks to decline, while the £3,500,000 Indian loan depressed gilt edged securities. Home rails and consols were supported and closed firmer. American securities opened lower, but rallied on covering during the first hour. Trading was quiet, and later the market declined again in the absence of Wall street support. The closing was dull.

WE OWN AND OFFER

$100,000

Memphis, Tennessee,

Municipal 4% Bonds

Due May 1, 1932 and 1933. Semi-annual interest payable May 1 and November 1. Denomination, $1,000.

The City of Memphis, with a population of over 131,000, is one of the most important commercial and industrial centers of the Mississippi Valley. Having handled, during the past twelve years, over $3,000,000 of Memphis and Shelby County, Tenn., bonds, we are thoroughly familiar with the resources and financial condition of the community. The city owns its waterworks system, which is valued at nearly two-thirds the entire municipal debt, and these bonds are, in opinion of counsel, a direct lien upon this property as well as an obligation of the City of Memphis.

We recommend these bonds for investment

SHORT COVERING CAUSES ADVANCE

Wheat Futures Rally Near Close on Much Better Demand for Cash Grain.

EXPORT SALES REPORTED

Receipts Are Small of All Cereals and Corn and Oats Make Small Gains.

Prices for wheat sagged sharply after the opening, but later in the day there was free covering by shorts whihch lifted prices to about the previous closing level. May was just a shade lower at the close, while the new crop months were ⅛c higher. The bearish reports in regard to the winter wheat crop and prospects for unsettled weather were offset by the better cash demand which was reported late in the day.

Moreover, there was heavy buying of the new crop months by Bartlett-Frazier, supposed to be for Patten, which caused several of the local shorts to cover. The buying by pit shorts was stimulated by reported sales of 70,000 bu wheat, mostly to outside mills at Chicago, and an export business of 80,000 bu Manitoba and 24,000 bu No. 2 red, the latter from Baltimore to go to Liverpool.

Crop Reports Conflicting.

Although there were a few bullish reports received, notably from Inglis, the majority were bearish. Snow's advices in regard to the Kansas crop were bearish, but after the opening there was not much selling on these advices, as the Bartlett house was a big buyer. Armour and Logan-Bryan were also buyers. Selling was scattered, and the volume of trade was not large. The Northwestern Miller says the weather and crop conditions are ideal and that in the Pacific northwest there will be the largest acreage ever sown.

The Modern Miller's report also was bearish, saying no damage of consequence had been sustained. Cables were unchanged to ⅛d up from Liverpool, ⅛@⅜c off from Paris, unchanged from Antwerp, ⅝c up from Berlin, and ⅜c better from Budapest. World's shipments were estimated at about 11,000,000 bu, against 9,312,000 bu last year.

Liverpool Futures Firm.

The firmness at Liverpool was due to the smaller shipments from the southern hemisphere. Argentina shipped 2,536,000 bu and Australia 1,752,000 bu. Clearances from this side were 1,885,000 bu, against 1,281,000 bu last year. Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 300,000 bu for the week; Duluth gained 31,000 bu. Primary arrivals were 363,000 bu, against 657,000 bu a year ago. Receipts here were 16 cars, with same number for today. Northwest arrivals were 205 cars; last year, 356; Winnipeg, 214 cars, against 219 cars.

Weather conditions continue favorable and predictions are for unsettled weather over most of the belt. Clearances for the day were 183,000 bu.

Corn Crowd Is Bullish.

Corn was firm most of the day, but was easier near the close. Buying was led by Armour, Bartlett-Frazier, Nickells, Fuller, Schwarz, and Bailey. Local traders were generally friendly to the buying side and there was not much pressure to sell. Peavey was about the best seller. Cash prices were ¼@½c higher, and sales were 85,000 bu. Country offerings continue light, and receipts were 150 cars, with 176 cars the estimate for today. Primary arrivals were 538,000 bu, compared to 560,000 bu a year ago. Futures closed about steady. Clearances for the day were 449,000 bu and for the week 1,954,000 bu, against 1,047,000 bu a year ago. Cables were unchanged to ⅛d up, Liverpool being affected by firmness at Buenos Aires and light offerings. Weather conditions continue favorable for spring work.

Changing Feature in Oats.

Oats were fairly strong with quite an active trade principally in the way of changing. May was brought by the elevator people against sales of July and September, and there was considerable scattered commission house buying of the September. The latter, however, closed unchanged, while the other months were ⅛@¼c higher. Country houses bought September. Considerable buying of September oats against sales of September corn was noted. Receipts here were 95 cars with 91 the estimate for today. The primary run was extremely small at 276,000 bu, against 710,000 bu a year ago. Cash sales were 185,000 bu, with sample prices steady to ¼c higher.

AMERICAN GRAIN MARKETS.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 17.—WHEAT—Was in very narrow range today. Trading continued light and of the same professional character. The snowfall in Minnesota was light, and more moisture wanted to put ground in good shape before seeding comes. May closed ⅛@¼c lower than yesterday, July ⅛c lower, and September unchanged. Local elevator stocks of wheat showed an estimated decrease of 300,000 bu. Minneapolis today received 202 cars of wheat, against 307 a year ago; Duluth, 3, against 49, and Winnipeg, 214, against 219. May wheat opened, 97⅝@97½c; high, 97¼@97⅝c; low, 97c; close, 97⅛@97¼c. July, 98⅝c; high, 98⅝@98⅞c; low, 98⅜c; close, 98⅛@98⅜c. September 91⅝c; high, 92⅛c; low, 91⅝c; close, 91⅝@92c. NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Notwithstanding the reports Bartlett-Frazier received from the southwest from B. W. Snow, their own crop expert, were bearish, the firm was about the biggest buyer of July wheat, a big line being taken, supposedly for Patten. A few days ago Patten was extremely bearish on July wheat and sold a big line. The pit detectives figured that the buying yesterday was the covering of this line.

Outside of this buying and local short covering there was no aggressive support of the market and the public has not enthused at all in response to the dry weather reports. Most traders while inclined to take the bull side at this season have been waiting for at least a moderate revival of the cash trade to help out the crop news. Until it becomes apparent there is an outlet for the cash wheat now in store bulls are likely to be timid.

"Corn is unlike any other product of the soil in the variety of purposes for which it is used," says J. P. Griffin in summing up the corn situation. "For several years our crops have been large, but a steadily increasing population and a revival in the export demand for corn and its products has resulted in consumption keeping apace with production. A few years back 3,000,000,000 bu of corn would mean disaster to the producer. Today we must raise approximately that amount of corn to provide for absolute home requirements. Any subtraction from a perfect outlook for the next crop could easily add 5 to 10 cents to present prices. Corn is cheap and in our opinion higher values certain. A three billion crop is not a burden, but a necessity."

Snow's reports from Hutchinson, Kan., were bearish and he stated that in the eastern third of Kansas prospects were much above the average, and that in the big wheat counties in the central part of the state where last year the crop was small there had been no winter killing. Wheat is well rooted he said, and of good color. Inglis reports from southern Kansas and northern and western Oklahoma were not so bearish, stating that a large percentage of the crop was in poor shape and that in western Oklahoma the condition was not over 50. The Modern Miller was moderately bearish, saying that, although there were complaints of dry weather and hessian fly, no material damage was claimed in the principal wheat states.

The death of Samuel H. Green was reported on change. Mr. Green suffered a stroke of paralysis a few months ago which brought about his death yesterday. The deceased was an old member of the board and well known in cash grain circles. Funeral will take place from his late residence, 706 East Forty-fifth street, today at 3 o'clock. Burial will be at Quincy, Ill.

Sales of cash wheat here were the largest in some time. 70,000 bu including 10,000 bu No. 2 red to outside mills. The inquiry was better than for some time, and indicated mills were more willing to take hold. Outside points reported a slow trade, and there was a sale of 10,000 bu St. Louis wheat to come to Chicago. This wheat was said to have been low grade and bought at 6¼c under Chicago May, which would indicate a low figure f. o. b., St. Louis. Minneapolis premiums were about the same. Export business reported was 80,000 bu Manitoba wheat worked partly as the result of distressed freights and 24,000 bu No. 2 red from Baltimore to Liverpool.

Country offerings of corn continue light and there was a fair demand here from the east, with sales of 85,000 bu. Prices were steady to ½c higher. Oats were also unchanged to ¼c up with sales of 180,000 bu. Present prices are not appealing much to country holders of corn, and receivers report few acceptances of bids. Oats receipts are light in all directions and the demand is improving a little bit.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were unchanged to ¼c higher; corn, ¼c to ½c higher; oats, unchanged to ¼c higher, and rye, ½c higher. Sales were: 1 car No. 3 yellow corn or better, April shipment, 47¼c track Chicago; 5,000 bu standard oats or better, 10 days' shipment, 31⅝c Illinois proportional; 1,500 bu No. 3 white oats or better, 10 days' shipment, 31½c Illinois proportional.

Bradstreet's reported the exports of breadstuffs and corn from both coasts for the week, with comparisons, as follows:

	Wheat and flour.	Corn.
This week	1,885,000	1,954,000
Last week	2,249,000	2,365,000

DRY GOODS.

New York, March 17.—[Special.]—Orders can be secured in the staple cotton goods end of the market, but as a rule prices offered are too unsatisfactory for the mills. Prices have been scraping bottom for some time, and in the more conservative quarters of the market it is believed there shortly will be a movement by the larger mills to place prices on a more satisfactory level by drastic curtailment. Staple lines of prints are moving rather slowly with first hands, and it looks as if there would have to be a sharp curtailment by print cloth manufacturers before the market can assume a normal position.

Jobbers are not over busy today, although in the silk departments some fair orders are reported. In the carpet and rug division recorders are coming forward fairly well from retailers who are anxious to round out their lines for the coming spring and early summer months.

Print cloths, 28 in., std., 3⅝c; 28 in., 64x60s, 3¼c; gray goods, 39 in., 68x72, 5¼c; gray goods, 38½ in., std., 5@5 1-16c; brown drills, standards, 8¼@8½c; sheetings, south, std., 8@8¼c; 3 yard, 7½c; denims, 9 ounce, 14@17c; stark, 8 ounce duck, 13¼c; Hartford, 11 ounce, 40 in. duck, 17c; tickings, 8 ounce, 13½c; standard fancy prints, 5@5½c; standard ginghams, 7c; fine dress ginghams, 7½@9½c; kid finished cambrics, 4@4½c.

Outside of small spot lots there is not much purchasing in the print cloth market. Neither printers nor converters seem in any hurry to purchase goods, in spite of the fact prices are easy and in the buyers' favor. Sales of small spot lots of 38½ in., 64x60s, are reported at 4⅝c and some 64 squares at 5c flat; narrow goods are in slow request at 3⅛c for 28 in., 64x60s, and regulars unchanged at 3⅛c.

RULING ON LONG AND SHORT HAUL

Commerce Board Defines Wherein Violation of Rates Would Ensue.

LIKE FARES COMPARED.

Will Prevent Continuance of Absorbing of Certain Switching Charges.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—Announcement of certain holdings of the interstate commerce commission concerning the long and short haul provision of the existing interstate commerce act was made today.

The commission says the provision applies to all rates and fares, but, in determining whether it is contravened, rates and fares of the same kind should be compared with each other; that is, transshipment rates with transshipment rates, proportional rates with proportional rates, etc.

Defines the Violation.

The commission hold "it would be a violation of the long and short haul provision if a proportional rate to or from a given point were lower than the regular rate to or from an intermediate point."

It also is held that the law is violated "where, from the absorption of a switching charge, it results that the total transportation charge from a more distant point to the point where the property is delivered is less than the total transportation charge from or to an intermediate point."

Much Benefit Results.

"Owing, however, to the general practice of absorbing switching charges from competitive and not from non-competitive stations, and in view of the fact that much benefit and little complaint results, the commission will by general order permit a continuance of this practice, reserving for consideration and determination individual cases which may require special consideration."

In certain circumstances carriers are authorized without special authority of the commission to establish rates on branch lines or to stations not now open in conformity to the general holdings of the commission.

Duluth Alleges Discrimination.

Complaint that Duluth, Minn., is being discriminated against by the railways of the northwest in favor of Chicago, Minneapolis, and Milwaukee as grain handling ports was made today to the interstate commerce commission by the Duluth board of trade.

The proceeding is instituted against the Great Northern railway and many other lines operating in the northwest. It is alleged that the rates on grain, grain products, and seeds from southern Minnesota and southern North Dakota to Duluth are excessive, unreasonable, and unjust, and that they are unduly preferential and discriminatory.

It is averred that the railroads, in the making of these preferential tariffs, have violated the long and short haul provision of the existing law, as they exact higher freight charges from Duluth grain operators than they do from operators located at equidistant points.

The commission is requested to fix the same rates to Duluth as are in effect to Minneapolis from the grain territories mentioned.

BANK SEEKS TO ESCAPE TAXES.

Administrator for 106 Estates, Alleging Exorbitant Assessment, Files Injunction Suit.

The State bank of Chicago filed injunction proceedings in the Superior court yesterday afternoon against County Treasurer William L. O'Connell to restrain him from collecting alleged exorbitant taxes on 106 estates, of which the institution is administrator. It is alleged that a mistake was made in the board of assessors' office by entering the amounts in the "assessed value" column and tripling the figures. In reality it is said the figures should have been put under the column of "full value," the taxes to be obtained by taking one-third of the total.

HOG TRADE LACKING IN SNAP

Broad Eastern Shipping Demand Is Only Brace for Market.

CATTLE BUSINESS IS FAIR.

Values Hold at Preceding Day's Advance; Sheep and Lambs Steady.

Hog values at Chicago yesterday rested at the low level touched late Thursday, but there was no snap to the trade at the prices, and an exceptionally broad eastern shipping demand was all that kept values from declining. Local packers were indifferent buyers throughout the session, with three of the smaller killers staying out of the trade altogether. Shippers paid $7.25 for prime light hogs, while packers secured the bulk of the packing grades at $6.90, with the general average for the day at $6.95. Cattle trade had a fair undertone, with values holding at the preceding day's advance. Sheep and lambs met with an uneven demand, but prices held steady to strong, with best lambs at $6.90.

FOR SALE—
FARMS THAT MUST PAY FOR THEMSELVES.

NO CROPS—NO PAY. WE TAKE ALL THE RISK. The Canadian Pacific Railway offers you a partnership in the richest land opportunity in America today. Potatoes, onions, sugar beets, alfalfa, wheat, oats, barley, and flax—all in enormous yields.
Great dairy country, too. Hundreds are paying for their land and improvements out of one or two crops. And not only getting established in this new, progressive country, but are already getting rich. You can, too. Only one or two years will give you a clear title to a big rich farm and a home of your own.
Best transportation—best schools and all social advantages—wonderful climate—wonderful soil. This is the place to get a start and establish a home. Pay for your land out of your crops—no crops—no pay. Easily the opportunity of a lifetime. Send today, for this land is limited and is going fast. For free descriptive books write

A CHICAGO DEAL

A hydraulic engineer who is identified with some of the largest irrigation plants and orchards wishes to co-operate with a few more people to join him and his Chicago friends in an exceptionally reasonable proposition. The tract is one section [640 acres] on the beautiful Columbia river, Washington, two miles due north of the town of Paterson, on the S. P. & S. R. R. [J. J. Hill system]; every essential is met that goes to make this land as high in value as any in the United States; top soil 20 to 200 feet deep; railway exactly two miles, with slight down grade for hauling; climatic conditions perfect; educational facilities; good hunting and fishing and boating not to be excelled.
This soil grows the choicest apples, pears, vegetables, alfalfa, berries, and grapes; commanding the highest prices in the United States and Europe. Test pits 8 feet deep have been sunk every square of 330 feet to determine the soil values. The tract is under one of the largest irrigation plants, capable of delivering all the water needed for both irrigation and domestic use. For those wishing a 10 or 20 acre tract of land for a home, where health, culture, and independence is a factor and the raising of the best fruits the world grows, this is their opportunity.
The price of this land is $31.50 per acre; $2.50 an acre down and $2.50 an acre in two months, the balance in two years, with interest at 6%. Here is an opportunity to join a Chicago colony on a cooperative basis, where you absolutely take no chance and secure your land at the bottom price.
There is no harm in inquiring, and as there is about half of it already sold, it will not take long to close the balance. The land and deal is backed up by two national banks and the Abstract and Title company. Act now and join us. This is an opportune time to take advantage of $33 railroad rate to coast and secure your 10 acres by simply taking a 60 day option for $25.00 and make such inspection and investigation of the land as you see fit. DON'T DELAY. Address S K 294, Tribune.

FOR SALE—DO YOU WANT TEN ACRES OF choice fruit land free? I am authorized to give away 640 acres in Texas for advertising purposes. No fake scheme, as this method is used to introduce a 800,000 acre land opening by one of the largest Texas colonization companies. This ten acres will only be awarded to reliable persons with large circle of friends who are able and willing to buy good farming land. For full information and personal interview address T A 58, Tribune.

SALARY LOANS.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or incomes from other sources], who, while not in a position to borrow money from a bank, realize that exorbitant interest charged by professional money lenders is high and extortionate. I am connected with the Indiana Loan Credit & Trust Company of Chicago, co-partners 4303 Grand-blvd., and, having private means of my own, I am willing to loan money with or without security and at a consideration but a trifle above bank rates, and never more than the interest legalized by the states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island; the precise rate being determined by the amount loaned and risk assumed. My location [15 minutes from loop district via South Side Elevated] assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where lenders congregate. Always best to telephone Drexel 54 for private appointment. Ask for MR. S.

PIANOS—STEGER & SONS—PIANOS—GRANDS—UPRIGHTS.
THE STEGER NATURAL PLAYER-PIANO.
Are all made complete in the world's largest piano factories. In these great factories the rule of "Artistic Excellence" is never for any reason permitted to vary. Each instrument bears this individual characteristic.
Their tonal beauty and fine workmanship make Steger instruments attractive to those who appreciate "Art" in its higher sense.
They are sold at an invariable "One Price," plainly marked on each instrument, for cash or on convenient terms of payment.
New pianos to rent at $3 per month. Rent allowed toward purchase price.

WOLGAST VICTOR; ARRESTS FOLLOW

District Attorney Acts After Champion Beats Memsic in Nine Rounds.

BOUT IN VERNON ARENA.

Loser Practically Knocked Out When Referee Eyton Stops Uneven Battle.

Los Angles, Cal., March 17.—[Special.]—World's Champion Lightweight Ad Wolgast stopped George Memsic in the ninth round of their scheduled twenty round bout in the arena at Vernon this afternoon. Memsic practically was knocked out when Referee Eyton stopped the fight and awarded the decision to Wolgast.

All the principals to the battle were placed under arrest tonight charged with having participated in a prize fight. The arrests were made several hours after the contest on order from District Attorney Fredericks, those taken being Wolgast, Memsic, Promoter Tom Carey, and Referee Eyton.

The preliminary hearing will take place tomorrow. It is reported that habeas corpus proceedings will be instituted by the defendants to test the law. The statute which it is charged has been violated provides a maximum penalty of five years in the penitentiary.

Defends Title Easily.

In defending his title Wolgast had an easy time. He outfought Memsic in eight rounds, despite the fact that the Los Angeles man put on his best burst of speed in the first four sessions.

After sparring about the ring in the first round, Memsic rushed and landed a wild right swing on the jaw. Wolgast fell into a clinch and Memsic threw him to the floor. The champion sat in a dazed manner for a few seconds and then slowly rose.

Neither boy had any advantage in the second or third, but after that it was all Wolgast. Memsic gradually lost his steam and by the sixth it was apparent that the end was near.

During the last few rounds Wolgast battered his opponent at will, landing heavily on the body in the clinches and pecking continually at the face. Blood showed from Memsic's nose in the second round and in the seventh his right eye was almost closed.

The tide of battle took a decisive turn in the fifth after the hardest rally of the fight. The boys mixed it on the ropes and Wolgast came out of it stronger. After that Memsic landed but few effective blows. Wolgast showed strong. He did not appear tired at any stage and fought with the utmost confidence. His reputed bad arm appeared to be as good as ever.

The largest crowd that ever saw a fight at Vernon attended.

Principals Are Warned.

Before the fight started promoter and principals were warned that action might be taken if the men participated in a prize fight. But they took the chance. When in the ninth round Referee Eyton saw that Memsic was helpless and unable to defend himself from the rain of blows that the champion was delivering he called a stop to hostilities. The referee had promised the district attorney before the battle that he would intervene the moment he saw that either man showed decided weakness. But Eyton's action apparently carried little weight with the district attorney.

For a time it looked as if there would be no fight, as the district attorney sent his assistant and a force of detectives to the ringside with orders not to allow the fight to proceed. A considerable delay followed conferences of these representatives and talks over the telephone with Attorney Fredericks, but the bout was allowed to proceed with the understanding that promoter, referee, and fighters would be arrested afterward if in the opinion of the assistant district attorney it was a prize fight instead of a boxing contest.

Story of Fight by Rounds.

The story of the fight by rounds follows:

FIRST ROUND—Memsic was first to land, putting a light right to Wolgast's jaw. They clinched and exchanged vicious body blows, Wolgast claiming Memsic hit him too low. Memsic rushed into another clinch and wrestled Wolgast to the floor. The champion was up in an instant. George landed a hard right to the jaw and Wolgast put a stiff left to the stomach. The round was slightly in favor of Memsic.

SECOND ROUND—They clinched and Memsic again threw Wolgast. He was warned by the referee. Memsic put a hard right to the stomach and Wolgast covered. Ad landed a straight left on the nose and brought first blood. Wolgast put another to the face and got two straight lefts to the mouth in return. He sent in a terrific left and in a clinch both landed hard body blows. The round was even.

FIFTH ROUND—Wolgast backed Memsic to the ropes, landing terrific rights and lefts to the face and body. Memsic covered up. Wolgast fairly rained blows until George broke ground. Memsic sent in a left to the body and Wolgast again rushed, landing both left and right on the face. As the bell rang Memsic put a stiff right on Wolgast's neck. It was Wolgast's round by a wide margin.

SIXTH ROUND—Memsic missed two swings and Wolgast put a light left to the face, following with a stiff right to the same spot. Head to head they exchanged body punches, both keeping well covered. Wolgast landed two blows to Memsic's one, and Memsic seemed tired. Wolgast shot a terrific right uppercut and Memsic was dazed. It again was Wolgast's round.

SEVENTH ROUND—Wolgast caught Memsic with another right uppercut and the Los Angeles boy fell against the ropes. Memsic then rushed into a clinch and Wolgast sent blow after blow to the body. The champion with a hard left sent Memsic to the ropes. Memsic straightened up and countered with a right to Wolgast's jaw. He seemed to be weakened, however, and his punches did not bother Wolgast. It was Wolgast's round.

EIGHTH ROUND—They clinched and Wolgast pounded the kidneys. Memsic put a right to the jaw and Wolgast backed up. Memsic butted Wolgast with his head and the champion, shoving Memsic back, rained rights and lefts to the face, Memsic covering. Memsic's face was badly swollen.

NINTH ROUND—Wolgast immediately rushed, evidently intending to try for a knockout. He landed a series of hard rights and lefts to the face and body. Memsic was weak and it was so evident that he was done for that Referee Eyton stopped the fight, giving Wolgast the decision.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

AT THE END OF THE PAROLE.

O, well, if you insist we will resume
And endeavor to emit a little spume,
A little frothy stuff
Sometimes designated guff,
Some vagrant quips and cranks with not intoom.

It is not so blooming easy to commence,
To suddenly reach out and grab the sense,
And restock the vacant bean
With the shifting of the scene
And what happened since the day we wandered hence.

It may be that one feels exceedingly fit
And ready for the fray—that isn't it;
It's the thought that gets one when
One must tackle it again
With the wanderlust not curbed a little bit.

Chicago, March 16.—Dear Hek: I have been laying for you to ask you what you think of the reviled Bombadier Wells now after what he did to Porky Flynn. TUNBRIDGE WELLS.

In reply would say, hyphen—We still are between minds as to whether we should take back what we said about the Bombadier or let what he said about Porky go double.

Even if the state does pass a law legalizing boxing contests in the mildest and safest form conceivable the exercise of the privileges so vouchsafed still will depend upon the favor of the various mayors, sheriffs, and state's attorneys who can if they choose apply the ugly word "prizefighting" and the old laws governing the same to any entertainment the promoters of boxing shows attempt to shuffle up. If public feeling is right no bill is needed to legalize boxing, and if public feeling is wrong no bill can protect it. As far as Chicago is concerned, it would be better off without a law than with one. All it needs is a liberal and at the same time discriminating interpretation of the present law. The Madigan bill, if passed, will bring into sudden existence a swarm of all disant "athletic clubs" which will claim the same rights for backroom and basement scraps as will be extended the exploitations of the bona fide organizations and the upshot eventually is bound to be an appeal to the common law against "prizefighting," which is not going to be repealed whatever be the fate of the Madigan measure.

All of this is what technically is called coming clean.

MOTOR AND SENSORY TESTS SHOW "SAMSON" ON THE MEND.

Wrestler Injured by Gotch Steadily Improves at St. Luke's Hospital—Champion Shy of Opponents.

BY HAMMERLOCK.

After an exhaustive examination, including the motor and sensory tests, Dr. A. E. Price yesterday stated that Henry Bahn, the wrestler injured by Champion Gotch at the Coliseum Thursday night as the result of a flying fall, was out of immediate danger. The Empire club physician, however, ordered that the wrestler remain at St. Luke's hospital for several days lest unfavorable symptoms develop. His condition will be noted each day.

Upon leaving his patient for the night, Dr. Price said: "The injury was a temporary concussion of the brain caused by the fall. I have given him the usual medical tests and find no brain lesion. He was able to tell the difference between the head and point of a pin when applied to the skin, and there is no indication of paralysis. While we will not feel absolutely sure of no unfavorable results for two or three days, indications are that rest will restore the man to his normal condition."

Following the accident the Empire A. C. announced that in the future it would pit wrestlers against Gotch who had weight, science, and experience to compete with him without being injured. Samson looked big and strong enough to hold his own with the champion when the pair entered the ring, but it did not take long for the Iowa farmer to show the crowd that he was Samson's master. Several times it looked as if Gotch would break the German's arm by his powerful hammerlocks.

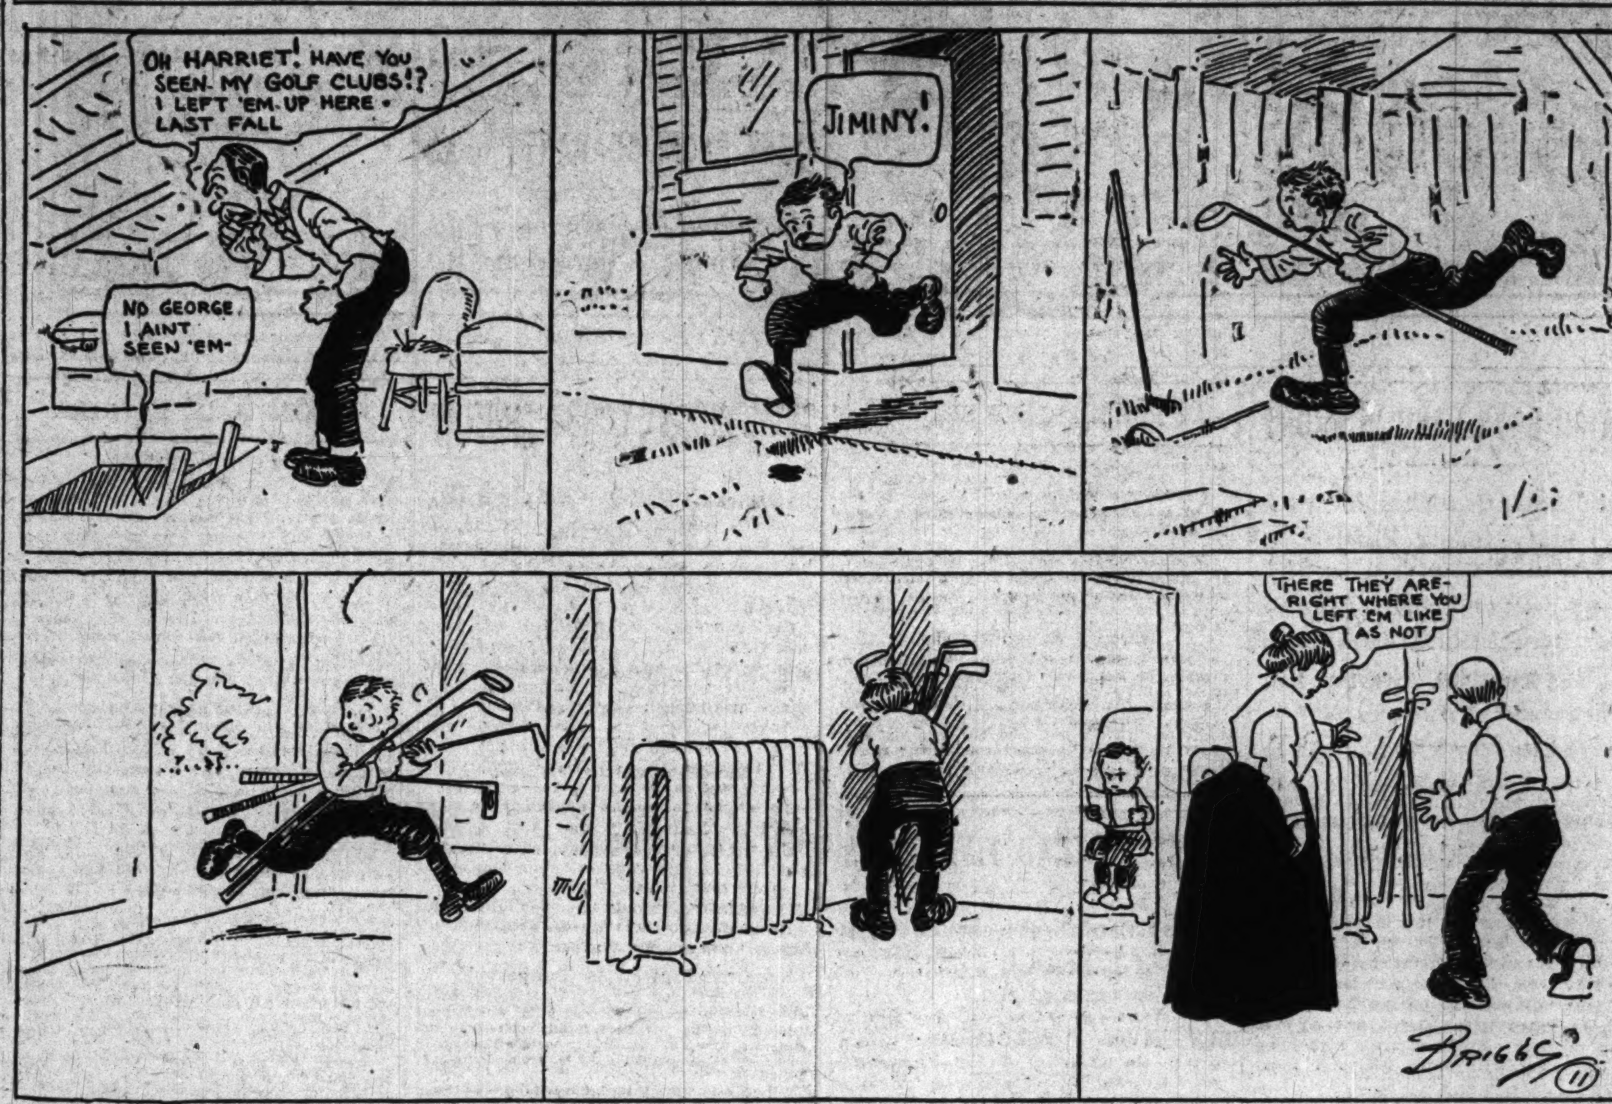

The Empire A. C. has not yet selected an opponent for Gotch who on Thursday announced he had signed a contract with the club to wrestle any man for the world's title. According to the agreement the bout is to take place in six months and if Hackenschmidt clings to his present plan of filling European engagements the Russian will not be the man to meet the champion. The club believes the next best opponent is Yussiff Mahmout.

WANTS JOHNSON TO FIGHT.

Hugh McIntosh Coming to America to Induce Negro to Re-enter Ring in London and Paris.

New York, March 17.—Hugh McIntosh, the Australian fight promoter, has announced his intention of coming to America this summer to persuade Jack Johnson to get back into the ring for a series of battles in London and Paris next fall.

MATTY M'INTYRE JOKES WITH SOX

"Captain of the 40 Thieves" Steals Paraphernalia and Then Gives It Back.

QUIT THE WELLS TODAY.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Mineral Wells, Tex., March 17.—[Special.]—Instead of pulling that time tattered stunt of celebrating the seventeenth of Ireland with a game between Irish and German players, Manager Duffy gave the White Sox almost a holiday today. But it was a busy one, for it was camp breaking day, and considerable time, believe us, was passed in gathering up belongings scattered from one end of the small city to the other.

One session of fast practice was assigned the players in the morning, and it was prolific of the sensation of the trip. Arriving at the park the players found their clubhouse had been broken into during the night and everything of value taken with the exception of one of Pat Dougherty's shoes, and that was valueless without its mate. That and a couple of bottles of crazy water were all the thieves left.

"Thieves" Do Good "Job."

It was a clean job, and the methods of its doing were apparent, for entrance had been gained through a broken window facing the fence surrounding the park.

The babel of cuss words and anathemas out of every one in general and Texans in particular that broke loose was worse than a meeting of garment workers striking in every tongue known to the European continent.

Manager Duffy took one look at the wreck, saw how complete it was, then sent a scout to telephone downtown for Capt. John Haines of the Desplaines street station, who is passing a month at this watering place and has been made honorary life member of the White Sox.

Simultaneously the Sox boss started to surround the colored section of the city and round up, if possible, the colored groundkeeper, who had resigned his job the day before. Said ground keeper claimed his task of chasing kids off the fences had got him in bad with the white kids' parents, and he had heard threats of "roping" him, so he thought he would take the steer in time.

Rains Baseball Paraphernalia.

Just as things were at the boiling over point, and before the veteran Chicago thief catcher could arrive on the scene, one of the players glanced toward a corner of the fence in the direction from which a strong wind was blowing.

His shout drew attention to the strangest spectacle yet seen in Texas. Over the fence, as if blown by a sand laden gale, came baseball shoes, gloves, mitts, caps, masks, protectors, bats, and balls in a steadily increasing stream, with the big leather bat bag as the climax.

When the smoke blew away it was discovered Matty McIntyre had led a small coterie of players to the field two hours earlier than the rest, and during the interval had framed this joke so well that it fooled even as wise a bunch as the Sox. And from today the former Tiger will be known among his pals as "Captain of the Forty Thieves." Instead of getting sore everybody handed it to the "thieves" for their cleverness.

Sox in Batting Practice.

Two hours of practice constituted the day's work, and it consisted largely of batting, in which every one was given a chance to whack away at the offerings of all the pitchers on hand. In the intervals half a dozen high low games were in progress, and when Manager Duffy finally called a halt, the boys gathered up their lost and found belonging and said good-by for a year to their Mineral Wells plant.

That they will be back again the 1st of next March is considered a certainty by all hands. Another conference was held today between President Comiskey and C. B. King, agent for Sidney Webb, who owns the Crazy Wells and much adjoining property, and the master of the Sox was given assurance that everything would be shipshape for taking better care of the White Sox next spring. Plans already are under way for the erection of a four story modern hotel just south of the present Crazy Wells structure.

This is designed to cater to the highest class of patronage from the north by another spring, and it will be connected with the present structure, to which will be added a third story. When complete the plant will be capable of housing, feeding, and watering under the same roof several parties as big as a major league ball club in training.

The commercial club has begun plans for improving the ball park at once. The outfield is to be plowed, seeded down, and cared for in such a way that a coating of turf will be ready for the athletes to cavort on in place of the present sand, which has baked to a hard surface and blows in the faces of players and spectators every time an extra hard gust of wind sweeps the arena.

Before leaving on the afternoon train for Fort Worth President Comiskey gave the local promoters his word that he would shape up matters and contracts for a return engagement here in 1912 as soon as the improvements outlined were sufficiently well under way to insure completion in time.

SOX "SYDELIGHTS."

Mineral Wells, Tex., March 17.—[Special.]—All the cripples, including Corhan, Young, and McConnell, participated in today's workout and reported their lameness disappearing.

Corhan has the most obstinate injury among the cripples, as his sprained ankle still keeps him limping slightly. Walsh is complaining of a slight charley horse.

In the seventeen days since the Sox hit Texas they have not lost a moment's work on account of bad weather. Only once has a drop of rain fallen, and that was a light shower early one morning before any one was out of bed. It served the good purpose of laying the dust and helped rather than hurt the practice.

So perfect have been the conditions here that for the last week Manager Duffy has given his men only one workout a day, except on one or two occasions. Instead of having to force things on every available day he has had to slow up the men to prevent getting them at so fine an edge that they would encounter a serious setback when they strike the chilly blasts of the middle north a fortnight hence.

The players who will leave on the sunrise train tomorrow are in as near the "pink of condition" as it is safe for a bunch of athletes to be at this time of the year. For a week they have been saving their arms after having worked all the soreness out of them, and except for the usual run of accidents, from most of which the players already have recovered, the stay here has been without flaw.

No weeding out will be done until Thursday, according to President Comiskey, when four or five of the men will be turned back, the rest being retained until the season opens, at least. What men are slated first to feel the ax President Comiskey declines to intimate in any way, and to guess is hazardous when thirty-five men have shaped up as nearly on a level as have the Sox veterans and youngsters on this trip.

The regular team will go direct to Dallas in the morning, arriving in time for a game in the afternoon, while the remnant squad, in charge of Jiggs Donahue, will stop off in Fort Worth to play that afternoon. The same teams will play the same towns on Sunday, then coagulate in Fort Worth over Sunday night. Next morning the first team will go to Tex Jones' former home town, Bowie, for games on Monday and Tuesday, and then proceed direct to Oklahoma City, unless other games now on the fire are cooked up in the meantime. President Comiskey figures it would be as profitable to spend Thursday and Friday practicing in Oklahoma City as elsewhere if games do not materialize. The second squad in the meanwhile will play on Monday and Tuesday in Cleburne, just south of Fort Worth, and return to the latter city to await the return of the San Antonio invaders (who are due in the Texas packingtown on Thursday), then journey to Wichita.

WOLGAST TO FIGHT LAGRAVE.

Promoter Clark of San Francisco Signs Men for March 31—Champion to Get $7,500.

San Francisco, Cal., March 17.—Promoter Milton T. Clark of the Metropolitan Athletic club has signed Champion Ad Wolgast and Anton Lagrave of San Francisco to box twenty rounds before his club in this city on March 31. Wolgast is to receive $7,500, win, lose, or draw, while Lagrave is content to accept $1,000 irrespective of the outcome. The fighters have agreed to make 133 pounds ringside.

BERLIN EVENS UP IN HOCKEY SERIES

Takes Brilliantly Played Contest from All-Chicagos by 4 to 2 Count.

LARGE CROWD SEES GAME.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Combination play and close following of the puck gave the Berlin (Ont.) hockey team a victory over the All-Chicagos last night at the Ice palace, 4 to 2. After a consultation of the captains it was agreed to play the deciding game tonight.

Before another large crowd which packed the ice rink to its capacity the players exerted themselves to the utmost to bring about a victory, and it was one of the hardest fought and closest contested matches seen at the west side rink since hockey made its debut as one of Chicago's leading winter sports.

With vengeance displayed on the faces of every Canadian player, the Berlin team came on the ice determined to even up matters and make the locals play another game which would have an important bearing on the international hockey title. As is generally the case when an all-star aggregation is selected in any branch of sport to meet a team which is perfect in team or combination play, the individual work of the locals could not overcome the superb team play of the Canadian team.

Berlin Men Arrayed in Green.

It was a brilliant victory for Berlin, as the visiting team was arrayed in uniforms trimmed with green and their win was a fitting climax to the festivities of St. Patrick's day. After 5:40 of hard play, in which both teams came close to scoring, Frood of the visiting team shot the puck past Goalkeeper Hall for the first count of the game.

Twenty seconds later Captain Marks of the local aggregation evened up matters by making a beautiful goal after Eddie Howell had taken the puck down the ice and by perfect passing shoved the rubber to West, who passed it to Marks, the latter being in perfect position for clean shot at the goal. The local captain, with unerring aim, shot the puck like a rifle ball past Goalkeeper Lehman for the tieing count.

With the score one all Prodgers, the versatile and determined player of the visiting team, obtained possession of the puck behind the local's goal, took the missile down the rink assisted by Frood, and then shot a goal after 15:20 of play.

Frood Shoots a Goal.

Frood made another goal after 22:40 of playing in the first half by perfect combination work, and Harry Nesbitt increased the local's count to two by making a perfect shot from scrimmage when there was only one minute to play.

After the second period was 11:00 old McGregor made the final goal of the game from a scrimmage in front of the local's net. In this half Corbeau, cover point for Berlin, was hurt twice, once by falling on the ice and the second time by being hit by the puck as he came from the dressing room after receiving medical attention. Lineup:

All-Chicago [2].		Berlin [4].
Hall	Goal	Sehman
Gee	Point	McGregor
Howell	Cover point	Corbeau
Marks [Cap.]	Rover	Edmunds
Nesbitt	Center	Frood
Graham	Right wing	Prodgers

Goals—Frood, 5:40; Marks, 11:35; Prodgers, 15:20; Frood, 22:40; Nesbitt, 24:00 [second]; McGregor, 11:00. Referee—Art Leader. Timers—Dr. H. H. Hayes, Nester Johnson. Goal judges—Harry Halvorsen, G. G. Witt. Time of halves—25 minutes.

SLAGLE NOW A BUSINESS MAN.

Chick Fraser Imparts "Dope" That the Former Cub Is to Embark in Scrap Iron Trade.

"Rabbit" Slagle, for years a headliner on the Cubs, is about to embark in business here, according to Chick Fraser. He also may sign up with some of the local semi-pro nines. Slagle will go into the scrapiron business with his father-in-law.

SAM WELLERISMS.

New Orleans, La., March 17.—[Special.]—President Murphy appeared at breakfast with a shamrock in his buttonhole.

Joe Tinker, Robert Edeson, and a couple of other actors celebrated St. Patrick's day at a spaghetti dinner.

Heine Zimmerman celebrated by breaking his favorite bat in the morning practice. He has ordered a dozen to be delivered when he reaches Louisville.

The flag at the ball park waved at half mast today. Whether it was in memory of St. Patrick or for the death of one of the groundkeeper's gamecocks, was not made known.

Dr. T. A. Davis, advising physician for the Cubs, attended both the morning practice and the afternoon game today. He also went to the quarters in the Young Men's Gymnastic club and examined a few lame ankles and arms and prescribed cures.

King Cole, the National league's star twirler of last season, is booked to pitch a part of the game tomorrow. He has not yet shown in a real game, but has been working nicely against the batters at the morning practice and is ready for the battle.

The Peerless Leader, President Murphy, and Owner Charley Frank of the New Orleans club have been holding secret conferences for two days. The announcement is made that the southern club wants no one but Catcher Angermeier, the blue grass slugger, but Chance has not given him up yet.

M. Brown, the distinguished hurler, took his first turn in the pitcher's slab in the morning practice, doing the heaving to the batter for fifteen minutes. He put some speed on the ball and twisted one over at rare intervals with no damage whatever.

The Steinfeldt case is still unsettled and Harry is nervous over the outcome. He announced today that he was seeking an interview and understanding with Murphy tomorrow morning, and unless he is assured he'll stick with the Cubs or unless he can go only to the Cincinnati Reds, he'll leave for home tomorrow night.

In all probability the regular Cubs team will exhibit here on Sunday afternoon, as the baseball bugs of the town are clamoring for a battle between their favorites and the N. L. champions. The soft condition of the infield has led Manager Chance to exercise care in working his stars. For that reason he hates to put them in the contest Sunday. Several of them are complaining of lameness in the ankle joints.

SENATORS' BALL PARK BURNS; PLUMBER'S BLOW LAMP CAUSE.

Loss Is $20,000, Partially Covered by Insurance—Steel to Replace Wooden Structures.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—A plumber's blow lamp and a strong wind caused a fire today that destroyed the American league baseball park and four frame buildings, formerly a part of the Freedman's hospital but now used as a storehouse for an adjoining lumber yard.

Plumbers at work on the drain pipes of the baseball park had shut off the water supply temporarily, and by the time the fire apparatus arrived the grand stand and bleachers were a mass of flames. The loss to the park was estimated at $20,000, about $15,000 of which was covered by insurance.

Thomas C. Noyes, president of the Washington club, called a meeting of the board of directors late today and announced that work would begin immediately on the construction of steel stands. He said that if sufficient progress had not been made by the opening of the season, April 12, the opening games might be transferred to other league points. He estimated that the new stands and work of the diamond would require an expenditure of $100,000.

Treasurer W. H. Rapley of the Washington club was a visitor at President Johnson's office yesterday when news of the burning of the baseball stands at Washington was received. Mr. Rapley was on his way to French Lick, Ind., for a short vacation, but decided to accompany Mr. Johnson east tonight. Mr. Rapley said he could not tell what would be done toward rebuilding. The short time between now and the opening of the season appeared to him insufficient to put up steel work, but the matter is entirely in the hands of President Noyes and the directors of the club. The fire yesterday was the third that has broken out at the plant since it has been owned by Washington men. Twice in 1906 the lumber yard on the Seventh street side of the plant was burned and during one of the blazes the fence between the grand stand and the yard was totally destroyed.

JOHNNY KLING JOINS CUBS.

Tardy Member of Squad Reports at New Orleans Camp—Says He's Ready for Action.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

New Orleans, March 17.—[Special.]—Johnny Kling, the tardy member of the Cubs' squad, reached here tonight, just before 9 o'clock, having been delayed in Kansas City a day later than he expected. Johnny was looking fine and said he would be in a suit for work in the morning. It is likely he will not catch in any of the exhibition games before the team reaches Louisville on the way home.

CUBS CELEBRATE WITH VICTORY, 6-2

Memory of St. Patrick Spurs Chance's Men, Who Beat the Pelicans.

GAME IS THE FIRST WON.

Richie and Toney Hurl in Great Style, Latter Allowing One Scratch Hit.

BY SAM WELLER.

New Orleans, La., March 17.—[Special.]—Though there were only two tads in the Cubs' lineup today, they all played ball like fighting sons of Erin and celebrated St. Patrick's day by winning their first game of the year, giving the Pelicans a sound beating by a score of 6 to 2.

Schulte, Hofman, Saier, Needham, Toney, Richie, and "Little Abe" Cooney were most conspicuous in the conflict, while the two harps, Doyle and Shean, had lesser parts. Richie and Toney gave exhibitions of pitching that gladdened the hearts of Manager Chance and President Murphy, who sat in the stand. Two tallies were counted off the flinging of Richie, who occupied the slab for five innings. Both counters were due to fielding mistakes on the part of the Cublets. Toney took the last four innings of the game, going at top speed, and no one had a chance to score. He gave only one tiny scratch hit and struck out five of the batsmen.

The big fellow used his overhand curve ball much of the time, hooking it over the corner of the plate almost at will, and yet he never threw a curve ball in such a way until taught by M. Brown only a few days ago. His control was perfect, and tonight President Murphy was of the opinion that money would not buy the Kentucky recruit.

Victory an Easy One.

Good pitching at all times by the two Chicagoans and timely hitting by the other members of the club made the victory an easy one and took much of the pepper out of the daring Pelicans. Before the game was over the local outfielders were backed against the fence in fear. It was the first time the Cublets had looked like a real ball club since coming here, but the presence of the veterans Hofman, Schulte, and Needham had much to do in making them play the game.

Senor Martina, the strong armed twirler, who is an oyster vender here in the off season, was on the pitchers' slab for the southerners for six rounds of the fight and the Cublets scored five of their six counts off his speedy shoots. He was removed then, and Mr. Klawitter, who has beaten the Chicago club in other years down in the south, and who climbed into the big league for a short spell, finished the game. F. Schulte, the right fielder, slammed a three bagger to the fence off this hurler and scored on a passed ball.

Abe Cooney Busy Person.

Abe Cooney, wearing a shamrock on his cap, was the busiest man of all, playing shortstop for the Cubs. He gathered up a total of eight assists and would have had nine but he juggled one just long enough to be charged with an error. That he has unlimited fielding ability cannot be denied. When he masters the sticking end of the game he'll be playing a regular position on some big league team. Victor Saier was more energetic than ever on the first bag today, but his line single bringing home two runs in the fifth inning brought most of his glory.

The Pelicans counted once in the first inning when it looked as if they were going to get a cluster of runs. George Rohe opened the contest with a single over second, Johnston rolled one toward third, and Doyle in his hurry hurled it over Saier's head, the two runners stopping on third and second. Candler walked, filling the bases, and no one was out. But L. Richie put much twist and speed on the ball and the next hitter bounced to Saier, who shot the ball home, forcing Rohe at the plate. The bags were still full, and Barr lined a vicious single to center. Hofman's quick heave to the plate shut off all the runners but one, Johnston scoring from third. Lindsay slapped to Richie and a double play ended the trouble.

Cublets Tie the Score.

In the second inning the Cublets got their Irish up and tied the score. It was one of the Micks, Jimmy Doyle, who crossed the pan. He was walked to first, moved up on Shean's out, and took third when Cooney beat an infield roller. Mitchell tried to catch Doyle off third and threw to the outfield, letting the run come in. In the third the Pelicans flew around for one run, Johnston starting with a single. A single and an infield out put him on third, and he came home when Shean missed a grounder.

The Cubs' bombardment took place in the fifth, and the victory was sewed up then. Needham pulled a hot one to left for one base and Fisher, batting for Richie, walked. Ball laid down a neat sacrifice. The shortstop missed Schulte's smash and Needham scored. Hofman followed with a drive to the left wall, and Fisher tallied, Schulte stopping at third. Saier pulled a liner to right field for one base, scoring both Schulte and Hofman, but he died on the base lines when the next two hitters went out on fly balls.

Schulte Clouts Triple.

The other tally came in the seventh inning and was due to Mr. Schulte's terrific drive to right center. Frank might have made it a homer had the season been farther advanced and the grounds in better condition. He pulled up trotting at third base, and a passed ball let him sprint home a moment later. MAROON ATHLETES WIN OVER PURPLE

Take Annual Dual Meet at Patten Gymnasium by a Score of 45 to 36.

MENAUL BREAKS RECORD.

Sets New Northwestern Mark with Leap of 5 Feet 6 Inches; Shenk First in Dash.

BY UNDERGRAD.

The University of Chicago track team defeated Northwestern athletes in a dual meet at Patten gymnasium last night by the close margin of 45 to 36. The Maroons carried off first honors in six of the events while Northwestern was satisfied with three firsts.

The only gymnasium record broken was in the high jump, Menaul of Chicago winning with 5 feet 8⅝ inches, but on a final trial he cleared 5 feet 11 inches, the former record of 5 feet 8½ inches being held by Johnson of Indiana.

In the mile run Northwestern easily romped away with all three places, Long and Gray of Chicago having dropped out on the last lap when they saw it was useless to try for third place.

Shenk's winning of the 60 yard dash was one of the prettiest races of the meet. Pitted against three Maroon sprinters in the final heat, Shenk took first in a close finish, tieing the gymnasium record of :06 3-5.

In the 440 yard run Davenport of Chicago laid back until within ten yards of the finish, when he dashed ahead with a phenomenal burst of speed, winning by about six inches. Summaries:

60 yard dash—Won by Shenk, Northwestern; Sauer, Chicago, second; Davenport, Chicago, third. Time, :06 3-5.

60 yard high hurdle—Won by Kuh, Chicago; Sherman, Northwestern, second; Whiting, Chicago, third. Time, :08 3-5.

Mile run—Won by Beall, Northwestern; Watson, Northwestern, second; Busby, Northwestern, third. Time, 4:44 3-5.

440 yard run—Won by Davenport, Chicago; Gifford, Chicago, second; Schaeffer, Northwestern, third. Time, :55.

Shot put—Won by Menaul, Chicago, 42 feet 8 inches; Fletcher, Northwestern, second, 39 feet 6 inches; Goettler, Chicago, third, 35 feet 1½ inches.

880 yard run—Won by Timblin, Chicago; Johnson, Northwestern, second; Skinner, Chicago, third. Time, 2:14 1-5.

Running high jump—Won by Menaul, Chicago, 5 feet 8¾ inches; Goettler, Chicago, and Fletcher, Northwestern, tied for second, 5 feet 3¾ inches.

Two mile run—Won by Thorsen, Northwestern; Watson, Northwestern, second; Beall, Northwestern, third. Time, 10:30.

Pole vault—Won by Rogers, Chicago; Coyle, Chicago, second; Ray, Northwestern, third. Height, 11 feet 4½ inches.

Eight-tenths mile relay—Won by Chicago [G. Kuh, W. Kuh, Gifford, Davenport]. Time, 2:53.

FOUR TANK RECORDS LOWERED IN MEET AT PATTEN "GYM."

McGillivray and Blouke Establish New Marks for Pool, Former Getting Three—Crane Beats Evanston Academy.

Four Patten gymnasium tank records were broken in a swimming meet between Crane High school and Evanston academy at Northwestern university yesterday afternoon, which Crane won. McGillivray of Crane and Blouke of Evanston academy were the record destroyers. McGillivray won the 40 yard swim in :19 4-5, the 40 yard back stroke in :28 3-5, and the 60 yard swim in :34, breaking the Patten gym record in each event. Blouke hung up a new mark of :27 3-5 in the 40 yard breast stroke. Score:

40 yard swim—Won by McGillivray, Crane; Morris, Evanston academy, second; Rothel, Crane, third. Time, :19 4-5.

40 yard breast stroke—Won by Blouke, Crane; Sloane, Evanston, second; McCrabe, Evanston, third. Time, :27 3-5.

Plunge for distance—Won by Chamberlin, Evanston; Wood, Crane, second; Graywood, Evanston, third. Distance, 46 ft. 9 in.

40 yard back stroke—Won by McGillivray, Crane; Blouke, Crane, second; Graywood, Evanston, third. Time, :28 3-5.

60 yard swim—Won by McGillivray, Crane; Morris, Evanston, second; Rothel, Crane, third. Time, :34.

Relay, 160 yards—Won by Crane [McGillivray, Rothel, Blouke, Pritzker]. Time, 1:32 2-5.

Water basketball—Won by Crane. Score, 3 to 0.

ILLINOIS FRESHMEN WIN MEET.

Easily Defeat Chicago First Year Men at Bartlett Gymnasium by Lopsided Score of 47 to 22.

The University of Illinois freshman track squad swamped the University of Chicago first year men in a dual meet at Bartlett gym last night, 47 to 22. Summaries:

BOOSTS AVIATION MEET HERE.

Harold F. McCormick in New York to Make Arrangements for a Flying Event in Chicago.

New York, March 17.—Harold F. McCormick arrived here today from Chicago to arrange with the Aero Club of America for the aviation meet to be held in Chicago this summer. Mr. McCormick declared that more than $100,000 would be offered in prizes to aviators. The principal matter for discussion tomorrow, he said, would be the fixing of a date for the meet that will not conflict with any other meets in this country or abroad.

PREP TRACK MEET TONIGHT.

Nearly 200 Secondary School Athletes Will Combat on Cinder Path at Patten Gym.

Nearly 200 athletes, representing twenty-two high schools and academies of the central west, will compete in the annual indoor field and track meet under the auspices of Northwestern university in the Patten gymnasium tonight. The list includes some of the best high school boys in this section of the country, nearly every school in the county league being represented by two or more entrants.

CENTRAL TURNERS TAKE TITLE FROM IRVING PARK MIDGETS.

Land Central A. A. U. 120 Pound Basketball Honors by Winning Deciding Contest, 25 to 11.

Central Turners last night won the 120 pound Central A. A. U. basketball title in the final game with the Irving Park Midgets at Wicker Park hall. The score in the title clash was 25 to 11, but the final count does not indicate the closeness of the battle throughout. The Turners only ran up the winning share of their points at the close, when Heinrich stepped into the spotlight and boosted his total to five goals and nine free throws. Lineup:

Turners [25].		Midgets [11].
Heinrich	R. F.	Stokes
Holt	L. F.	O'Brien
Spink	C.	Lampe
Taylor	R. G.	Stiles
Willard	L. G.	McCord

Baskets—Heinrich [5], Holt, Spink [2], O'Brien, Lampe. Free throws—Heinrich [9], Stokes [7].

In the other game to decide third and fourth places the Crane Night school won from Wheaton by the count of 23 to 19. The match was another close argument most of the way, with Schroeder doing the star work for the winners. Lineup:

Crane [23].		Wheaton [19].
Schwartz	R. F.	Welden
Jacoby	L. F.	Marsh
Schroeder	C.	Monore
J. Satovsky, McAleese	R. G.	Carlson
L. Satovsky	L. G.	Arnold

Baskets—Schroeder [6], L. Satovsky, Schwartz [2], Monore, Marsh, Weldon [6]. Free throws—Schroeder, Schwartz [4], Weldon [2], Arnold.

Sixth Presbyterian, 51; Ellis A. C., 10.

The Sixth Presbyterian Juniors swamped the Ellis A. C. last night in the church gymnasium, 51 to 10. C. Kelso led the onslaught with nine baskets. Lineup:

Sixth Presbyterians [51].		Ellis A. C. [10].
C. Kelso	R. F.	R. Bolte
Clifton	L. F.	Wells
R. Kelso	C.	L. Bolte
Speer	R. G.	Crane
Hawkinson	L. G.	Dyen

Baskets—C. Kelso [9], Hawkinson [5], Clifton [4], R. Kelso [4], Speer [5], F. Bolte [2], Wells. Free throws—L. Bolte [4], Clifton [3]. Referee—Smith.

Sixth "Presbys" Win Game.

Sixth Presbyterian church defeated the Forty-first Street Presbyterian church at the Sixth church gymnasium last night by a score of 31 to 12. Lineup:

Sixth Presbyterian [31].		41st Presbyterian [12].
Stott	R. F.	Herrick
Cartwright	L. F.	Bernstein
Hubbell	C.	Bixby
Wilkins	R. G.	Richards
Sellers, Jacobson	L. G.	Amos

Baskets—Stott [4], Cartwright [4], Hubbell [4], Sellers, Wilkins, Herrick [2], Bixby, Amos [2], Richards. Free throws—Stott [3]. Time of halves—20 minutes. Referee—Seeley. Umpire—Jones. Score—First half, 12 to 6 in favor of sixth.

Fourth Presbyterians Beat St. James.

The Fourth Presbyterian basketball team defeated St. James by a score of 8 to 4 at Wendell Phillips High school yesterday. Lineup:

Fourth Presby. [8].		St. James [4].
Cook	R. F.	H. Weber, W. Weber
Mason	L. F.	Castle, F. Kuhn
Smith	C.	Feeney
Tibbetts	L. G.	Pinkerton
Long	R. G.	Clark

Field baskets—Mason [2], Smith, Pinkerton, Clark. Free throws—Smith [2]. Time of halves—20 minutes. Referee—Feeney. Umpire—McKay.

FENCERS TRY FOR NAST CUP.

Vorwaerts Turnverein and I. A. C. to Qualify for Finals—U. of C. Fail on Finer Points of Game.

Vorwaerts Turn Verein and I. A. C. fencers last night qualified for the final matches for the Nast fencing cup at the I. A. C. University of Chicago was the only other contestant. Chicago Turngemeinde was entered, but failed to appear. The Midway fencers were unfamiliar with the finer points of the game. Vorwaerts displayed the faster work of the night and won matches with ease from their opponents. It was only the I. A. C. men's ability to defeat the Chicago fencers that won them a place in the finals. A. E. Sauer, former national champion, made his first appearance since his injury in New York last year, but failed to win a bout.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

George Sutton has started fitting out his new room at 172 Wabash avenue which he expects to open about April 1.

In the three cushion tournament at Foley's, Lowe [50] defeated Nelson [47] 50 to 39 in 105 innings. Van Hafften [50] and Weir [42] will play tonight.

"Cowboy" Weston, former pool champion, will play Jones 125 to 100 at the Jackson hotel rooms tonight. Weston is practicing with Werner at Gazzolo's for his coming match with the winner of the De Oro-Keogh match.

Huey gave Lauben his first defeat in the western championship three cushion tournament at Weeghman's rooms last night, winning in spectacular form, 50 to 25, in fifty innings, the second best record of the local season. Low mark is held by Riley, who went out in forty-seven in the same tournament. Huey had runs of seven, six, and five, a run of seven saving Lauben from a worse defeat. Lauben's defeat leaves Morin the only player with a clean sheet.

SAUER TO LEAD FIVE AGAIN

Maroon Captain Re-elected Head of Basketball Team.

SIX MEN AWARDED "C'S."

University of Chicago Swimming Squad Meets Wisconsin Tonight.

BY MAROON.

Clark Sauer was reëlected captain of the University of Chicago basketball team yesterday at a meeting this year's squad. Those who voted were Paine, Goettler, Bell, Goldstein, and Fulkerson. Sauer has been the pivot of the Maroon five in basketball this season, saving more than one game by steady play. C's were awarded to the six men mentioned. Minor C's were given to Freeman, Mehl, and Frank.

Now that there is no prospect of a post-season championship series between Purdue and Minnesota, who are tied for first place in the conference services, the season is regarded as closed. Chicago stands third, with seven games won and five lost.

The University of Chicago swimming team will meet the Wisconsin squad at the Bartlett tank tonight. There will be the usual card of swimming events but no water polo game. The strength of the Badgers is unknown. The Maroon rooters expect Rundell in the plunge, Scofield in the 100 yard swim, and Chandler in the forty yard breast stroke all to take points. The varsity meet will be contested in conjunction with the interclass finals. So far the freshmen are ahead, with twenty-five points scored.

ARMOUR GETS BIG SCHEDULE.

Technical School to Play Nearly Thirty Games—Large Squad Works in Gymnasium.

Thirty-five players, seven of whom are last year's "A" men, have been working in the Armour institute gymnasium, waiting for the weather to warrant out-of-door practice. Armour has the heaviest baseball schedule of any college in the newly organized "Middle Western College conference." Practice games have been scheduled with several semi-pro teams for the last week in March and with high school teams from April 1 until the regular college schedule starts, on April 15. Following is the schedule:

April 1—Lyons High at Armour.
April 4—Lane High at Armour.
April 6—Crane High at Armour.
April 8—Austin High at Armour.
April 11—Hyde Park High at Armour.
April 15—Northwestern college at Armour.
April 19—Englewood High at Armour.
April 22—St. Viateur's at Kankakee.
April 25—Lake Forest at Lake Forest.
April 27—De Paul at De Paul.
April 29—Notre Dame at Notre Dame.
May 1—Notre Dame at Armour.
May 2—Monmouth at Armour.
May 6—Beloit at Armour.
May 9—Hillsdale at Armour.
May 11—Albion at Albion.
May 12—Hillsdale at Hillsdale.
May 13—Knox at Armour.
May 16—Albion at Armour.
May 17—Lake Forest at Armour.
May 19—Beloit at Beloit.
May 20—St. Viateur's at Chicago.
May 24—De Paul at Armour.
May 25—Knox at Galesburg.
May 26—Monmouth at Monmouth.
May 27—Williams and Vashti at Aledo.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Making a wonderfully fine finish in which he counted 14 points in his last thirteen innings, William Campbell of Philadelphia last night defeated Andrew Harris, 50 to 49, in the second game of the series in the three cushion championship of the National Billiard league. The Quaker city player made his quota of points in 84 innings, averaging .595 with high run of 5. Harris, who had one inning less, averaging .590 and also getting a high run of 5.

Campbell's victory pushed Philadelphia into fifth place ahead of Brooklyn, and made it almost impossible for Chicago to finish better than third. It was one of the most spectacular games of the series, the thrilling finish having the crowd in a tense state of excitement. Both men played for everything in sight not a deliberate safety shot marking the entire game.

Harris had scored 45 points to 40 by the visiting player and looked like a sure winner, but Campbell began scoring in every inning, and got on even terms at 47. Harris with three to go picked off two of them, and when within two inches of scoring the third and winning point he was kissed off.

Harris got away to a fine start and led 20 to 8 at the twentieth inning, but in the next ten sessions Campbell added nine points, getting a five in the twenty-fifth inning. Campbell led 25 to 24 at the fortieth inning, but Harris again went to the front and led 39 to 30 at the sixtieth inning. Ten innings later he was seven points ahead, after which came the great battle down the stretch. Scores:

The final game of the series will be played at 7:30 o'clock, Clark Snyder of Chicago playing Campbell.

AL TAYLOR DEFEATS CONKLIN.

Milwaukee Cueist Takes Contest from 18-2 Amateur Champion by 400 to 390 Score.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 17.—[Special.]—Al Taylor, the local billiard crack, won the 400 point billiard match with Fred Conklin, the amateur 18-2 balk line champion, before the Milwaukee Press club, 400 to 390. Taylor took the lead at the start and it was not until near the close that Conklin struck his gait and passed Taylor. He then missed an easy shot after he looked like a winner and Taylor took up the play and ran out with a run of 34. Conklin had the high run of the night with 72. Taylor's high run was 69.

PUGILISTIC RESULTS.

Louisville, Ky., March 17.—[Special.]—Billy Tierney of Louisville knocked out Johnny Richterkissing in the third round of a scheduled ten round contest at Jeffersonville. The winner will meet Earl Denning of Chicago.

MONCRIEF SPORT HAS FAIR CLASS

Best Event of Day Is Six Furlong Dash, Which Vanden Wins Handily.

EASES UP IN STRETCH.

After Showing Keen Speed When Barrier Is Raised Jockey's Task Is Easy.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 17.—Only a fair class of horses raced at Moncrief park this afternoon, but good sport was enjoyed. The best field went to the post in the fourth race at six furlongs. Vanden, which took the lead shortly after the break and showed keen speed, drew away into a long lead, rounding the far turn, and at the end Jockey Fain was easing him up. Summaries:

First race, Breeders purse, ⅜ mile—Yuca, 103 [Schwitzer], 4 to 1, won; Elmeta Hamilton, 109 [McTaggart], 4 to 5, second; Ruby Knight, 108 [Hufnagel], 20 to 1, third. Time—1:01 3-5. ONLY TWO CHOICES IN FRONT.

Favorites Fail to Take Down Big Money in Races at West Tampa Track.

Tampa, Fla., March 17.—Only two favorites were successful at the West Tampa track today, and the layers had much the best of the speculation. Teddy Bear, neglected in the betting, set the early pace in the stretch in the St. Patrick purse to finish with a rush and defeat the heavily backed favorite. Summaries:

First race, ⅝ mile—Heart of Hyacinth, 113 [Griffin], 4 to 1, won; Lady Hapsburg, 105 [Dreyer], 3 to 1, second; Floy Battle, 95 [Wrispen], 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:06 4-5. Johnny Blake, Broken Ties, Brunn Wall, Caltha, Miss Cardigan ran.

Second race, ⅝ mile—Warner Griswell, 111 [Wrispen], 1 to 2, won; Donation, 109 [Irvin], 3 to 1, second; Ida Lackford, 99 [Dreyer], 5 to 2, third. Time, 1:35 4-5. Polly Lee ran.

SPLIT IN 3 EYES EXPECTED TODAY

Johnson and Herrmann of National Commission Probably Will End War.

CLUBS IN SOUTH HOPEFUL

Northern Teams May Be Considered Out of Organized Baseball in Final Decision.

BY HANDY ANDY.

The curtain on the internal strife in the Three Eyes league will be rung down today if plans suggested and approved yesterday by the southern magnates and President Tearney culminate as expected.

Chairman Herrmann of the national commission and President Johnson of the American league, members of the high court of baseball, will be in conference and information from a reliable source declares the trouble how besetting the nearly disrupted circuit will be presented to them and ways and means will be discussed whereby the southern clubs will be recognized as members of organized baseball while the northern clubs will be ignored entirely and considered outlaws.

Johnson Remains in City.

The fact that President Johnson did not leave for Washington last night to confer with President Tom C. Noyes of the Senators regarding the rebuilding of the stands which were burned yesterday strengthens the belief the purposed meeting today has been "on the fire" for some time and every one is anxious to get the matter cleared up before the opening of the season. Under conditions as now exist in Washington President Johnson probably would have left for the east on the first train had there not been something extraordinary in the way of business to detain him.

President Kinsella of Springfield said on Thursday night that he would be on his way to Springfield on the evening train. Instead he remained in Chicago and was in conference with President Tearney, the two moguls preparing their case to present to the court of last resort. What the outcome of the conference will be; what the ultimate effect said outcome will have on organized baseball and how soon the plans adopted will take effect are matters of conjecture.

Strife Bitter from Start.

There is no question that the strife has been more bitter than has been made public. The southern clubs, according to their version, have been fighting as members of organized baseball, declaring they have paid for protection, in that they can sell the services of their players to other teams, and charge that the northern clubs should not be recognized on the ground that they have gone contrary to all baseball law by taking troubles which at their inception could have been settled without difficulty by arbitration into the civil courts.

The southern clubs hope to convince the powers that be their charges are correct, that they will be recognized as members of the Three Eyes circuit and that the "insurgents" will be considered outlaws.

President Tearney, while he would not be quoted directly, intimated in no uncertain terms the Three Eyes troubles would be settled today. He refused to commit himself as to the methods to be followed, but seemed sanguine of the success of the southern clubs.

UNCLE SAM TAKES TRAIL OF MAKERS OF LOADED DICE.

Federal Authorities to Get After Manufacturers of Unfair Gambling Devices as Result of Ruling.

War against manufacturers of unfair gambling devices, such as loaded dice, marked cards and "fixed" roulette wheels was declared by United States District Attorney Sims yesterday. The announcement of the crusade followed a ruling by Judge A. B. Anderson in the United States District court in the cases of Jacob Schimberg of the Slack Manufacturing company, 126 Franklin street, and Edward C. and Richard W. Hood of the R. C. Evans company, 102 Van Buren street, indicted for advertising unfair gambling devices through the mails.

Judge Anderson ruled that the defendants could be tried under an indictment charging them with use of the mails to defraud.

At the trial, it is said, a professional gambler will be called to explain the workings of the unfair devices.

BANTAMS WORKING HARD.

Coulon and Forbes Put in Strenuous Day in Preparation for Bout.

BY KNOCKOUT.

The chief topic of conversation along the pugilistic rialto yesterday was the fight bill introduced in the state senate on Thursday. Whatever the fate of the measure, those connected with boxing in the old days believe bouts could be pulled off in Chicago if every Tom, Dick, and Harry did not attempt to stage them.

Harry Forbes, former bantamweight champion, who will meet Johnny Coulon, present holder of the title, at Kenosha on March 28, over the ten round route, took one of the hardest workouts of his training campaign yesterday at Gilmore's. In the morning Harry took a long hike on the road and in the afternoon after he had done a lot of gymnasium work, he went three fast rounds with his sparring partner, Freddie Whittingham.

Coulon continued his training at Logan Square, and the way the champion is working is evidence of his respect for Forbes. The Logan Square battler, although in good shape at all times, is doing a lot of road and gymnasium work, besides boxing from three to six rounds every day.

Battling Nelson ran up from his home in Hegewich the other night to see the Gotch-Samson wrestling bout, and, as usual, had something to say about the lightweight fighters. Bat announces he will leave shortly for Hot Springs, then will return home and take one more whirl at the fight game. Nelson asserted he can fight anywhere in the east, but would not take on any of the leading lights in the lightweight class. Nelson's plans are to meet some of the mediocre lightweights, and if he can beat them, then he will take on some of the tougher boys. In this way Bat said he will find out whether he can "come back," and if he cannot, Nelson says it's good-by to the fight game forever for him.

Fred Gilmore has matched Jack Crane, a local fighter with possibilities, with Gus Christie of Milwaukee to meet in a ten round bout at Madison on Wednesday night. The agreed weight is 148 pounds at 3 o'clock.

Gilmore has secured a match for another one of his fighters who will be sent over a long distance. Billy Wagner, who generally fights around 122 pounds, has been matched to meet Battling Schuls at Springfield, O., on March 27. The stipulated weight is 126 pounds at 3 o'clock. This will be one of the few times Wagner has ever stepped the twenty round limit, but Gilmore has much confidence in his ability.

George "Knockout" Brown, the local welterweight, is out after the scalp of "Cyclone" Johnny Thompson, who returned recently from Australia claiming the world's middleweight title. Brown says he will meet Thompson over any route at catchweights.

Hugo Kelly and his manager, Silvio Ferretti, postponed their departure for the east until tonight. The pair was scheduled to leave for Boston, where Kelly meets Billy McKinnon on Tuesday. Ferretti said he would be willing to match Kelly with Johnny Thompson at any time if proper inducements are offered.

MOXLEY BOWLERS CARRY OFF TITLE

West Siders Nail Banner in Final Series in Business Men's League.

BLANK BRUNSWICK FIVE.

Graf Averages 238 in Chicago Tourney, Setting Season's Mark at Flenner's.

The Moxley team won the championship of the Business Men's Bowling league last night when the first of the big bowling organizations cleaned up the last games on its schedule. The team wound up its 1911 career in a blaze of glory, shooting an average of 983 1-3, a new record for the league, in its closing battle with the Brunwicks. The latter side hade a chance to tie for the lead by winning three games, but after losing the first the team threw up the sponge and marked time the rest of the way. Harry Steers picked off the individual championship, missing another 200 series by a few pins in his last appearance.

Joe Graf posted a new record for the Chicago league at Flenner's by averaging 238 flat on the Centurys with games of 265, 214, and 235. The mark is the highest on the City league drives this year. Jimmy Stevens having the nearest to it with 230 flat. Harry Steers' 238 2-3 in the Monroe is the record for the loop this season. The Centurys won the odd game from the Engineers and averaged 962 2-3. W. Ryan also came to bat with a big series of 233 flat in the Southwest league, the series being a new record at Dernbach's by a single pin, Frank Blaul's 232 2-3 being the best previous mark. Ryan got his big series on the Brands and the rest of his team responded well enough to enable the club to average 972 2-3.

Ed Nittel shot 222 2-3 in the Ammerpohl league, Beifuss picked up a 226 series in the Engineers and Mette shot 216 1-3 in the Oakley. Scores:

SOON TO SET DATE FOR MOTOR EVENT

Committees on Interclub Run Expected to Decide on Fine in a Few Days.

MUST DECIDE ON ROUTE.

C. A. C. Members Favor Drive to Starved Rock, While C. A. A. Wants Milwaukee Trip.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

Amateur motorists who contemplate driving in the fourth annual interclub reliability match between members of the Chicago Athletic association and Chicago Automobile club will in a few days know the definite date on which the contest will be held. The 1911 contest committee of the Chicago Automobile club met yesterday and the members devoted their time to a discussion of the interclub run.

As a result Chairman R. O. Evans of the C. A. C. today will send a communication to Chairman Frank W. Wentworth of the C. A. A. asking the Cherry Circle man to name some day next week on which the two committees may hold a joint meeting for the discussion of details. According to the gossip which has come out of the two organizations, each committee favors a different route for the two days' interclub run, but no difficulty is anticipated in agreeing on that important detail.

Favor Trip to Starved Rock.

C. G. Sinsabaugh, who acted as chairman of the automobile club committee yesterday owing to the enforced absence of Chairman Evans, stated after the meeting that the C. A. C. board members favor a trip to Starved Rock, Ill., and return. For some time Chairman Wentworth of the C. A. A. has been advocating Milwaukee as the objective point.

"After scanning the season's motoring calendar, it looks as if the middle of June would be about the best time for the interclub match," said Mr. Sinsabaugh. "The Chicago Automobile club tour to Indianapolis for the 500 mile international race is set for May 29 and the return is scheduled for May 31. That will bring us right up to the 1st of June, and as many members of both the C. A. A. and the C. A. C. are planning to make the Indianapolis trip, it would seem inadvisable to put the interclub run on much earlier than June 15."

Fourth Run by Clubs.

Starved Rock is near Ottawa, Ill., and is about 100 miles from Chicago. It is favored on account of the variety it would afford contestants in the coming match. The first run for the interclub shield was held in 1908 and was over the Elgin-Aurora "century" route. The 1909 run was down into Indiana, while last year's contest was to St. Joe and return. Last fall the two clubs engaged in a special contest for the Myers trophy and went to Waukesha, Wis., and return. The C. A. A. motorists have been successful in three of the matches, while the C. A. C. men have taken one—the contest of 1909.

CITY BUYS FIREHOUSE SITE

Gets 14-18 Lomax Place for Harrison Street Company.

EVANSTON DEAL IS CLOSED.

B. Frank Bush Sells Ridge Avenue Residence for $60,000.

Following a recommendation made by the committee on local improvements of the city council to vacate the alley adjoining the Harrison street police station, which is to be removed in connection with the building plans of Rand McNally & Co., the city has closed the purchase of the premises 14-18 Lomax place, between Fifth avenue and Franklin streets, as a home for the fire engine and truck company now located at Harrison street.

The property was acquired from Joseph B. Woodruff, who purchased it from Peter C. Brooks in 1909, the consideration being given as $10. It is understood that in the negotiations with the city Mr. Woodruff held the property at $100,000, but, as the council refused to authorize its purchase at a price in excess of $90,000 the sale was made on those terms, as indicated in the deed which has been filed for record.

The property, which is on the north side of the street, has a frontage of sixty feet with a depth of seventy feet, and is improved with a three story and basement building, which was valued by the board of review at $18,000, the land being put in at $49,250, making a total of $67,250.

Apartment House Is Sold.

Thomas Colman has sold to M. H. Lyons of Wheaton the eight apartment building at 5484 Monroe avenue for $25,000, subject to an incumbrance of $15,000. In part payment Mr. Lyons gave a farm of 175 acres in Portage county, Wisconsin. Holton, Seelye & Co. were the brokers.

A tract of forty-eight lots at the southeast corner of Manistee avenue and Eighty-fifth street has been sold by Helen A. Brandt to Luther P. Friestedt for $10,100.

Deal in Evanston Property.

A notable transaction in Evanston property is the sale by B. Frank Bush to George B. Dryden of the premises on Ridge avenue and Dempster street, running through to Asbury avenue. It fronts 213 feet on Ridge avenue, 300 feet on Dempster street, and 400 feet on the north line running through to Asbury avenue.

It is improved with a large frame residence, and is one of the show places of Evanston, the large grounds having many large elm, maple, and cottonwood trees, some measuring nine feet in circumference.

Mr. Bush purchased the property from Nettie E. Staughter in 1907, intending to improve with a handsome residence, but his plans were changed.

Mr. Dryden will make temporary improvements in the house, and later on erect a dwelling thoroughly in keeping with the surroundings. A consideration of $10 is named in the deed, but the actual price is said to have been $60,000. Robert S. Clark represented the purchaser and Leroy C. Towle & Co. the seller.

Osceola Flats Are Sold.

Frederick T. Haskell has sold to Thomas Haskins the Osceola apartments at 3714-3718 Lake avenue. The building is seven stories and basement on a lot 75x155 feet, and the consideration is said to have been about $100,000, with incumbrance of $45,000. The building is said to have a gross annual rent of about $10,000.

Frederick H. Bartlett appears as the purchaser in two other south side flat deals. In one he purchased from John J. Mitchell the premises, 5208-5212 Lake avenue, a four story and basement building, on a lot 60x170 feet. A garage occupies the ground floor with eight apartments above. The consideration is said to be $40,000.

Mr. Bartlett also acquired from A. R. Marriot, vice president Chicago Title and Trust company, the three story and basement twelve flat building with 47x95 feet of ground at the southeast corner of Bryant and Rhodes avenues, for a reported consideration of $40,000, with incumbrance of $16,000. It has a gross annual rent of $4,300. Mr. Bartlett subsequently sold this to Abraham Goldman.

Eliza J. Seaman has sold to Thomas E. Hoskins the twelve flat building with 74x98 feet of ground at 130-136 West Seventy-first street for a reported consideration of $40,000, with incumbrance of $16,000.

Edgar M. Snow & Co. have sold for William J. Stenson to Samuel Kersten, 25x87½ feet, south front, on Jackson boulevard, 125 feet west of Desplaines street. Nominal consideration given, but said to be about $15,000.

State Street Lease Closed.

Oliver & Co. leased for the Northern Trust company, trustees of the estate of James E. Baker, the three story and basement building, 378-380 State street, 50x100 feet, for a term at an annual rent of $6,000. The building is on the west side of the street, between Harrison and Polk streets.

M. O. Howard has sold the six flat, stone front building in Kenmore avenue, 200 feet north of Irving Park boulevard, east front, 50x150, containing six apartments of six rooms each, to Manson D. Gregg of Johnson county, Ind., for $30,000; also the twelve room, modern brick and stone residence at Thirty-eighth street and Forest avenue, from P. F. Kennedy to Manson D. Gregg of Johnson county, Ind., for $12,000. G. W. Stewart of Stewart & Connell represented both parties in this transaction.

The KNOX

Col. E. M. Knox of the Knox Hat Company discovered the original of this hat in Seville, Spain, on a recent trip abroad. He secured a model, made a few modifications and the result is —absolutely new in design, style and finish. It is a notable innovation.

THE SEVILLA

The Sevilla is made in two shades, a pearl gray or light tan. Binding to match or black if preferred. Here is a soft felt which will fit and become all men. It is made in all proportions in width of brim and height of crown. It eliminates every objection ever made against soft hats. It is neat, comfortable and built similarly to the popular sailor hat, and is just the hat you want between now and straw hat time. Beautifully finished with white silk lining. Price, $5.00.

A Helpful Hint for Eastertide

SPRING is in the air and the city is stirring with renewed life and the changes incident to looking its best at Easter.

¶ The stores and shops of every sort, milliners and dressmakers, are reflecting this spirit by increased stocks and volume of business.

¶ Decorators, housefurnishers, movers and builders are preparing for the busy season that is coming.

¶ All this Spring activity means that employers will need more help—it means increased opportunities for workers in every line.

¶ The most direct, rapid and satisfactory way of securing the competent, desirable help you ought to have is through the Help Wanted columns of The Tribune. Six days a week and Sunday The Tribune prints the most want ads.
